WILL TEST FISHING TAX OF MEXICO

Curtis Corporation to Begin Operations Off Cape San Lucas

Test of Mexico's tax levying authority on American fishing vessels remaining more than three miles off shore will be made next week by the Curtis Corporation of Long Beach which will begin extensive fishing operations off the Mexican coast. The levying of taxes on American fishermen off Cape San Lucas will result in the abandonment of those waters by the Americans, according to a protest lodged with the Mexican Fishing Commissioner at San Pedro.

A tax of $31.50 per ton is believed levied at San Jose del Cabo on catches by the Americans. The maintenance of such a tax will cut down the annual pack at the local canneries materially, it is said. Approximately 60 per cent of the fish delivered to the local wharves for canning and fresh market consumption during the winter season, excepting the sardine catch, are caught in the district affected.

Aunt of Former Vice-President Marshall Dead

Catherine E. Marshall, aunt of former Vice-President Marshall and sister of Gens Stratton Perter, author, died yesterday after an extended illness at her home at 3131 Maplewood avenue.

Mrs. Marshall was 87 years of age. She had lived in Los Angeles for the last twenty-three years. She leaves three children, Fletcher Belle Ireland and Melville Marshall of Arizona, and Horace Marshall of this city, a brother, Jerome Q. Stratton of this city, and three sisters, Miss Stratton, Ada M. Wilson and Florence S. Compton, the latter two of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. today at the home. Interment will be in Inglewood Cemetery.

Cost of Living in Los Angeles Drops Slightly

The cost of living in Los Angeles slipped down a notch or so since last December, figures compiled for January last by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor show.

The total gain—that is to the public—has been about 1 per cent, the decline during this period being reflected in about half of the cities from which figures were obtained. Increases were shown in the other cities.

TWO WIN PROBATION

Youths Confess Theft from Huntington Park Bank

Judge Hahn of the Superior Court yesterday granted probation for two years to James D. Ramey and William A. Bledsoe, who had pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing $15,000 from the Huntington Park bank. The money was recovered. Bledsoe was employed by the bank as a messenger, who was given the $15,000 to take to a downtown bank here. Instead he and Ramey divided the money and buried it outside of the city. They were apprehended and confessed and the money found. Both proved that they had good records until the time of the theft and that they were hard pressed financially when they took the $15,000.

WOMAN ADMITS GUILT

Indictment was on Charge of Passing Bad Checks

Mrs. Bessie Lee Clark, lessee of the Argyle Apartments at 1235 Argyle avenue, yesterday pleaded guilty to one count of issuing a check without sufficient funds. She was taken into Judge Avery's court for trial on eight counts, on which she previously pleaded not guilty. By arrangement with the District Attorney's office she was allowed to change her plea as to one charge, while the remaining counts were stricken from the calendar.

Mrs. Clark filed application for probation and hearing on this matter was continued to the 15th inst.

ASSERTED DRUG ACT VIOLATORS ON TRIAL

Ygnacio Mejia, a Mexican, and John Henderson, colored, are on trial before Federal Judge James on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Jones-Miller Act.

Powell, immigration inspector, and M. E. Sayles, deputy collector of customs, testified yesterday they arrested the defendants last October at Redondo, when they found two ounces of morphine in an automobile in which Mejia and Henderson had crossed the border. According to Sayles Mejia had been arrested on liquor charges but had successfully evaded numerous efforts to apprehend him on charges of bringing narcotics across the line.

WIDOW GIVEN VERDICT

A jury in Judge Louderback's court yesterday awarded Mrs. Nannie Jordan, administratrix of the estate of Thomas Jordan, operator of a trucking business, damages of $7000 as a result of the death of Jordan, who was said to have died of injuries he received in an accident in the freight yards of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company. Jordan was said to have been struck by a huge beam which was being loaded on a truck belonging to him. He died several months after the accident, according to the complaint.

HUSBAND GETS DIVORCE

When Gussie Engell failed yesterday for the fourth time to appear in court to press her suit for divorce against Gehard Engell, Judge Thompson of Superior Court awarded the decree to the husband on his cross-complaint charging that his wife was intimate with other men.

NEW PLAN IN EPIDEMIC

Counties Placed in Groups

Plans Announced in War on Foot-and-Mouth Epidemic

Many Measures Are Taken Throughout State to End Disease

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—California counties will be organized in groups to fight the spread of foot-and-mouth disease, G. H. Hecke, State director of agriculture, announced today. He said he planned to put all of the counties of the Sacramento Valley in one group.

The district organization will replace the federation of nineteen northern counties, proposed by the supervisors of Placer county and approved in by the Supervisors of El Dorado county.

"The counties of the Sacramento Valley have the same interests and should work together in repelling the advance of the epidemic," Hecke declared.

A delegation of citizens from Placer and El Dorado counties called on Hecke today. The visitors urged him that their counties would follow any lead he might suggest and assured him that ordinances now in effect would be repealed.

ACTION AWAITED

No effort was made by the Sacramento County Supervisors to pass on ordinances today dealing with the control of the epidemic after it was learned that Hecke wished them to await action until plans being drafted by his department are completed.

Under the plan being drawn up by the Agricultural Department, counties of the State will be grouped into districts. To further the movement initiated by his department, Hecke expects to call a series of conferences, beginning next week or Monday. Supervisors or boards of the several groups will be asked to come to Sacramento for the conferences.

A tentative outline of the districting will be completed tomorrow. Counties of the Sacramento Valley will be grouped together, with guards patrolling the boundaries of counties on the south and west, which are under strict or provisional quarantine.

Counties in the San Francisco district will be thrown into another group and the counties west of the Coast range of mountains and north of the San Francisco bay into another group.

All of the San Joaquin Valley counties will probably be grouped into a third district, while the Coachella county south of San Francisco bay will go into another group.

Hecke said yesterday that he believed the best results could be obtained by grouping the counties

STONE GETS PORTFOLIO

Cabinet Vacancy Is Filled

Coolidge Names Law School Dean as Successor to Attorney-General

Senate Confirmation Held to be Assured; Prosecutor Typical for Place

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Coolidge filled his second Cabinet vacancy today by selecting Harlan Fiske Stone, retiring dean of Columbia University, school of law, as Attorney-General.

Having gone recently to the Pacific Coast to get a Secretary of the Navy in Curtis D. Wilbur of California, Mr. Coolidge turned to the Atlantic seaboard for his Attorney-General and in Mr. Stone chose a present resident of New York City and a former New England farm boy. Mr. Wilbur was drawn from California's Supreme Court and Mr. Stone is being taken from a law school and active practice.

The President selected Mr. Stone because he has known him for thirty years and has confidence in him; because he regards the New York man as possessing the desired qualities of thorough legal knowledge and administrative capacity and because he looks upon the Columbia dean as a "$100,000 man willing for patriotic reasons to accept a $12,000 job."

Mr. Coolidge chose Mr. Stone yesterday from a list of six and summoned him to Washington. Arriving in Washington on an early train, Mr. Stone and the President were in conference before most of Washington was awake and before 8 o'clock the President had tendered Mr. Stone the portfolio and the New Yorker had accepted. Then at 8 o'clock the President introduced the new Attorney-General to a dozen Senators invited to the White House for a breakfast conference.

NOW UP TO SENATE

Mr. Stone's nomination was sent to the Senate soon after that body convened at noon and late in the day it was referred to the Judiciary Committee for inquiry. Confirmation is expected without delay although several Senators expressed a desire to examine the appointee's record and particularly to look into a letter written by him early in 1921 questioning methods of the Department of Justice in the Red raids of the year previous.

The prospective new Attorney-General after taking lunch with the President returned to New York on an afternoon train to await action by the Senate on his nomination. He declined in advance of this action to discuss his policies or his plans.

Since last June Mr. Stone has been on leave from Columbia and several months ago submitted

GAMBLING AT JUAREZ IS CLOSED

Owners Stop Concessions as Authorities Threaten to Bar Border Bridge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) April 2.—Public gambling in Juarez was closed today at noon. This action was taken by the owners of the gambling concession after immigration authorities threatened to close the international bridges each night at 8 o'clock. Last night the bridges were closed at 8 o'clock as result of gambling being open and almost 1600 American visitors were stranded in the Mexican city.

Early this morning the Americans were allowed to return to El Paso and the Collector of Customs here opened the port long enough to allow the stranded Americans to return home.

Telegraphic information received in Juarez today from Gov. Ignacio Enriques of Chihuahua indicated that no gambling concessions would be granted by him.

Tulare County Plans Fight on Cattle Disease

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, April 2.—At a meeting here late this afternoon of the Chamber of Commerce officials with officials from Visalia and Sanger, plans were made for a mass meeting tonight and three others tomorrow to perfect plans for protecting the hills from invasion of the foot-and-mouth disease. Tulare county has only four roads open on the south and armed guards are patrolling these. All expeditions into the hills are to be prohibited and roads guarded.

Horticultural Commissioner Frank R. Brann has placed his corps at the service of the livestock inspector.

Cattlemen, fruit growers, horticulturists, forest supervisors and citizens at large are called to the meeting here tomorrow.

ESTATE TAX INCREASE IS SUICIDAL, MELLON SAYS

Treasury Secretary Raps Plan as Economic Destruction; Flays House Action

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Another House amendment to the revenue bill came under fire today before the Senate Finance Committee when Secretary Mellon attacked the increase in the estate tax. The hearing of the Treasury Secretary consumed the full morning session of the committee for the second time in two days and with the Secretary to be heard further tomorrow, Chairman Smoot said final report on the measure might be delayed until early next week. The committee, meanwhile, went ahead with consideration of the bill at a night meeting.

House action in increasing the estate taxes from a maximum rate of 25 per cent to 40 per cent was characterized by Mr. Mellon as "economic suicide." He insisted this form of taxation should be reserved principally to States and the continued use, or increase, of the tax by the Federal government would force States to resort to higher taxes on land.

Actuaries were called in again today by the committee to work on a new set of figures on the number of veterans entitled to benefits of the soldiers' bonus bill passed by the House, by which the committee expects to close up somewhat the gap of $2,500,000,000 between the estimates on the cost of the bill submitted by the Veterans' Bureau and Treasury actuaries.

Estimates also were received as to the amount of reduction in taxes effected by changes in the bill to date.

ESTIMATES RAPPED

The estimates of Joseph McCoy, Treasury actuary, that the House bonus bill would cost about $4,850,000,000 were severely criticised today by Herbert Hess, insurance actuary employed by the American Legion.

Mr. Hess estimated before the committee that the cost of the bill would be $3,360,350,000 which by amortization over the period of twenty years covered by the insurance policies, could be met by annual expenditures of $120,603,000.

In a letter to John R. Quinn, National Commander of the American Legion, Mr. Hess declared Mr. McCoy's estimate is of "no value whatsoever, and in my judgment, a disgrace to those who permitted it to be broadcast throughout the nation."

Mr. McCoy, he said, failed to make deductions in the number of those entitled to compensation under the bill and this resulted in an error of $940,000,000

MOTION LOST

At the night session, the Finance Committee reconsidered the amendment adopted Monday night providing for taxation hereafter of incomes on State, municipal and Federal securities, now tax exempt. The vote was six to six tonight and Chairman Smoot declared the motion lost.

A constitutional amendment proposing such action was defeated by the House a few weeks ago.

In his statement Mr. Mellon asked that in a discussion of estate tax as a revenue measure there be cast aside "any question of the tax as a means of punishing wealth or as in some way

ENGLISH RENT BILL DEAD

Idea of Blaming Landlords for Unemployment is Ridiculed in Commons

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, April 2.—The labor government evaded defeat tonight on debate on the second reading of the rent restriction bill by allowing the discussion to end automatically on the time limit of the House's standing orders after a spirited attack from both conservatives and liberal leaders.

Officially the second reading of the debate stands adjourned, but in point of fact the present measure is dead. It is not generally believed that the government will proceed further with it, but will bring in a new bill on lines which the House can accept.

SEVERELY RIDICULED

The principle of throwing the burden of unemployment on the landlords was so severely ridiculed by both the unionist and liberal speakers that the government found itself in an untenable position.

J. R. Clynes, leader of the House, offered a substitute for the offending clause which would throw on public funds the cost of maintaining the unemployed in their homes. But the speaker of the House ruled that such a change could not come within the title of the bill, but must be proposed in a new bill, which would have to be founded upon financial restitution.

CLAUSE REMAINS

In view of the Speaker's decision, Mr. Clynes was asked by several members definitely to withdraw this clause, but this he absolutely refused to do, suggesting that no technical difficulty should prevent the members from voting for keeping the unemployed in their homes.

The Ministers insisted later that even if they had been defeated they would not have considered the question as a vote of no confidence.

JOHNSON TO BE JOLTED

Michigan Strong for Coolidge

Wolverine State Ready to Give President Sweeping Victory on Monday

Californian's Record and His Campaign Methods Fail to Impress Voters

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LANSING (Mich.) April 2.—Senator Hiram Johnson's boom seems flatter than a pancake in Michigan and President Coolidge looks like a winner in a walk in next Monday's Presidential primaries. The Johnson camp has been laying great hopes on the State in view of Hiram's victory at the primaries in 1920 over Wood and Lowden, when he won by 44,000. But that was four years ago and party leaders say all signs are that Johnson has worn his welcome out and that Coolidge bids fair to beat him 2 to 1 or better. Most of the campaigning is confined to Johnson who is stumping the State and the Republican chiefs saw the ground swell for Coolidge is so strong that the campaign can run itself without any brass banding.

There are no surface signs of activity but the township elections fall on the same day as the primaries and this is expected to bring out a good vote.

RESULTS SIGNIFICANT

The Michigan results are expected to be of even more significance than those of the Dakotas, as indicating how Coolidge stands with the voters of an industrial State noted for strong progressive tendencies. In Michigan the electorate is as independent as in any of the forty-eight. It is preponderantly Republican. It was always a Roosevelt stronghold and in 1912 it was one of the States that gave Roosevelt its electoral vote. It was one of the few States where Wilson ran third. In the primaries of 1916 the Republicans cast their preference for Henry Ford and voted for him on the first ballot in the national convention, and in the November election the State gave Hughes a plurality of 54,000 over Wilson.

Four years ago Johnson carried the primaries and the delegates stuck for eight ballots at the national convention, and the State in November rolled up a whacking plurality for Harding. It is as quick to get off as on and two years ago it was in Michigan that observers were first able to discern a growing dissatisfaction with the Harding administration that revealed itself more fully in the fall elections in Middle West States in 1922. That was the time when rock-ribbed Republican Michigan defeated Senator Townsend and elected Senator Ferris, Democrat.

TURNS COLD EAR

Now it is Hiram Johnson, once looked on as a political hero here, who is doing the ski-jump. Reports from all over the State gathered at the capital are that this year his speeches make no stir. Newspapers which in ancient years were strong in his support are giving him no attention. Some of them are criticising him as a "perennial scold" and a "knit-finder." It is much like the criticism during the South Dakota campaign.

The old Bull Moose leaders are talking for Coolidge and from all accounts the feeling is widespread among Johnson's old friends that in the years he has been at Washington, he has flown up many pages of the Congressional Record without producing much in the shape of constructive stuff.

In this State Coolidge sentiment is reported to be substantial and solid both in the manufacturing centers and in the farming regions. Experienced observers here say the idea expressed by the ordinary voter in talking politics is that Coolidge is showing himself sensible and sound, that he is not being swept off his feet so far as the Teapot Dome and other alleged scandals are concerned.

The State is more properous than many others. The automotive centers have had little letdown even in recent seasonal slow period and now the factories are going ahead full tilt, while agriculture itself has not been quite in the plight it has in other western States. In the upper peninsula, the iron ranges are prospering, while the copper country has been struck hard; all told, the ordinary voter seems convinced that under Coolidge business and industry and everything that pertains to prosperity will continue to keep climbing.

As one talks with men on the streets and in the stores he strikes everywhere a strong Coolidge sentiment.

Gov. Alex J. Grosbeck says:

"The Coolidge sentiment in Michigan rests upon a solid bed of confidence. The feeling is one of strong admiration of his conduct. If the Republicans can't win with Coolidge, they can't win with anybody."

SEES SWEEPING VICTORY

One expert, Elbert V. Chilson, whose opinion is always much sought by the heads of the national party, after a canvass of county leaders, says Coolidge will carry every Congressional district in the State Monday. Charles J. Deland, Secretary of State, says: "Never since the days of McKinley has the State shown itself so solidly behind an administration."

Also Henry Ford's support of Coolidge has undoubtedly helped to send the Johnson boom flivvering.

On the Democratic side Senator Ferris is expected to have a favorite son delegation to the national convention at New York. He is

TUMULT HALTS FRENCH SESSION

War Minister and Socialist Deputy Pass Ide and Nearly Fight

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, April 2.—War Minister Maginot and the Socialist Deputy, Berthon, almost came to blows in the Chamber of Deputies today and the session was suspended because of the tumult.

Yesterday's sitting of the Chamber was also suspended because of the uproar that developed when Premier Poincare's new government faced Parliament for the debate on the ministerial declaration.

The encounter between the War Minister and the Socialist Deputy came after M. Poincare alluded to the antimilitarist campaign being conducted in the Ruhr by the Communists. Documents seized by the War Minister were read by the Premier as proof of his assertion.

M. Berthon, on hearing these read, advanced toward M. Maginot and shouted "liar."

The War Minister replied vigorously but his words were lost in the general uproar. The Socialist Deputy dashed toward the War Minister but other Deputies intervened.

By this time the uproar had become so general that the session was suspended.

SHOWHOUSE FIRE FRIGHT KILLS MANY

Mexico City Theater is Scene of Mad Disorder as Films Burn

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MEXICO CITY, April 2.—Twenty-one persons, mostly children, lost their lives and more than fifty were injured, ten of them perhaps fatally, when a fire in the Barragan motion-picture theater in the near-by suburb of Tacubaya sent 500 spectators rushing wildly from the structure last night. The majority of those who perished were suffocated or crushed beneath the mass of bodies which quickly blocked the single exit.

The theater was patronized largely by the poorer classes. It was little damaged. The fire, caused by a short circuit, consumed only the celluloid films and some fixtures in the operator's cubicle.

Several of the smaller children were killed when their panic-stricken mothers threw them from the gallery into the pit below, or from windows into the street. Two others were electrocuted when they attempted to escape from the theater by means of telegraph poles carrying high power transmission lines.

GERMANY IN DEFIANCE

Demands France be Disarmed

Berlin Rejects Allies' Plan to Check Up on Country's Military Activity

Proposes Putting Question of Armaments Up to the League of Nations

BY HENRY WALES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, April 2.—Rejecting the demands of the Allied Council of Ambassadors that the Allied Military Control Mission be permitted to resume its activities in Germany, the note delivered by the German government to Quai D'Orsay last night proposes that the League of Nations take up the disarmament of France.

This is the crux of the German communication, shorn of diplomatic verbiage and translated into plain language, which the French government today transmitted to the American, British, Italian and Japanese Embassies for perusal before the Ambassadors meet again to consider the next steps to take.

Berlin's proposals are distinctly unacceptable to France. The Paris government on numerous occasions has already announced the impossibility of reducing its armaments until Germany has indicated its peaceful intentions and demonstrated its sincerity in executing the Treaty of Versailles.

DISPUTE LOOMS

Serious differences of opinion are expected to arise when the Ambassadors examine the German note, as it is no secret that Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain favors the handing over of the entire disarmament problem to the Geneva organization. M. Poincare's eulogy of the League and the inclusion of M. Jouvenel (who represented France in the Assembly of 1922) has led the British to believe that the new cabinet is willing to enlarge the scope of the League's activities.

The Ambassadors' note to Germany on March 5 demanded that the Berlin government permit the Nollet interallied commission to check up on the following five points regarding disarmament in Germany:

(1.) Passage of laws prohibiting the import and export of war material—making recruiting for the army conform to treaty provisions and suppression of the pro-war general staff, demobilising all excess officers.

(2.) Surrender of all documents relative to war material on hand and the production of war factories at the time of the Armistice.

(3.) Delivery of the balance of war material not authorized by the treaty, especially equipment and uniforms.

(4.) Transformation of factories manufacturing war materials into plants making peace products.

(5.) Reorganization of the State police (the shupo) into local police forces with the policemen not receiving military instruction and not living together in barracks like soldiers.

GERMANY REFUSES

The German note declines to permit the Nollet commission to ascertain if the five points have been carried out, stating that the Allies and Germany should negotiate an accord covering that, and rattling the saber gently by remarking:

"One should not, in dealing with a great power having military traditions and a sentiment of dignity, reduce everything into formulas and orders."

The Germans propose a new organization, not the Nollet commission, to investigate the fulfillment of the five points, and then demands that the League of Na-

PUZZLE, FIND DE LA HUERTA

Mexican Rebel Leader Reported in New York and San Francisco; Followers Say He Hasn't Fled

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEXICO CITY, April 2.—It is reported here that Adolfo De la Huerta has arrived in San Francisco where he is said to have registered at a hotel as Francisco Oriol.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A search of local hotels failed to reveal the presence in the city of Adolfo De la Huerta, said to be registered under the name of Francisco Oriol.

It was found that Francisco Oriol had registered at the Hotel Espanol here last Tuesday, but left Wednesday, telling the clerk he was "going to a mine."

The steamer Tropical arrived here last Tuesday afternoon after touching several ports on the west coast of Mexico.

EL PASO (Tex.) April 2.— Adolfo De la Huerta, who is said to have deserted the Mexico revolution, landed in New York City disguised with a mustache and is proceeding to Nogales, Ariz., according to information furnished Mexican Consul Enrique D. Ruiz today. De la Huerta is said to be traveling under the name of Francisco Oriol.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Vigorous denial of a report from El Paso that Adolfo De la Huerta, Mexican revolutionary leader, had landed in new York and was now proceeding to Nogales, Ariz., was made tonight by his supporters here.

Adherents of the Obregon government, however, said they believed the report.

Rafael Zubaran, personal representative of De la Huerta here, and a Cabinet officer under both Carranza and Obregon, denied the report and produced a cablegram dated March 31 from the State of Chiapas, Mex., signed "De la Huerta."

URGES CAUTION ON POWER PLAN

Merrill on Colorado River Development

Advises Congress to Study Vital Points

Gov. Hunt Again Invited to Talk to Committee

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—O. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, was the principal and only witness before the House Committee on Arid Lands today. He took a broad view of the great problem of the control and development of the entire Colorado River and the necessity for attention to flood control, power development and distribution and the irrigation of available land. He declared that the importance of this development was so great that action should not be taken by Congress until all the knowledge had been gathered and made available for the guidance of Congress.

Mr. Merrill said that the so-called Topock site near Needles had merit and the possibilities there should be thoroughly studied and submitted to Congress before that body passed upon a problem for the handling of the Colorado River.

SUBMITS FIGURES

He discussed the whole power development situation in the United States and submitted some figures showing the cost of public and private power as supplied by municipally owned and private plants and also submitted figures from Ontario and other points in Canada as compared with figures of similar service in the United States.

He spent the entire morning answering questions of the members of the committee on the work of the commission and the duties it enjoyed under the law which created the Federal Power Commission as the sole guardian of the energy of undeveloped water power in the United States. Secretary Merrill was recalled after the lunch recess and concluded his testimony after many questions had been asked and answered.

The next session of the committee will be probably on Saturday when Chief Engineer Kelly of the Federal Power Commission will be heard on the engineering problems of the Colorado.

INVITE GOV. HUNT

By a poll of 7 to 2, the committee voted to send another invitation by wire to Gov. Hunt of Arizona to come before the committee and explain in detail the position of his State on this and other proposed legislation for the control of the Colorado River. This was precipitated by the reading into the record of the telegrams between Chairman Addison Smith and Gov. Hunt looking to his reappearance here before the committee.

In his first telegram Gov. Hunt said that he should not reach Washington before the 5th inst., and the chairman wired asking him to fix the earliest possible date this month that he could get here. Then the Governor wired that it would be impossible for him to come at all. This disclosure resulted in the committee voting to arrange for his appearance as soon as possible and before the hearings close about the 20th inst.

Vanderlip Will Leave Posts on Business Boards

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Frank A. Vanderlip, retired New York banker, announced tonight his intention "of resigning from every business board on which I occupy a seat" because of the attitude of many of his New York business associates "towards the work I am doing in Washington."

This decision was made known when Mr. Vanderlip made public an exchange of letters with E. P. Swenson, president of the Freeport (Texas) company of New York in which his resignation as a member of that company's board was requested and given.

Recently he resigned upon request as a director of the Continental Can Company of Syracuse, N. Y., because of exceptions a fellow-director had taken to his statement concerning the sale of President Harding's newspaper.

Among the directorships from which Mr. Vanderlip will retire, it was stated, were the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, Oregon and Washington, Salt Lake, Los Angeles and San Pedro railroads; the United States Rubber Company, International Mercantile Marine and United States Realty.

The 2221 arrivals and departures represented 7,236,260 tons of shipping, 660,531 tons more than in the first quarter of 1923.

RAPS PROVISION OF EXPORT BILL

Marvin Questions Wisdom of Tariff Section

Says Constant Inflation of Prices Certain

Law Gets Indorsement of Secretary Wallace

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Constitutionality and wisdom of the tariff provision in the McNary-Haugen agricultural export bill were questioned by Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the Tariff Commission, at a hearing today before the House Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Marvin declared that a constant inflation of prices would result from the operation of the bill.

Under the bills pending before the House Committee on Agriculture, duties on farm products would be increased by executive order upon the recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, to such levels as necessary to maintain a so-called ratio price in the domestic market.

ACTION UNCERTAIN

Mr. Marvin said that the duties would have to be high as to constitute a virtual embargo and that if such a provision were to be established Congress might as well authorize an embargo.

Just what action will be taken by the Ways and Means Committee is uncertain. The bill is now technically before the committee and the most that this committee could do would be to make suggestions to the Committee on Agriculture.

Mr. Marvin said that the McNary-Haugen bill is in effect a price-fixing measure and that the result would be to increase the cost of other commodities and bring about demands for increased wages, and that under ordinary laws of economics there would be a constant inflation of prices.

PERMITS INQUIRY

"The bill gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to make an investigation and to determine the rate of duty upon any agricultural commodity or upon any derivatives or competitive substitute for such commodity," said Mr. Marvin. "I question the constitutionality and wisdom of giving this power to the Secretary of Agriculture. The flexible provision of the Tariff Act, section 315, safeguards the changes of the tariff better than this measure."

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace appeared before the House Committee on Agriculture in executive session and gave his unqualified indorsement to the McNary-Haugen bill.

BOOK GIVES OLD OPINION BY WILHELM

Ex-Kaiser is Quoted as Saying Germany Stood to Lose in Waging War

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, April 2.—"Germany is sure to lose in a war and win nothing. She would risk everything if she waged war, no matter against whom." These are the surprising words attributed to the ex-Emperor, William II, in a book about him which has just been published here. Its author is Privy Councilor Count Von Kospoth, now 87 years of age, who saw much of the monarch in the old imperial days.

Another strange remark which Von Kospoth says the Kaiser made in the same pre-war period is:

"The German people will never understand me. I am much more a man for the French."

Von Kospoth was very frank with the Kaiser, he says, yet the Kaiser liked him.

"I made up my mind not to play the court fool," he writes, adding that very few men dared to tell William the truth. One of these was Gen. Von Bissing, who objected once to the new headgear designed for the soldiers.

"But I designed it," said the Kaiser; whereupon Von Bissing replied:

"That makes it no better looking."

The impression derived from the book is that the Kaiser was deceived right and left, but asked for nothing better.

FULL LOAD TEST PLAN OF FLYERS

Four American Aviators Prepare to Make Final Experiment

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 2.—Four planes of the United States Army here on a trip around the earth are to be tested with full loads tomorrow and may leave Friday for Prince Rupert, B. C., 650 miles to the north, Maj. Frederick L. Martin, leader of the adventure announced today.

M. B. Summers, United States weather observer here, received reports that weather to the north was not favorable today, owing to low clouds, and that these were likely to continue tomorrow. But Maj. Martin said that he would not have departed before Friday even had the weather been propitious, because he was not satisfied with mechanical conditions.

The plane "Chicago," flown by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, was placed in the water today after having had a leak in a pontoon repaired yesterday. The leak was blamed on a nail in a wharf to which the "Chicago" was moored as she lay in Lake Washington at Sand Point aviation field.

Installation of pontoons on the plane "Boston," flown by Lieut. Leigh Wade, was delayed in completion until today because some parts were not received yesterday.

GARDEN TO ESSAYS ROLE OF MADONNA

Incomparable Mary Plans Entrance Into Drama Via Wordless Part

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Mary Garden, American prima donna, announced today that she had contracted with Morris Gest to play the wordless role of the Madonna in the spectacle play, "The Miracle," for three months prior to her opening with the Chicago Opera Company next November.

She will alternate in the lead role with Lady Diana Manners Cooper, who played it in the London production, and who in the New York performances has alternated with Princess Norma Matchiabelli in the parts of the Madonna and the nun.

Miss Garden, who proclaimed herself "a born Scotch Episcopalian," said she was likely to join the Catholic church shortly "in order to fulfill a wish that has been present for many years, and to better enable me to play the part of the Madonna."

She also said her costume probably would be "a blaze of jewels," patterned after the image of a Madonna she saw in Rome last year, as contrasted with the gown of shimmering silk worn by Lady Diana in the part.

It will be Miss Garden's first appearance in drama. She will sail on the Olympic on the 12th inst. for a short season of grand opera in Paris. She expects to begin her performance in "The Miracle" here next August.

STONE IS GIVEN CABINET PLACE

his resignation to become effective at the end of the present scholastic year in June. During the entire period of his connection with Columbia dating from 1899 when he became a law lecturer at the university, he has maintained an active law practice and for several years past has been member of the firm of Wilmer, Canfield and Stone. He recently agreed, preparatory to retiring as dean, to associate himself with the law firm of Sullivan, Cromwell & Co. at an annual salary reported in the neighborhood of $125,000.

OTHERS CONSIDERED

The list from which Mr. Coolidge chose Mr. Stone contained also the names of Chief Justice Arthur P. Rugg of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court; Nathan L. Miller, former Governor of New York; Judge William S. Kenyon of the Federal Court of Appeals; Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich of Idaho, and Judge Frederick E. Crane of the New York Court of Appeals.

Only two of this list, Dean Stone and Justice Rugg, have been known personally for any length of time by the President. Whether the latter would have accepted the place is doubted by his friends. Moreover, the President felt that he could not go to Massachusetts for his Attorney-General and maintain what he has described as "geographical balance." He, therefore, turned first to his other friend, Mr. Stone, although others on the list are better known generally to the country.

The prospective new Attorney-General is 52 years of age and was born on a farm near Chesterfield, N. H., the son of what Secretary Weeks described today as "a tight-fisted, thrifty New Hampshire farmer."

His brother was Dr. Winthrop E. Stone, president of Purdue University of Indiana, who was killed two years ago while mountain climbing in the Canadian Rockies.

TWO-FISTED MAN

Mr. Stone entered Amherst College a year before President Coolidge, his parents at that time living on a farm just outside the town of Amherst. He played football, was class orator and was graduated among the first three in his class. One of his classmates was Bertrand H. Snell, now member of the House from New York.

Representative Snell today described Mr. Stone as a "two-fisted American, an excellent lawyer, a great organizer and a man whom I predict will let the Department of Justice know who is boss from the minute he steps inside the doors."

In addition to his duties at Columbia, where he became dean of law after having been lecturer and professor, and to his law practice, Mr. Stone has engaged in business and is a director of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line Railroad Company and several other corporations.

Like the President, he belongs to the Congregational Church. His family consists of his wife and two sons, one an instructor at Harvard University and the other a student at the same school.

LETTER TO COME UP

Mr. Stone in his letter on the radical deportations, which probably will come up for discussion in the Senate in connection with his confirmation, joined with twelve other leading lawyers in attacking from a legal standpoint the methods utilized by the Department of Justice under Atty.-Gen. Palmer in arresting and deporting the asserted "Reds."

The letter, which was presented to the Senate Judiciary Committee, February 1, 1921, during the committee's investigation of charges of illegal practices in the Department of Justice in connection with the raids, laids down the proposition that aliens admitted to the United States by the immigration authorities are "entitled to the protection of the due processes of the law guaranteed by the Constitution to persons within the United States." It expressed the hope that the committee's investigation would not only prove or disprove the legality of the raids and deportations but also lead to legislation more adequately protecting aliens.

CAPT. LOUIS C. ARTHUR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) April 2.—News has been received here of the death of Capt. Louis C. He left Arizona to take a similar position with the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Interment was in Arlington Cemetery, Washington.

having similar interests, and by dividing those under strict quarantine from those under provisional quarantine.

In a letter written today to the Sacramento County Supervisors, Hecke said he believed the counties were exceeding their authority in passing ordinances, or in attempting to regulate commerce between counties which are free of the foot-and-mouth disease.

The authority to lay down quarantines rests entirely with Gov. Richardson, he declared.

The State Director of Agriculture will encourage the counties to continue their patrol work, and he will urge them to be especially vigilant against the movement of live stock between districts where the epidemic has appeared and in the free areas.

TO POSTPONE FESTIVAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, April 2.—Although the five main agricultural counties of the San Joaquin Valley are not yet infected with the hoof and mouth disease, directions of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce today recommended to the California Raisin Festival Association that the Raisin Day celebration scheduled for April 24 in Fresno be tentatively postponed thirty days as purely a precaution measure to prevent possible spread of the malady.

The recommendation will be ratified tomorrow by the festival association, Al C. Joy, president of the body, said tonight.

Postponement of the festival means the cancellation of the annual Raisin Day 150-mile automobile classic set for the 24th inst. Conventions which include the State convention of Exchange clubs and other gatherings scheduled for Raisin Day and the week in which Raisin Day falls will be postponed to the date fixed for Raisin Day, which will be definitely set in accordance with the condition of the disease next month.

There has been no outbreak of the disease in Fresno, Stanislaus, Madera, Kings and Tulare counties.

MEETING PLANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILLOWS, April 2.—County officials and stockmen from Glenn, Tehama and Colusa counties, meeting here today, appointed a committee to invite representatives of other Northern California counties to a meeting to consider measures to protect this section of the State from the foot-and-mouth disease.

The meeting will be held in the office of the State Department of Agriculture at Sacramento at 1 p.m., next Saturday. Uniform quarantine regulations for all Northern California counties will be urged, it is said.

The committee named today immediately sent telegrams to the chairmen of the boards of supervisors in Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Trinity, Humboldt, Mendocino, Plumas, Sierra, Yuba, Butte, Placer, Lake, Colusa, Sutter, Nevada and El Dorado counties, asking them to appoint committees to attend Saturday's meeting.

ATTACKS RAISE IN ESTATE TAX

for the special good of our civilization."

"The social necessity of breaking up large fortunes in this country does not exist," Mr. Mellon argued. "Under our American law it is customary for estates to be divided equally among the children and in a few generations any single large fortune is split into many moderate inheritances and the continuation through generations of a single fortune has been proved to be impossible.

"CAPITAL RUINED"

"It should always be borne in mind that estate taxes are levied upon capital, that they are used for current operating expenses; and that they amount, therefore, to a destruction of capital in the country. Yet the House amendment would make this inherently unsound increase in taxes for the sake of a mere $12,000,000 additional revenue. In the course of a few years this additional revenue will disappear and even the original revenue will be depleted.

"The whole return from the estate taxes, some $110,000,000 under present rates, is insignificant in comparison with the general receipts of the government. It is but a slight portion of the government revenue, but it is a large and important part of State revenue. To destroy values from which the States receive income is to force them to resort to higher taxes on land. The Federal government should keep estate taxes as a reserve in time of national distress. All prior inheritance taxes have been war taxes. It is only now that Congress proposes to destroy this reserve in a time when revenues from other sources are not only adequate, but in excess of the nation's needs."

DESTRUCTIVE EFFECT

"When a man dies," Secretary Mellon continued, "his property does not often consist of cash or marketable securities. The effect is immediately to give notice to all possible purchasers that a forced sale will soon take place. This has the effect of dropping the price at which securities can be sold.

"In its practical effect, a 40 per cent rate requires for its satisfaction 50 per cent or more of the normal value of the estate, and in cases where an estate is burdened with considerable indebtedness the destructive effect is still greater.

"Assuming that all inheritances, large and small, were taxed at 40 per cent, it would be only two or three generations until private ownership of property would cease to exist. Since these taxes are used in the current operation of the government, the result would be not that the government had absorbed the wealth of the country, but that the wealth had been spent and that none was left."

MANY CLIMB LONGS PEAK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2. — According to records made public by the Department of the Interior, a total of 623 persons made the climb to the summit of Longs Peak, altitude 14,255 feet, in Rocky Mountain National Park from June 25 to August 16, 1923. The total includes 447 men and 176 women. Of the climbers 231 were from Colorado and 392 from other States and foreign countries. One visitor each from Canada, Scotland and Japan made the summit climb.

VERNON CATTLE ORDERED KILLED

All Live Stock in Area Hit in Disease Fight

Pet Dogs and Cats Also to Die in District

County Quarantine Will be Kept Airtight

Federal and State inspectors, fighting to check the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in the county, yesterday ordered all cattle, hogs, sheep, goats and pet dogs and cats in the Vernon area, center of the infection, appraised and killed.

The order came shortly after the discovery of an isolated case of infection in a family cow, and is the most rigorous yet announced in the battle to stem the outbreak.

At the same time Sheriff Traeger took further action to keep airtight the quarantine in the county. Deputy Sheriff Wilmot and nine special deputies were sent to Lancaster. There they will be joined by nine men under Constable Cummings to patrol the roads and enforce the quarantine. Some of the men will be stationed at Chandler and others at Tejon Pass, near the Kern county line. The patrol will prevent the movement of all live stock and animals in or out of the county, and will force all vehicles passing from one county to the other to go through a disinfectant solution. A supply of disinfectant and apparatus for its use was sent to the patrol by County Horticulturist Ryan.

BAR KERN CATTLE

A quarantine against Los Angeles county has been maintained by Kern county since the outbreak of the disease here, but the outbreak in the neighboring county Tuesday caused the establishment of the quarantine by Los Angeles county yesterday.

Ranchers and range riders along the county line are being instructed to prevent the movement of live stock and every effort is being made to prevent a further spread of the infection.

Kern county is now under close quarantine, according to dispatches from Bakersfield. State Inspector Bolender has taken charge of the situation there and the closest cooperation is being maintained between county, State and Federal authorities. The thirty-one infected cattle discovered at the Kern Island Stables of the Kern County Land Company have been killed and buried.

No new cases have been discovered but a rigid quarantine is being maintained and no one is permitted to enter the Kern Island stables without official permission.

WILL CLOSE ROADS

It was also stated in dispatches that no cattle will be moved in Kern county for at least two days and then only after official permits are issued. Steps are also being taken to close all roads in the county to general traffic with the exception of the State Highway and the Tehachapi Highway. This action is expected to make possible a closer and more rigid inspection of all vehicles entering the county. Guards have already been posted at strategic points on the highways to enforce the quarantine. Tulare county authorities are co-operating with Kern county officers in maintaining a guard at the northern entrance of Kern county.

State authorities are doing their utmost to stamp out the disease. Director G. H. Hecke of the State Department of Agriculture will arrive in the city tomorrow to obtain first-hand information as to the situation in the county.

Dairy and beef cattle condemned Tuesday were being slaughtered yesterday and the work of slaughtering condemned animals in the Vernon district is expected to start today. The Vernon district coming under the order is two miles square and includes stockyards, packing plants and feed yards.

COOLIDGE GETS TWO MORE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—Despite the fact that the national organization supporting President Coolidge conducted no campaign for delegates in Wisconsin, the President will have at least two, and possibly six of this State's delegates as a result of Tuesday's election.

Candidates for delegates supporting the President were reported leading by a margin sufficient to indicate victory over those favoring La Follette in one district, and were ahead in two other districts on incomplete returns.

La Follette men continued to lead by a wide margin for delegates-at-large, as was expected, the vote with 1116 precincts tabulated being 139,986 to 64,036 for those favoring Coolidge.

Chief interest was centered, however, in the apparent victory of Gov. Al Smith of New York over W. G. McAdoo for the State's Democratic delegates. Returns from 853 precincts gave Smith 24,442, and McAdoo 20,581, with Smith's margin increasing as new precincts were reported.

Senator James A. Reed was rejected in the Presidential preference primary, a peculiar feature of this State's election machinery. Only McAdoo and Reed were entered in this contest, the results of which are not binding on the delegates. Few votes were cast, the interest being confined to the contests between McAdoo and Smith delegates.

Crippled wires are delaying compilation of the returns.

CAMPAIGN FOR RALSTON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—An active campaign in behalf of United States Senator Samuel M. Ralston for the Democratic Presidential nomination, was inaugurated at a meeting of the Democratic State Committee today at which Thomas Taggart, a party leader, was present. Taggart declared that, while Ralston is not a candidate, "his friends are insisting upon the presentation of his name to the convention."

Charles A. Gratehouse, national committeeman for Indiana, was authorized to proceed with formation of a Ralston-for-President organization.

ROOSEVELT DELEGATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, was elected as a delegate to the Republican National Convention in yesterday's primaries. He and Robert S. Pelletreau, organization candidates, were selected in a Long Island district, defeating Mrs. Ruth Lid, independent.

District delegates to both national conventions were elected throughout the State. No candidates for Presidential nominations figured in the voting as State conventions later will determine whether the delegates will vote for a particular candidate or be unpledged.

There were only about half a dozen contests and organization candidates were successful. Members of State and county party committees and delegates to State conventions also were elected.

EXPERTS FINISH REPORT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, April 2.—The committee headed by Owen D. Young, which is drafting the report of the reparations experts to the reparation commission, met again today to iron out the few remaining divergencies between the French and English texts. It expects to complete its work some time Thursday.

All of the subcommittees of the first or Dawes committee completed work this evening awaiting the final plenary session of the committee Thursday night or Friday morning, at which it is expected final approval will be voted unanimously.

The committee charged with estimating the amount of Germany's capital exported, of which Reginald McKenna is chairman, will meet again Thursday to arrive at a definite figure. Mr. McKenna, when shown the estimate of the newspapers that eight billion gold marks thus escaped, said:

"So that's our figure, eh? Well, that is just what we were trying to find."

However, it is expected that the committee Thursday will agree upon an approximate sum and submit a report to Mr. Dawes and the workers.

NO DISAGREEMENT

These indications from authoritative sources seem to set definitely at rest rumors that the committee would "agree to disagree," which appeared in a report signed by all, but French and British reservations on several points. Furthermore, it seems evident that the proposed moratorium will be for four years instead of from four to six as the British were at first inclined to recommend. All this indicates that will make Premier Poincare's acceptance of the report easier and pave the way to a speedy examination of the views of the experts.

However, a fight is forseen when the Reparations Commission and the British are known to have fairly protracted debate in order to embody suggestions to adjust the respective governments with the French members are desirous of placing the matter directly before the premiers.

CHARGES DELAY IN PROSECUTION

Witness in Daugherty Quiz Tells of Aircraft Frauds

Says Justice Department Has Failed to Act on Evidence

Democratic Officials Are Smeared in Testimony

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Further details of charges that the Department of Justice had delayed war fraud prosecutions unduly were heard by the Senate Daugherty committee today from H. L. Scaife, a former investigator for the department.

Scaife, who was the only witness today, testified to some extent from records of the House committee which in 1922 considered impeachment charges against Harry M. Daugherty.

Reiterating and extending a previous allegation that the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation received an "over payment" of $5,267,000 on war contracts and had not been prosecuted, Scaife declared that former Attorney-General Daugherty, Secretary Weeks, Charles Hayden, chairman of the Wright-Martin board, and Guy D. Goff, former assistant Attorney-General, "should all be indicted by a grand jury" for inaction in the matter.

The witness contended that machinations of "what I call the invisible government" had been disclosed by some of his investigations and told of what he said were fruitless efforts on his part to have the Department of Justice investigate Army aircraft accidents.

DEMOCRATS, TOO

Professing a desire to hold an even hand in political matters, Scaife said in explaining the Wright-Martin contracts that Thomas L. Chadbourne, an attorney and "a large contributor" to Democratic campaign funds, had obtained for this corporation a cost-plus contract during the war. The lawyer's fee was added to the contract costs by the company, he said, "plus a profit." Later audits by the air service in 1921 disclosed the "over payment," the witness asserted, and resulted in the preparation of government suits to obtain the return of money spent under the contract for cigars, dinners, laundry, secret service and for insufficient allowances in the salvage of materials and tools. The witnesses said under questioning that Democratic officials who had passed on the allowances should be indicted along with the others he named.

Charles Hayden and Secretary Weeks exchanged several letters, Schaife said, in one of which Mr. Weeks agreed to ask the Department of Justice for a temporary delay in the Wright-Martin case. From that time, he added, the department "switched the case from attorney to attorney," and waited until "witnesses were scattered and men were out of the service" although representatives of the department had promised to bring the case to trial within three weeks after the failure of the House impeachment proceedings against Mr. Daugherty. No action had ever been taken, he asserted.

HITS WICKERSHAM

Reverting to charges he previously has made concerning the Standard Aircraft Corporation, which was owned by Mitsui & Co. of Japan, Scaife asserted that former Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, attorney for the Mitsuit company, acquired "undue influence" with the Department of Justice in the litigation. The overpayment to the Standard Aircraft Corporation, he also said, had escaped prosecution.

The witness put into the record a report from Capt. Luke McNamee, former head of the Navy intelligence service, which said that through Mitsui ownership of the aircraft company Japan had been able to obtain American aircraft plans and gain valuable knowledge in the manufacture of military aircraft.

The committee tomorrow plans to inquire further into allegations that Oklahoma Indian land frauds had also failed of prosecution by the Department of Justice.

Moslem Pilgrim Throng in Peril as Vessel Burns

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, April 2.—The British steamer Frageston en route from Bombay, India, to Jeddah, Arabia, the port of entry to the Holy City of Mecca, caught on fire in the Red Sea today, imperiling the lives of 1200 Moslem pilgrims, according to wireless dispatches picked up here today from Port Sudan, Africa.

Latest dispatches say the fire, which started in the steamer's hold, was rapidly spreading over the wooden decks and that it would be necessary to abandon ship unless the flames were quickly brought under control. The steamer's S.O.S. brought the British steamer Clan Maciver speedily to the rescue. The Frageston is hurrying to Port Sudan with all possible speed with the Clan Maciver running alongside ready to receive the human cargo in case of necessity.

GRAFT CHARGE INQUIRY SECRET

House Committee Opens Quiz Behind Closed Doors

Maryland Representative's Case Taken Up First

Full Report of Evidence is Promised at Conclusion

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Investigation of charges against Representatives Langley of Kentucky and Zihlman of Maryland by a special House committee will be conducted behind closed oors, but a stenographic report of all testimony will be made public when the committee submits its findings to the House.

This procedure was agreed upon today by the committee as it resumed its inquiry, determined to look first into the charges against Mr. Zihlman. At two executive sessions the committee heard the testimony of Elias Mortimer, who is understood to have accused Zihlman of improper use of official influence. Tomorrow Edward Robinson, former proprietor of the Federal Drug and Chemical Company of Baltimore, who also is said to have made charges involving the Maryland Representative will be examined.

STATEMENT ISSUED

At the close of today's hearings, Chairman Burton issued the following statement for the committee:

"Having ascertained that Representatives Zihlman and Langley are the only members of the House against whom charges were made in connection with the Chicago grand jury proceeding, the committee will proceed as rapidly as possible to comply with the resolution (authorizing its inquiry) and when the hearings are completed will present to the House, along with its conclusions and recommendations, all the evidence submitted. The charges against Representative Zihlman will be first heard and then the charges against Representative Langley.

"Upon very careful deliberation, the committee has determined that the hearings shall be in executive session at least for the present. This course cannot prejudice any interest that may be involved, while it is obvious that the other course might be unfair to the government as well as to individuals, particularly in view of the fact that one of the Representatives has been indicted and is now awaiting trial, which may occur before the hearings are completed.

ALL EVIDENCE PLEDGED

"The committee gives its assurance to the House and the public that its report, as already stated, will include all of the evidence which will thus be available for full consideration."

Mr. Langley was not present at today's committee sessions, but Mr. Zihlman was there with counsel who cross-examined Mortimer. Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General, also was present.

Mortimer is understood to have repeated in detail the story he told before the Chicago grand jury which investigated alleged Veterans' Bureau frauds and before the grand jury here, which indicted Langley, but ignored the charges against Zihlman.

Robinson, who will be tomorrow's witness, is regarded by committee members as the man around whom the "principal accusation" against Zihlman revolves. They predicted today that a week or more would be required to conclude the Zihlman phase of the inquiry.

Granting Use of Name in Primary Denied by Smith

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ALBANY (N.Y.) April 2.—The name of Gov. Smith was placed before the voters in the Wisconsin primaries without his consent, the Governor said today.

"I never was officially notified," he said, "and I did not know about it until it was too late to withdraw. In the case of Illinois, I received an official notification and immediately withdrew from the primary race. I would have done the same thing in Wisconsin had I known about it."

WIFE BLAMED FOR ATTACK WITH FORK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON (Pa.) April 2.—In suing for divorce, Arthur Draucker, a business man, charged that his wife, Iva, had attacked him, while he slept, with a meat fork and he almost lost an eye. Draucker says that within a month after they were married his wife began to attack him, employing usually sharp knives and forks as her weapons. He says only his agility and sprinting prowess kept him from serious injury. "When she became peeved," says Draucker, "I beat it for the cyclone cellar."

GRAND JURY CONDEMNED BY FORBES

Flagrant Misconduct in Veterans' Bureau Inquiry is Charged

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 2.—Col. Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans' Bureau, today charged the Federal grand jury, which recently named him in three indictments following an investigation of the bureau, with flagrant misconduct. Six pleas in abatement to the indictments were filed in the Federal Court.

Col. Forbes charged that a number of persons whose presence was unauthorized were before the jury while testimony was being given.

It is charged that Mrs. Kate Forbes, divorced wife of Col. Forbes, was examined before the jurors without being sworn as a witness and that she was compelled by coercive action to reveal certain confidential papers and letters.

It was also charged that the stenographers who took the testimony were not paid by the government; that Davis G. Arnold was not a Federal attorney, as he represented himself, but was, in fact, the assistant director of the Veteran's Bureau; that John W. H. Crim, chief prosecutor, held a "roving" commission and was not authorized to appear before the jury.

CLARK GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Startles Courtroom with Interruption of Judge; Driscoll Pleads Not Guilty of Perjury

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—Denying a motion for a new trial, and declaring the murder of George E. Schick was one of the most horrible and atrocious that has ever come to his attention, Judge Luce this morning sentenced E. Drew Clark to Folsom Penitentiary for life.

Clark was found guilty of first-degree murder for the death of Schick, the jury, in its verdict returned Monday night, recommending life imprisonment.

Clark startled the courtroom in the ribs and whispered, "Shut up." Clark's outburst followed a review by Judge Luce of the case in which the court stressed the damaging evidence brought against Clark by reason of the latter having in his possession certain valuable jewelry owned by Schick.

Dorn based his motion for retrial on the fact that it had never been definitely established that Schick was dead, or that Clark had murdered him as charged. He maintained that the court was in error in accepting as a fact that Schick was dead, and he further questioned the legality of permitting John V. Hendrix, condemned murderer, to testify regarding a confession he said Clark made one night in the jail.

when, on pronouncement of sentence, he exclaimed to Judge Luce, "That story about the jewelry is all a lie." Arthur L. Dorn, Clark's counsel, jabbed his client in the ribs and whispered, "Shut

APPEAL PLANNED

After the court's refusal to grant a new trial, Dorn announced that an appeal, based on the corpus delicti and the admissibility of Hendrix's testimony, would be taken to the State Supreme Court. The court agreed that for the satisfaction of all concerned it would be well to obtain a decision by the high tribunal on the two points, although it was pointed out that there already were legal precedents establishing the points.

INTEREST LAGS IN OIL INQUIRY

Doheny's Contributions to Democrats Aired

Figures of Party ex-Chief Are Below Oil Man's

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—There is a discrepancy of $40,100 between what former Chairman George White of the Democratic National Committee can remember Oilman Doheny dropped into the Democratic war chest and what Mr. Doheny says he dropped.

George White's recollection is $24,900. Doheny's statement is $75,000.

"And Mr. Doheny will have to reconcile the difference," said Mr. White to the Teapot Dome investigating committee today.

"As I recall it," said Senator Walsh of Montana, after the witness had put it up to the oil promoter, "Mr. Doheny's memory for figures was also faulty as to payments made for the legal services of Mr. McAdoo."

Former Chairman White cheerfully acknowledged that he also is in oil—he is an officer of the Permian and Melrose Oil Companies—but said he never had been connected in any way with naval oil leases.

NO SINCLAIR MONEY

In the matter of money paid by oil interests to sustain the Cox campaign, Mr. White said he knew of no contribution made by Harry Sinclair.

The usual morning's morning of bickering with which Senators Walsh and Spencer daily inspirit themselves opened the sitting but it was along new lines. A Democrat being on the carpet, Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, was eager to delve. Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, was contrariwise, but not, he declared, for partisan reasons.

"Nothing," he said, "in the way of contributions to the Democratic campaign fund could possibly have influenced Republican officials to grant the oil leases which they did grant."

ADJOURN TO MONDAY

The Senator would not, however, object to former Chairman White's testimony. He merely wished to record his conviction that it was irrelevant.

As the Senators had thus succeeded in talking away half of the total time they sat, they then languidly took on Witness White and after that languidly adjourned to next Monday.

The truth is Teapot Dome is simmering down for lack of headliners. On the Senators themselves, the investigation is palling. Only five investigators answered present today—Ladd, Walsh, Spencer, Stanfield, Adams. Absent were Jones, Cameron, Kendrick, Bursum, Dill, Pittman.

Al Jennings's yarn has almost killed serious interest in the proceedings.

WILBUR TO ASSIST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—After conferences today with special counsel in the oil cases, Secretary Wilbur stated he would co-operate with them in every possible way in the litigation already undertaken and proposed and resulting from the oil investigation. The new naval Secretary sought the conference so as to inform himself fully of the facts.

Settlement of Consulate Case Officially Told

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, April 2.—Settlement of the Newcastle Consulate dispute between Great Britain and the United States was officially made known this evening when the correspondence between Prime Minister MacDonald and Ambassador Kellogg on the subject was given out.

Great Britain withdraws her charges against the former American consular officers at Newcastle. Ambassador Kellogg's letter briefly states the intention of the American government to reopen the consulate and appoint Charles Roy Naysmith as consul and asks for the necessary recognition.

Premier MacDonald in his letter said:

"I have the honor to inform you that after further consideration His Majesty's government are prepared not to insist upon the charge of exceeding their consular authority, laid about a year and a half ago against the then American consul and vice-consul at Newcastle and it has therefore been recalled."

Both the letters are dated the 2nd inst.

WIFE BEATS FLOOR WITH HIS CRANIUM

So Says Aged and Infirm Chicagoan, Adding That He's Deaf Yet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 2.—That she had knocked her aged husband to the floor, sat on him, clasped both his ears in her fist, and drummed a tattoo on the floor with his head was one of the charges made against Mrs. May E. Thome in a divorce bill filed here by Mathias Thome. Thome, who is a wealthy hair goods dealer, first set up in his bill, filed by Attorney E. M. Seymour, his wife's pugilistic dimensions.

It might be best to mention, however, that Thome is 75 years of age, and a bit infirm, especially now. He states that he is nearly deaf from the beating his head got.

As to Mrs. Thome, she is 45, six feet in height, weighs 200 pounds, and is "healthy, robust and strong," to quote the bill.

The Thomes were married twenty years ago, when Thome was 55 and Mrs. Thome was a supple miss of but 25. Thome lived on through the years with his wife until last August, the bill states.

Some few weeks before, according to the bill, Mrs. Thome became enraged, and did her trick of attempting to dent the floor with her husband's cranium. So vigorous was her application, the bill states, that he "saw stars."

Tress Bobbers of Chicago to Increase Price

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 2.—The cost of bobbing a woman's hair is going up to $1.50 and a trim is to cost $1, according to action taken by the South Side Barbers' Association, which expects to make the price general in Chicago.

Opponents of the price raise contend that it takes only the same amount of time and effort to bob a woman's hair as to cut a man's and the latter is charged only an average of 75 cents.

SOUTH BEND (Wash.) April 2. The British steamship Baron Polwarth loaded 2,500,000 feet of Willapa Harbor timber here today. To the Trinity of Soil, Sunshine, Water Add Your Intelligent Man-Power

ELMER Drew Merrill, dean of the college of Agriculture of Leland Stanford University, after a recent trip through Imperial Valley made this comment:

"THOSE who haven't visited the Imperial Valley are, as a rule, largely misinformed regarding this very productive part of the state. A trip through Imperial Valley is an inspiration, for the progress made during the last few years is almost unbelievable . . . It has been transformed into one of the richest, most productive agricultural areas in California, with an ample water supply for irrigation purposes.

"AT the present time there are 530,000 acres under irrigation, the major field crops being alfalfa, barley, cotton, cantaloupes, lettuce, watermelons, peas, etc. Some idea of the great development of special crops may be gained from the statement that in 1923 over 13,000 carloads of Imperial Valley cantaloupes and over 7,700 carloads of lettuce were shipped East.

"FRUIT raising is becoming a very important industry, this being especially true in respect to grapefruit, dates, pears, etc. In respect to its field crops and fruits Imperial Valley has one distinct advantage in that due to climatic conditions many special crops mature earlier than in other parts of California and are hence disposed of at relatively high prices."

IN order that everyone seeking a California farm-place WILL get the true facts, and will thus not be misinformed, we The Calipatrians—a non-profit, co-operative organization of farmers—are putting the REAL facts and figures before YOU in this unpretentious but straight-from-the-shoulder advertising.

HERE, in the Calipatria District of Imperial Valley, there is a real opportunity for good farmers. Land can be had at attractive prices and on easy terms. The soil is very rich. There is abundant water, at exceedingly low rates per acre foot, and, from Mother Nature herself, we are blessed with glorious, crop-growing sunshine which makes it possible for us to work in our shirt sleeves every day in the year.

TO make this soil-sunshine-and-water trinity commercially successful, intelligent, industrious Man Power is needed. If you can supply this fourth essential, there is a real opportunity for you here.

FIVE HUNDRED SCHOOLS ENTERED FOR PENN RELAY CARNIVAL

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER

W. M. P.

It will be very interesting to see the reception that the Thanksgiving Day road race at Ascot receives at the hands of the automobile manufacturers. A lot of people are inclined to string along with George Bentel and believe that the factories are sure to line up with strings of cars for the event. The "boom" days of the last three or four years, when everybody could sell all the automobiles they could produce, seem to have slipped past, and the old-time furious competition has started in again. The terrific yelps about four-wheel brakes, etc., are the surest sign in the world that the boys are fighting for business.

One of the best ways to sell automobiles is to get out and win some big road race, and nobody knows that better than George Bentel, for George used to have the Mercer agency in Los Angeles, and he claims that the year Eddie Pullen won the grand prize at Santa Monica in a Mercer he sold more Mercers in the two months following the race than he had sold for two years previously. Therefore, George may be said to know his stuff.

It isn't that the public believes the stock car and the car that wins the race are one and the same. But they do say to themselves, "Anybody who can build a car good enough to win the grand prize ought to be able to build a good car for any other purpose," and for that reason they buy. Ralph De Palma thinks there will be not less than half a dozen American factories and probably three or four European concerns in the big Turkey Day event, with several cars apiece.

The yarn about the dismissal of Dean Cromwell under the guise of "tendering his resignation," which was published in several papers yesterday, is a revival of the yelp that goes up every year at every college when the team fails to do what the students and the alumni, particularly the latter, think it ought to do. Stanford fired half a dozen coaches in succession because they couldn't beat the Bears, and nearly every other school has the same experience.

It ought to be an old story with Cromwell by this time, for he has had something like twelve years of it and has survived, so that the annual yell for his scalp probably doesn't worry him much. Henderson got it, also, and will get it every year that he fails to come through with an absolutely clean slate. That's one of the joys of being a coach—if you win, well, that's what they pay you for—but if you lose—well, you never were anything but a big bum, anyhow.

SEATTLE FIRST DIVISION CLUB

Red Killefer Says His Nine Will Finish Third

Portland Needs Jim Poole to Round Out Team

Ducks Boast Many Youngsters as Season Opens

BY BRAVEN DYER

Up in the great Northwest where men are men because they can't help it the folks think they have two of the finest baseball clubs in the Pacific Coast League. The manager of one of these teams, the Seattle Indians, has gone so far as to declare that his athletes will finish as high as third place, while Duke Kenworthy, who controls the destinies of the Portland Ducks, is perfectly satisfied with the outfit he has and promises that the Oregonians will give a good account of themselves in the 1924 race. Neither of the two managers comes out with the bald statement that his club will win the pennant, which is not only unusual, but perhaps a bit disconcerting to the home fans who are accustomed to having the gonfalon safely tucked away long before the teams get into action.

Red Killefer has been in this city for the past three days with his Indians and the bugs who took the opportunity to look the Siwashes over during their workouts at Washington Park have been much impressed. Killefer has always been popular here and a lot of fans want to see him make good with the Seattle team. When he says that he believes his club will finish at least as high as third place there's something to it, for Red isn't given to undue boasting.

OUTFIELD IS STRONG

Right now the outfield seems to be the strongest unit of the Seattle Club. Ray Rohwer, Billy Lane and Brick Eldred are probably the hardest hitting combination in the league. Rohwer was a tower of strength to the Indians last season and will undoubtedly break up many a ball game with his terrific clouting this year.

Killefer is still undecided as to his infield although he'll probably open the season with Big Elmer Bowman at first, Cliff Brady on second, Sam Crane at short and Ted Baldwin holding down the hot corner. Bowman, who hit .369 with the Eastern League last year, has almost won the first base job away from Jimmy Welsh, the sensational player who is wanted badly by several big league clubs. Crane and Baldwin played last year, while Brady comes from the International League. He is very small, but plenty smart.

In the pitching line the Indi-

Graham, shown in the above picture clearing the bar at a dizzy altitude, is regarded as one of the most sensational athletes in Southern California. When he started the season he was lucky to get over 11 feet, but recently he established a new conference record of 12ft. 5¾in. Roy Goodenough, Occidental star, equaled that mark not so long ago and when the two meet Saturday at the Coliseum a new record is likely to be set.

TILDEN ENTERS NET FINALS; FORMER CHAMPIONS PRESSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

AUGUSTA (Ga.) April 2.—In one of the most spectacular and brilliantly played matches ever seen here, William Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, won his way into the finals of the South Atlantic tennis tournament this afternoon by defeating Cedric Major of New York in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, 6-1.

The match was played before a large gallery. Tilden played in midseason form and Major pushed him all the way for every point.

The play started with Major leading at one time in the first set, 3 to 1, but by making some remarkable placement shots and dropping some of his returns just over the net, Tilden soon overcame this lead from that time on and headed his opponent in every turn.

The finals in the men's singles will be played Friday afternoon between Tilden and the winner of the Rice-Chapin matches tomorrow.

NEW YORK, April 2.—George W. Wightman, of Boston, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, was eliminated from the national amateur court tennis champion play today by Hewitt Morgan of New York 6-2, 6-4, 7-5. Morgan will meet O. S. Cutting, of New York, and R. W. Cutler, of Boston, will clash with W. D. MacPherson, of London, in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Two former titleholders, Francis T. Hunter and S. Howard Voshell, both of New York, were pressed to the limit of extra sets today to maintain their places in the national indoor tennis championship singles at the Seventh Regiment Armory.

Hunter had to battle stubbornly to conquer Merrit Cutler of New York, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5. Hunter led 4-1 on games in the final set only to have Cutler pull up to five-all before the Wimbledon finalist clinched his victory and a place in the semifinal round.

Voshell defeated R. W. Talmage of New York, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4 in a fourth round match.

Vincent Richards of Yonkers, the champion, and Frank T. Anderson of New York, champion of 1921, gained places in the semifinals.

In the doubles Richards and Hunter, the champion pair, beat R. Green and R. W. Talmage, New York, 6-3, 6-2.

MIDWICK POLOISTS WIN GAME

Local Novice Team Scores 12-to-10 Victory Over Eleventh Cavalry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—Midwick's novice polo team, despite a last-period rally on the part of the Eleventh Cavalry, today won the opening game of the Pacific Coast championship novice tournament at the Coronado Country Club, 12 to 10. The cavalrymen went into the final chukker with the score 10 to 6 against them, but with a whirlwind rally collected four successive goals, three of which Capt. Waldron scored. Midwick was not to be outdone, however, and came right back with two markers to win.

Will Rogers, movie star, who admits to having made a secret prep. for the tournament on his back lot, went out to play one game. And he gave it everything he had. "With only one pair of white pants it's only one game for me," he announced. Two bad falls, in which he escaped injury miraculously, just ruined those pants for Will, but he kept right on playing. After his second fall, in the seventh chukker, in which he was struck on the side of the head by the ball and hurdled by a pony, Rogers took the ball from a thrown in and carried it right down the field for a goal, riding hard and fast. He received a good hand for his gameness.

Tomorrow Denver and the Hawaiian division will meet in the second game of the novice tourney, the gentlemen's races for polo ployers at Tijuana being postponed, due to the heavy condition of the track.

The line-ups:

Eleventh Cavalry—Capt. Waldron (5,) No. 1; Lieut. Lipman (1,) No. 2; Lieut. Conlon (2,) No. 3; Capt. Gibbs (2,) No. 4.

Midwick—C. B. Wrightsman (8,) No. 1; J. A. Wigmore (4,) No. 2; Capt. Reynolds, No. 3; Will Rogers (2,) No. 4.

Umpire, Capt. White; referee, Maj. Colin G. Ross.

Krueger and Gregg Still Lead Bowlers

Another flock of matches in the bowling tournament for the Southern California doubles championship and the B. H. Dyas Company gold medals were played Tuesday night at the Angelus Academy. The play was the ninth round for first division teams.

Positions in the division remain about the same, Krueger and Gregg holding down first place with about seven points to the good. The second divison teams will play their ninth round tonight, also at the Angelus.

Standings to date for first division follow:

Krueger and Gregg	254.17
Turner and Rancvilish	237.46
Hartley and Werner	237.11
Ward and De Long	237.00

CONFERENCE TEAMS MIX SATURDAY

Pomona and Occidental Squads Favored in Big Meet at Coliseum

Although there seems to be a rather general impression going the rounds of Southern California Conference track fans that Pomona stands a much better chance of winning the all-conference meet at the Coliseum Saturday than they did of beating Occidental two weeks ago, Coach Eugene Nixon, who handles the Sagehen track athletes, is feeling mighty blue over the Blue and White prospects. Although all of the other conference institutions, with the exception of Whittier, will have men entered it is a foregone conclusion that the meet lies between Pomona and Oxy.

"In order to win the meet we must take every point that we got against Occidental two weeks ago," said Nixon. "Right now it doesn't look as if we could do that. Clark, my shot putter, has spent most of his time with baseball this week and I'm not so sure that he can beat out Giles of Southern Branch. Frisbie has been showing none too well in the broad jump and probably won't have a good day at the Coliseum as the jumping pit there seems to bother him. Merrit has given all of his attention to baseball since the Oxy meet and I count his points in the hammer and discus as lost, anyway with Groat, Moyse and Thompson in the meet."

Nixon's troubles are real ones, but Coach Joe Pipal's path at Oxy is not all roses either. Caltech, with Moyse in the hammer and discus, and Graham in the pole vault, is very liable to swipe three first places which the Tigers got against Pomona. The Southern Branch shot putters will grab the second and third places which Oxy snagged when they met the Sagehens. Pipal says he will keep Argue out of everything, but the two sprints, not only because he wants him in good shape for the all-conference invasion of Stanford on the 12th inst., but also on account of the trip to the Pennsylvania relays coming immediately after the trip to Palo Alto. That means seven points gone.

The worries of Nixon and Pipal make the meet all the more interesting to fans, for it means that things will be about as close as when the Tigers beat the Sagehens by winning the relay. Saturday the relay counts, five, three and one and if the Pomona quartet can take second they stand a good chance of winning the meet.

McTIGUE SUFFERING WITH BROKEN HAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, is suffering from an injured left hand and arm as a result of his match Monday night with Young Stribling, Georgia schoolboy, at Newark, it become known today.

McTigue's arm is swollen twice its normal size and there is evidence of a possible fracture of the hand, according to Dr. H. L. Meylackson, who examined the titleholder. According to Paddy Mullins, manager of McTigue, the injury occurred in the sixth round of the bout in which Stribling won a decisive victory.

POCKET POOL CHAMP SUING FOR DIVORCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, April 2. — E. Ralph Greenleaf, national pocket-billiard champion, has filed suit here for divorce against his wife, Beatrice Greenleaf. Mrs. Greenleaf last Saturday started suit for separation in the New York courts alleging her husband abandoned her.

SWIMMING CHAMPION SETS MARK

Weismuller Hangs Up New Record for Hundred-Yard Free Style Event

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 2.—Johnny Weismuller of the Illinois Athletic Club broke the national A.A.U. championship record for the 100-yard free-style swim tonight in the national A.A.U. senior indoor swimming championship tournament continued from last night, going the distance in 53 4-5s. His old record was 54s.

David L. Jones of Providence, R. I., was second and Harry Lewis of the Brooklyn Y.M.C.A. was third.

John Faricy of the Illinois A. C. won the 220-yard breast stroke event in 2m. 52 2-5s., equalling the world's record and bettering the national A.A.U. record of 2m. 58 3-5s., held by Bobby Skelton of the Illinois A.C. Skelton was second and the race was almost a dead heat, Faricy winning only by a flap of the hand. H. Olmstead of the Chicago Athletic Association was third.

In an exhibition swim, Miss Sybil Bauer of the Illinois A. C. bettered her American and world's record for 200 meters backstroke and 220-yard backstroke, doing the former in 2m. 58s., as compared with her old time of 3m. 2 4-5s., and the latter in 2m. 57 1-5s., as compared to her former time of 3m. flat.

FARMERSVILLE PUTS IT ON EXETER CLUB

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EXETER, April 2.—With a score of 11 to 4, Exeter went down to defeat in their opening game here in the Tulare County League, with the strong Farmersville team as opponents. Woods pitched a good game, but was handicapped in not having a catcher who could hold him. Kelm of Farmersville and Jennings of Exeter played stellar ball.

POMONA FROSH GET SET FOR GRIZZLIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, April 2.—In an effort to teach his proteges the underlying principles of baseball, Coach "Beefy" Heath has been working his Pomona College frosh nine fast and furiously in preparation for a full program of games. Two contests have been waged with the varsity aggregation and both times the more experienced players walked off with easy victory.

Shaw, O'Toole and May are showing up in the pitcher's box, while Packard and Bell look like first-class behind-the-bat men.

At present the freshmen are busy preparing for their opening game with the Southern Branch frosh, April 19.

Illini-Bruin Meet at Berkeley Attracts Nation-Wide Interest

JAPANESE NINE TO VISIT U. S.

Meiji University Team Coming for Coast Games

Brown Athletes to Arrive at Seattle Next Week

Invaders Are Best Collegiate Club in Orient

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TOKIO, March 15.—Meiji University's baseball team, collegiate champions of Japan in 1923, will invade the Pacific Coast of the United States this spring. The team, under charge of Prof. Joji Otsuki, head of the athletic department of the university, is due to arrive at Seattle, April 11.

The Japanese champions hope to begin their invasion by defeating the University of Washington nine. Then they hope to meet the leading university and semi-professional teams of the West. They will return to Japan about mid-July.

The party will comprise the following:

Iorao Yuasa, most feared pitcher among Japanese collegians; Yoshinoby Yasuda, who shares mound honors with Yuasa; Sanjiro Umeda, catcher; Umeo Tanisawa, first base; Saburo Yokosawa, second base; Yoshio Hayashi, shortstop; Hideso Inebam, third base; Gen. Kumugaya, centerfield; Noribumi Daimon, left field; Nobaki Niedegawa, right field; Harno Kure, Kinzo Nagawa and Shunichi Kawada, utility players. Three student managers will accompany the team.

The Meiji players last year won eight games and lost one in the intercollegiate league, defeating Waseda, Keio, Hosei and Rikkyo universities twice each and losing one contest to Keio. The team's chief strength lies in Yuasa's effectiveness and its own unusually strong attack.

Meiji University, in Tokio, is one of the largest private universities in Japan, with an enrollment of approximately 4000. It was founded in 1882.

GOLFERS SET FOR QUALIFYING ROUND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHANDLER (Ariz.) April 2. This fair hamlet so green against the surrounding desert whiteness, an emerald in a platinum setting, is headquarters tonight for golfers from all over the Southwest. All are waiting for tomorrow morning, when the qualifying round of the Southwestern Golf Association's tenth annual championship tournament will be played.

To many golfers, the San Marcos course is the first grass links they ever have played on and they are enjoying the opulent situation hugely. Most of the courses in Arizona and New Mexico, due to the lack of water, are barren of vegetation, as bare as a skinned baseball diamond, but here all is green and glorious.

George Pecock, the former English boat builder, is having a big demand for his six-oared shells and his shop in the Far West is kept busy meeting the demand from colleges and universities. This year his orders included Universities of California, Washington, Annapolis, Harvard, Wisconsin and Yale.

CUBS TRIM PITTSBURG AT PHOENIX

Citizens of Arizona Town Turn Out En Masse to See Bruins Win, 8 to 3

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 2.—This afternoon's game here between the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburg Pirates, which the former team won 8 to 3, produced holiday conditions in the city, for Arizona had several representatives on the teams. Coach Grover Land of the Pirates who umpired yesterday at Kingman, is a Phoenix man, while Herbert Mays, one of the pitching string of the same club, hails from the suburb of Glendale. Grantham, second-sacker of the Cubs is from Kingman, where he knocked a homer that helped much in the winning score of 17 to 3, and whence he departed with a two-carat ring, the gift of his townsmen. The umpire today was a Phoenix man, Jack Carroll, who is leaving to umpire for the Pacific Coast league.

Banks and business houses closed for the afternoon. The Kiwanis Club, adopting Pittsburg, paraded behind a pirate ship with black flags that were waved at the game and that were proven unlucky. Rotary rooted for the Cubs. The Junior Chamber of Commerce furnished all the transportation needed and the Arizona Chapter of the American Mining Congress gave copper souvenirs to the members of both teams. Entertainment and noise were added by the free admission of several thousand small boys, marshalled by the Boy Scouts along the fences.

City Manager Thompson pitched the first ball and President Willis of the Kiwanis Club muffed it. Every seat on the ground had been sold the previous day and standing room was crowded on the diamond space. The crowd was estimated at fully 8000, the largest ever known here at a ball game. The field was a new one and dust kicked up by occasional twisting winds made fielding at times almost impossible and accounted for the relatively high score. At all times the Cubs led, ending the game with eight runs and thirteen hits. The Pirates got only three runs out of ten hits.

Grantham led off with a homer over the right field fence and three others of the same sort were hit up to the fifth inning.

The clubs left by special train at 6 o'clock, Pittsburg going to Kansas City and the Chicago men to Amarillo, Tex.

VISALIA PIRATES WIN FIRST CONTEST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, April 2.—Visalia Pirates of the Tulare County Baseball League won their opening game with Tulare with a score of 7 to 4 before a crowd of only about 400 on the local diamond. The Tulare Merchants made all their tallies in the sixth. Berryhill leading off with a single. Good play led to their four scores. Schmeltzer, for the Pirates, was touched up for nine hits, but fanned seven, while Wright allowed but six hits and whiffed only one.

CATCH-AS-CATCH-CAN

BY FEG MURRAY

Who is baseball's greatest catcher? Ray Schalk, long acknowledged the best of all backstops, cannot go on catching 100 games a season forever, and he has never hit for as high as .290. Bill Killefer, formerly the best backstop in the National League, claims that Bob O'Farrell of the Cubs is the greatest catcher in the game today.

O'Farrell hits around .320 and has caught most of the games played by the Cubs in the last two years. Ray Schalk long ago exploded the theory that a catcher had to be built like the Rock of Gibraltar, but O'Farrell is more the ideal build for a backstop, standing 5 ft. 9 and weighing 170, which is 2 inches and 16 pounds more than Ray can boast of. In Philadelphia they'll tell you that if Butch Henline isn't the best catcher in the world why Ralph Perkins is. Both of these boys are as heavy or heavier than O'Farrell, Butch bats like Bob, Ralph like Ray.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—A match race arranged today by the Jockey Club will bring together some of the fastest horses at Tijuana Sunday. The race will be known as the Coffroth Consolidation, and a purse of $3000 will be awarded.

Entries to date include Cherry Tree, Osprey, Little Chief, Blanc Seing, Lady Astor and Firm Friend. There is little likelihood that Runstar, winner of the Coffroth Handicap last Sunday, or Exterminator will run.

Three outsiders fought it out in the second race today, Rosa Atkin beating Stone Bell, with Mythology third. Freebooter copped the handicap feature, winning over Cypreme with much to spare. In this race the favorite, Postillion, tired badly, finishing fourth. Summaries:

First race, four furlongs—Not Enough (Buttell,) won; Nellie A. (Smith,) second; Ormondbrook (Kennedy,) third. Time, :49 4-5.

Second race, five furlongs—Rosa Atkin (Baker,) won; Stone Bell (Wilson,) second; Mythology (Ray,) third. Time, 1:04 4-5.

Third race, mile and eighth—Senator Doolan (Jones,) won; Hugo K. Asher (Cooper,) second; Tough and Tight (Roberts,) third. Time, 2:05.

Fourth race, one mile—Mary Contrary (Creery,) won; Miss Anna (Isaz,) second; Krakatuna (Frer,) third. Time, 1:40 2-5.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs—Funiad (Ellis,) won; Bardolid (Abel,) second; Brimstone (Smith,) third. Time, 1:16.

Sixth race, mile and seventy yards—Freebooter (Smith,) won; Cypreme (Jones,) second; Conductor (Kennedy,) third. Time, 1:46 2-5.

Seven race, six furlongs—Wynnewood (Mathes,) won; Al Mallett, (Ben,) second; Punois (D. Jones,) third. Time, 1:14 3-5.

Eighth race, mile and a sixteenth—Dernier Rou (D. Jones,) won; Dutch (Ellis,) second; Capt. Clover (Neal,) third. Time, 1:50 4-5.

Ninth race, five and one-half furlongs—John Jr. (Baker,) won; Finis Glorious (Cooper,) second; Norford Honey (Minter,) third. Time, 1:09.

VAN SANT TO BUCK LUMBER FOR LIVING

Eugene Mugs Van Sant, former University of California football and track star, donned a pair of overalls and canvas gloves this morning, and promptly with the blast of the whistle at 7 o'clock started bucking lumber in the yards of the E. J. Stanton & Son Lumber Company. Mugs says the big business guns of Southern California somehow or other don't appreciate the true worth of a college man, and so has decided it's a case of showing 'em by working up from the ranks—hence the lumber-tossing job.

TWO BIG STARS WITH ILLINOIS

Brownell and Angier Among Best in Country

Eastern Team Favorites to Trim Golden Bears

Harry Gill's Squad to Stop Here for Workout

(Captain Illinois Track Team, 1913)

Nation-wide attention is now directed toward the coming track and field meet between Harry Gill's strong University of Illinois team and Walter Christie's aggregation, three times champion of the I.C.A.A. This encounter will be held on the Berkeley track on April 19 and will be the third intersectional contest between these two teams.

The first California-Illinois meet was held in 1915 in Berkeley and was won by California by a comfortable margin. Illinois had champions of the western conference in both 1913 and 1914, but the 1915 team which met California had been weakened by the graduation of a number of Gill's brightest stars.

The second meet in 1919, also at Berkeley, was a very much closer meet, as it was decided by the relay. For three laps Illinois held a comfortable lead and the meet seemed within their grasp until Hendricksen, anchor man for California, stepped out and ran a sensational quarter to nip Spink at the tape, winning the relay and the meet for California.

BEARS NOT SO STRONG

Since that meet California under the efficient coaching of Walter Christie has reached the highest pinnacle of American track supremacy, having won the great eastern intercollegiate feature for three years in succession. However, college athletic triumphs invariably proceed by waves and Christie's present team minus such outstanding stars as Brick Muller, Red Norris and Johnny Merchant can hardly be considered as strong as last year's aggregation.

On the other hand Illinois seems far stronger than in 1923. No outdoor practice has been possible at Champaign as yet, but the "Illini" are particularly fortunate in possession of a tremendous armory with a dirt floor, allowing a 100-yard indoor straightaway and other facilities so similar to outdoor conditions that they can practice without the hardships imposed on other eastern institutions.

The impressive victory of Illinois in the recent indoor conference championship held at the Patten gymnasium at Northwestern University indicates one of Harry Gill's usual well-balanced teams. The outstanding performance at this meet was Brownell's pole vaulting. He broke the world's indoor record by vaulting 15 ft. 5-8 in. Brownell also holds the American collegiate outdoor record of 13 ft. 2 in. and Milton Angier, another member of the team, holds the American javelin record of 203 ft. 9 in.

WILL STOP HERE

Opportunity will be given to Los Angeles aulmni of the University of Illinois to watch the team in practice on April 15 when they stop off between trains on the way from Champaign to Berkeley. The University of Southern California has placed their facilities at the disposal of Harry Gill on this afternoon.

It is probable that the meet between the Illinois and California teams will draw a tremendous crowd, not only because of its intersectional interest but because it will bring together probably the two strongest track teams in America today. It is of particular interest this year because of the fact that several members of both teams will undoubtedly make the American Olympic team.

DELANO LOSES TO PORTERVILLE LADS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, April 2.—The Porterville club of the Tulare County League took Delano into camp with a score of 14 to 4 in the opening game of the season in a one-sided contest. Porterville nicked Stewart of Delano for several runs early in the game, but he showed he had lots of stuff by sending fourteen of the local club back to the bench via the strike-out route. Sanger occupied the mound for the locals and heaved nice ball, striking out nine and allowing eight hits.

The Delano High School team met defeat at the hands of the Porterville High School team here in the first of a series for the title of the southern section of Tulare county with a score of 4 to 3.

Tulare High School team defeated Strathmore, 5 to 3, in the first league game of the season, playing here, as the Strathmore diamond was too wet. In a tri-city practice track meet, Porterville finished first with a point total of 159½. Lindsay was second with 49½ and Delano third with 42. This meet was preparatory to the county meet in Tulare on the 12th inst.

The balance of the card includes the following newcomers: Billy Kissel, 68 pounds, and Herbert Terchi, 100 pounds; Ralph Velke, 118 pounds, and many of the old-time favorites.

ENGLISH BOXER IN MAIN GO

Billy "Bermondsey" Wells in Initial Local Start at Hollywood Stadium

Billy "Bermondsey" Wells, claimant to the welterweight championship of England, will start for the first time in Southern California Friday night, in the feature event of this week's Hollywood American Legion bill. Wells is said to be one of the cleverest boxers of his weight in the ring today, and fans familiar with his ability say that Ray Long, the opponent selected for him by Matchmaker Tom Kennedy, will have more than a hard time finding the visiting boxer.

Long, however, is a fair boxer, and a dangerous hitter, and should he find himself able to carry home a couple of his telling rights, the dope may be upset. If he does take the verdict it may be by the knock-out route. He has a punching chance.

Tomorrow night is Coffroth night at the Movie City stadium, and the president of the Tijuana race track will be the guest of honor. The famous sportsman has a host of friends in Southern California, and many of them will no doubt be on hand to pay their respects to "Sunny Jim" when Announcer Dan Tobey does the introducing act.

Georgie Rivers and Frankie Grandetta, flyweights, are programmed for the semifinals, and should furnish a battle full of action from start to finish. Young Papke and Joe Layman will box the special event.

Jack Spencer and Young Farrell get together at 118 pounds; Frankie Osner and Kil Louie meet at 118 pounds; Young Terry mixes with Billy Afoe at 142 pounds, and Kid Dallas will open the show against Troylas.

SPRINGER TO TACKLE VILLA IN MAIN BOUT

Art Springer, long-haired sheik, will meet Pedro Villa, the tough little Mexican battler, in the Pasadena main event tonight. Villa and Springer are game little fellows and a fast bout is expected. Tommy Richards, hero of last week's main event, will clash with Young Sam Langford in the semifinal. Lost week Tommy laced Louie Garcia. Langford is a colored battler.

King David, the bearded newsboy, will meet Young Kain in the special event. David is trying for a return bout with Jockey Levy. Four other bouts are as follows: Buddy Forrester vs. Sailor Evasco, 125 pounds; Kid Craig vs. Young Loncho, 124 pounds; Battling Burgess vs. Young Frankie Genaro, 118 pounds, and Eddie Conway vs. Socker Dean. Rex Dunman will referee.

PREPS IN THREE MEETS

Hollywood and Lincoln in Feature; Manual Arts Faces L. A. High and Poly Meets Franklin

Six local prep track squads will make their final appearances until the city meet tomorrow when they will take part in a trio of dual meets. Hollywood faces Lincoln on the Railsplitters' oval in the feature meet of the day, Manual Arts hooks up with L. A. High in the Coliseum and Polytechnic meets Franklin.

The annual city meet takes place in the Coliseum a week from Saturday and upon tomorrow's performances local track fans will base their dope in figuring out the winner of the city affair.

Coach Bill Page's Hollywooders are favored to defeat the Lincoln outfit, but not without a tough struggle. The Foothillers boast of a better-balanced squad than the Railsplitters and also have more stars in their ranks. However, the Lincoln track should confuse the Hollywood athletes and the Lincoln runners will have this advantage.

The feature events of the day are expected to take place when Vic Klein and Izzy Yudlevitz hook up in the sprints and Chase meets Yoshida in the mile.

Manual Arts is conceded a big edge over L. A. High and Coach Sid Foster's proteges are doped to win without much of a fight. Cain of the Pioneers is expected to give Requa of Manual a pair of hard races in the hurdles, but it is not probable that the Pioneers will win either event. Advance dope gives the Toilers firsts in ten of the thirteen events, with a good chance to win the pole vault.

Ordinarily Polytechnic would be a heavy favorite to defeat Franklin, but as Coach Eddie Leahy does not intend using all his best bets, the Kiteflyers have a fairly good chance of upsetting the Mechanics. The distance runs are expected to provide the best races of the day. McKinnon and Derx of Poly meet McCrea of Franklin in the half, while Waite of the Mechanics will tackle Newell of the Kiteflyers in the mile.

DE PALMA SPURNS OFFER

Italian Dare-Devil Will Stick by Old Mount in Race with Haugdahl at Ascot Sunday

Offering to foot the bill for a new 126-cubic inch Miller motor to be placed in the frame of his present 122-inch car, a number of Italian sportsmen headed by Amerigo Bozzani are imploring Ralph De Palma to reconsider his announced decision to stick to the car with which he covered a lap in 30 seconds at Ascot speedway last Sunday, when he hooks up with Sig Haugdahl in "the speed battle of the century" at George Bentel's oval next Sunday afternoon.

Since the announcement that Tommy Milton had covered a mile at a speed of 144 miles an hour over the Dry Lake course with a sister car to the mount which Sig Haugdahl will tool in the match race Sunday, friends of De Palma have been most fearful of his welfare when he lines up before Starter Paul Derkum in the first of the three heats which will determine the superior combination of driver and car.

In desperation, Haugdahl turned to Harry Miller, motor-building genius, for a car which he believed would trim the sails of the noted Italian. "Hug" told Miller to name his own figure for the car, but stipulated that it must be of equal speed of the car which Miller built for Milton's use on dirt tracks and for the Dry Lake test. The marvelous bursts of speed displayed by the Norwegian in practice at Ascot yesterday showed that Miller's end of the contract has been fulfilled. Harry himself is most enthusiastic over the manner in which his newest speed marvel is behaving.

De Palma, unperturbed over the reports of Haugdahl's performances emanating from Ascot railbirds, has refused the proffer of his Italian countrymen and is trying to convince his Latin friends that his present car is fast enough to dispose of Haugdahl. "I would not trade that little Miller of mine for all the Dry Lake or Florida beach cars in the world when it comes to picking a machine to surpass all others at Ascot," said De Palma.

Far Western Cagemen Get Back at East

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 2.—Almost every section of the country remained in play today with the close of the afternoon games in the national intercholastic basketball championship tournament at the University of Chicago after each of the forty teams entered had taken the floor.

Of the twenty surviving, three hail from the East, six from the Far West, two from the South and nine from the Central West. Two eastern teams were eliminated as were six far western, five southern and six midwestern.

Far western teams fared badly the first day of play when only one survived, but five came through today, taking revenge in decisive scoring.

The hardest fought conflict today was that between Dallas, Tex., and Homestead, Pa., which Dallas won, 35 to 30, after two overtime periods.

Panguitch, Utah, had hard work defeating Tampa, Fla., 19 to 17.

Florence, Miss., defeated Witchita, Kan., 27 to 21, in the first contest tonight. The game was an upset as Wichita had been generally picked to win.

East High, Columbus, O., eliminated Battle Creek, Mich., 31 to 19, in a game which the Ohioans dominated from the outset. Hoffman, Columbus left forward, was high point maker with four baskets and two free throws.

El Reno, Oklahoma champions, defeated Maitland, Mo., 10 to 19, after the Missourans had led the greater part of the game.

Results of four consolation games in which teams that lost in the first round are participating, follow:

Medford (Or.) 32; Boise (Idaho.) 22. Simpson (Birmingham.) 27; Manual (Albuquerque.) 14.
Spokane, 15; Lane Tech (Chicago.) 4.
Superior (Wis.) 22; Charlottesville (Va.) 19.

BARTLETT WINS GO FROM JOE RICKEY

Jimmy Bartlett won the call over Joe Rickey in the main event at the Venice American Legion arena last night. Lefty Cooper defeated Lucky Lugo in the semiwind-up via the decision route.

Al Thomas knocked Jack Hillen kicking in the third round of the special event. Other results follow:

AMERICAN LEGION TO HOLD BOXING TOURNEY

Garrett McHugh, commander of the Van Nuys American Legion Post and chairman of the Legion boxing committee of the county announces a boxing tournament, in which all members of Southern California posts will be invited to take part. However, no professional fighters will be allowed to take part in the leather flinging tourney. The finals, McHugh said, will probably be held in the Hollywood Legion stadium.

BARRY'S CLASSY HATS TO TACKLE LA HABRA

Barry's Classy Hats, who blanked the fast Downey club last week, will tackle La Habra Sunday on the latter team's grounds in what is expected to result in one of the best games of the day. La Habra boasts of a fast aggregation, having defeated the Hollywood Merchants in a game last Sunday, and should give the Hatters an interesting time. "Moose" Trautwein will pitch for the Hatters.

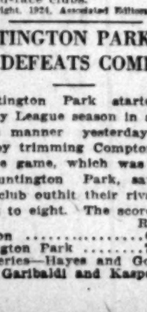
BACKSPIN MASHIE
A GOOD CLUB FOR AVERAGE PLAYERS.



RIBBED FACE STOPS BALL AND GIVES PLAYERS CONFIDENCE. THEY GO "AFTER THE BALL" MORE BOLDLY.

Is it a good idea for an average player to use a backspin mashie?

BOB CRUICKSHANK

Runnerup in national open championship, 1923, and the man who, in 1921, defeated Hutchison, Sarazen, and Barnes in an invitation tournament at St. Joseph, Mo. Runnerup in Pittsburg tournament for professional golfers, 1922, being defeated only by Sarazen.

I think it is a very good idea. In the first place, the ribbed face will certainly assist in stopping the ball. Secondly, it has a good mental effect on many players. They go out "after the ball" a little more boldly than with a plain-faced club. The more confidence a man has in his club, the more certain he is to use it better. On the other hand, if he is afraid or uncertain of a club his thoughts are always conflicting and results will not be good.

This club is now ruled out of formal tournament play, but this should not worry the average golfer who can get a lot of fun out of using the heavily ribbed and punched-face clubs.

INTER-LEAGUE TILTS DECRIED

McGraw Says They Are Not Good for Pastime

Believes Defeats Dampen Many Fans' Spirits

Thinks Well of White Sox Chances This Year

BY JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager New York Giants
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GARASOTA (Fla.) April 2.—In answer to several letters from baseball men and fans, frankly, I do not believe the interleague exhibition games—that is, games between clubs in the same league before the opening of the regular season—a good thing for baseball. The games between teams in rival leagues, though, are excellent for training the players and, particularly, for instilling in them the spirit of combat.

I agreed to the scheduling of games between the Giants and other clubs in the National League for the first time this spring because I was willing to be shown its advantage. The more I see of it, however, the further I am from being convinced.

GIANTS BEAT 'EM

For instance, the Brooklyn club was beaten 10 to 2 by the Cardinals in an exhibition game at Bradentown. Right after that the Cardinals came over to Sarasota and were beaten by the Giants. That gives the fans of Brooklyn the wrong impression that the club is weaker than usual. They read the stories of these games and are impressed by them, even though the pitchers may have been recruits, and experiments were being made with other young players in the infield or the outfield. A ball club may be stronger than ever and still lose exhibition games. If they do, though, the fans are disappointed and it takes the edge off their interest in the start of the championship season. This is just as true of the interleague games in the American League. It offers opportunity for a comparison that has no basis in fact. It also takes the edge off the spring openings of the regular championship campaign.

TIES BUT ONE

To give you an idea, the Pittsburg club in 1901, Fred Clarke was telling me yesterday, played ten exhibition games and only succeeded in tying one. The fans at home were downcast and skeptical. Just the same the Pittsburg club won the pennant that year by August 1, making a run-away of it.

This spring I have been particularly interested in watching the work of the American League clubs that have come in our territory. Of these the White Sox appear to be much improved over last year. If Frank Chance succeeds in getting a good shortstop his club ought to have a chance. As I write this, Chance on account of illness has not yet joined his club. This is a way is a handicap to both himself and the club. The combination of Chance and Evers is a wonderful one for any ball club. Evers has been handling the situation wonderfully well but he is naturally governed by the feeling that he is carrying out the ideas of Chance and not necessarily his own.

TRY OUT INMAN

The White Sox have been trying out a young man named Inman. I don't want to discourage a youngster but I think Inman needs much more experience before he can fill the infield gap for the Sox. No team can win a championship without an experienced shortstop. Inman has many good qualities but he lacks a thorough knowledge of the position. I am afraid he will need another year in the minor leagues.

Urban Faber looks mighty good for a big pitching season. The Sox also have real prospects in Connally and Steengrafe. Both of these young pitchers have worked well against us. Eddie Collins goes right on as grand a ball-player as ever. He didn't play in the first game against us but practically beat us out of the second single-handed.

GIVES IT SNAP

The Washington club is making some experiments under Stanley Harris, the new young manager, that ought to work well. Already Harris has given the club a real fighting and family spirit. That is a big thing. Washington is badly in need of a good outfielder. They are trying out Richbourg, a young fellow I had two or three years ago. I don't know yet how much he has improved. If he can fill the bill the Senators will be strong. Harris is also experimenting with Prothro at third base. This, however, is purely an experiment. Newcomers do not often make good right off at third. That is a difficult job. Washington's chances, I think, depend largely upon those two men making the grade. Their pitching is good enough.

WELCOME SISLER

The return of George Sisler to the Browns is a wonderful thing for all baseball even if he should not play as well as before his illness. Characters like George Sisler are what make baseball a real national sport. His mere presence in uniform will add to the Browns' chances 20 per cent. His play at first base shows no effects of the long illness but his eye trouble is noticeable at bat. He stands with his face squarely to the pitcher as if sizing up the ball with his left eye only. At that, he seems to hit the ball with the same old sharp swing.

A thing that has opened my eyes during this spring in Florida is the big interest in the minor league clubs. The Milwaukee and Indianapolis clubs have been training near us and the Folrida fans are just as proud of them as of the big leaguers. There is no reason why minor league clubs should not go South for training just as the majors do. It will pay in the long run. I think it adds a dignity and importance to them that helps all baseball.

World-Famous Speed King Will Go After Records Tomorrow Morning at Dry Lake

Tommy Milton, world-renowned speed king, will not drive to establish new world's records for 183 and 122-cubic-inch racing cars until tomorrow morning on the dry lake at Muroc. Milton originally intended to go after the marks today but decided to postpone matters twenty-four hours and in the meantime tune up his Miller specials to the highest point possible. This was the announcement which came from Tom's headquarters at Muroc late yesterday afternoon.

However, driving over the measured mile course and electrically timed, the famed driver and holder of the world's mile straightaway record, according to the contest board of the American Automobile Association, was able to hurtle through space at a speed in excess of 140 miles an hour with his 183-inch Miller special. In doing this Milton bucked a wind estimated at from forty to fifty miles an hour.

STRONG WIND

So strong was this wind that it lifted his car off the ground, carrying it as far as eight feet from the course. It was declared that he lost considerable speed in fighting the wind to keep his Miller where he wanted it. When Tommy goes out to establish new records he will be officially timed by representatives of the A.A.A. contest board, which organization has sanctioned his tries.

Just what Milton will be able to do with no wind against him is a matter of conjecture, and race drivers as well as followers of the sport now at Muroc believe Tommy will drive in the vicinity of 145 miles an hour, or even better. However, if he should go only 130 miles an hour it will be a world's record, due to the fact that no other pilot has even taken a 183-inch job out over a mile straightaway course.

POINTS 'EM OUT

Tommy yesterday pointed out these speed attempts in the 183-inch racer should not be confused with his 146.4 miles an hour world record made in 1920 at Daytona Beach, Fla., in his 600-cubic-inch, 16-cylinder Duesenberg. "That record was for the world's speed mark, and still stands," asserted Milton. "With the 183 and 122-inch cars I will merely be setting class records. I am confident now, however, that I will be able to do in the vicinity of 140 miles an hour or better."

Much interest is being taken in the 122-inch car and speculation is rife as to what it will be able to do.

ans are well fortified with Jim Bagby, Vean Gregg, Percy Jones, Suds Sutherland, Wheezer Dell and Steuland. Bagby, a veteran, helped Stan Coveleskie pitch the Cleveland Club to the American League pennant in 1920. Sutherland was with Portland last year, while Dell is well known here also. Steuland comes from the Chicago Cubs. If his pitchers hold up Killefer may more than make good on his forecast for the season. Earl Baldwin, formerly with the Angels, Tobin and Gilpin are slated to handle the catching.

Portland finished in third place last year. For youth and pepper the Ducks will be hard to beat, and most of the young players are good ones at that. At this time Kenworthy is considerably worried over the failure of Jim Poole, star first sacker, to come to terms. The Portland club without Poole wouldn't look so good, as this would necessitate moving Frank Brazil over from third and filling that hole with George Distel. Kenworthy wants Poole and wants him bad. Emmett McCann, regular second baseman, signed up two days ago and removed a big load from Kenworthy's mind. McCann's home is in Philadelphia and he says he'll report in perfect shape. Benton is slated for short, with Brazil getting the call at third provided Poole comes through with his much-valued signature.

SHY GOOD HEAVERS

The Portland pitching staff seems a bit weak. Harry Gardner, acquired from Seattle in exchange for Sutherland, is not the spring chicken he once was but will undoubtedly win a lot of games for the Ducks. Walter Leverenz and Lefty Schroeder are good bets, while Charles Eckert, Ted Pilletta and Hugh Bedient complete the list of regulars. The latter comes from Toledo. The absence of Jimmy Middleton, Rube Yarrison and Sutherland means the loss of a good many games.

Charlie High, Dick Cox and Ike Wolfer are a sweet outfield trio, while Gressett, Miller and Jones will also be available for garden duty. The regular fly-chasers are all hard hitters, while Gressett will be seen in action a lot because of his ability to swat the onion.

Tom Daly will do most of the catching, with Micky Cochrane, an easterner, and Wray Query, with Souix City last season, acting as relief backstops.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 2.—Acquisition of a new first baseman by the Portland club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League to take the place of Jimmy Poole, who has not signed for this season, was announced today by W. H. Klepper president of the club.

The new first-sacker, named Neun, comes from the Southern League and was obtained from Detroit through the agency of Walter McCredie. Neun is now with the Detroit team at Birmingham, Ala. His batting record last year was .320 and he stole 55 bases, according to Klepper.

OBSERVATIONS BY BYSTANDER

First of all, it demonstrated that little Bill Johnston is far from "through" as a tennis player, and that he is more determined than ever to show 'em that such is the case. Bill played much better tennis than he did a year ago, and announced during the tournament that he proposed to go East early this year and play a lot of tennis in the various tournaments.

Secondly, the tournament brought out the fact that fans are very much up in the air over the threatened disbarment of Bill Tilden from tennis because of his writing. A lot of people admit that Bill doubtless makes a living as a writer largely because he is a tennis champion, but they also admit that his stuff is good enough to get by, anyhow, and that he ought to be excepted from the application of the rule. Anyhow, if Tilden is barred from amateur tennis, watch the professional game take a jump.

MRS. WENTWORTH WINS GOLF HONORS

Mrs. Ike Wentworth romped off with first honors in the Sassy Jane golf tournament at Griffith Park yesterday by turning in a card of 105-14-91 for the thirty-six-hole municipal course.

Mrs. P. F. Noon was second with 99-4-95, while Mrs. Roy Green's card of 117-10-107 won third honors of the day.

HUME AND CHAPMAN WIN AT WILSHIRE

In a foursome played at the Wilshire Country Club yesterday afternoon "Doc" Hume and Joe Chapman trimmed Joe Hagerman and Ralph Reynolds, 2 up. Hume had a 75, Chapman a 74, while Hagerman and Reynolds turned in cards of 79 and 78, respectively.

Mr. Average Man

Here's a shaving cream made to meet your ideas. Better in five big ways.

By V. E. CASSADY, Chief Chemist

Gentlemen:

This is a free test. It involves no cost. We ask it as a courtesy to us, and in justice to yourselves.

Millions of men have made it. The result has been five new ideas of what Shaving Cream can do.

The result has been dramatic. A great percentage of men have, in three years, changed their shaving methods.

And so will you. No one can know these five new delights without wanting them—and always.

How the change came about

We experts have developed some great advances in soap making. Some of the greatest soaps for every purpose have been perfected here. One of them—Palmolive Soap—is the leading toilet soap of the world.

The line we long neglected was a Shaving Cream.

Some years ago we decided to attain supremacy in that. First we consulted 1,000 average men as to what they most desired. They voted on five things, almost unanimously. And we set out to meet their requirements.

That took us 18 months. We made up and tested 130 separate formulas before we met, in the utmost way, these five great requirements.

Now we ask your verdict

Now we simply ask your verdict. Don't buy a package, but accept a sample. Do what countless men have done.

If the Shaving Cream you use does these things, go on with it. It's a wonderful shaving cream. If it does not, then let us show you that these things can be done.

We want to please you—that is all—better than others have done. We have no room in this line if we do not.

But we who have worked to do that, as we have worked, deserve a hearing from you. That is all we ask. Clip the coupon now, so you won't forget to ask for this free test.

Excels in these 5 ways

Palmolive Shaving Cream excels in these five important ways:

1—Abundant lather. It multiplies itself in lather 250 times, so a tiny bit suffices for a shave.

2—Quick action. It acts in one minute. Within that time the beard absorbs 15% of water.

3—Lasting lather. It maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face. No replacing.

4—A clean shave. The extra-strong bubbles, acting like wedges, hold the hairs erect for cutting. They don't lie down.

5—Fine after-effects. The palm and olive oil blend makes a lotion unnecessary. The skin is left in fine condition.

To add the final touch to shaving luxury, we have created Palmolive After Shaving Talc—especially for men. Doesn't show. Leaves the skin smooth and fresh, and gives that well-groomed look. Try the sample we are sending free with the tube of Shaving Cream.

There are new delights here for every man who shaves. Please let us prove them to you. Clip coupon now.

WATER POWER PERMITS ASKED

Three Companies in State Seek Licenses

Tunnel, Right of Way, More Storage Planned

Escondido Concern Granted Diversion Project

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—New applications for permit or license under the Federal Water Power Act are as follows:

The Nevada-California Power Company has applied for a license to construct a tunnel about one-half mile long to divert the north fork of Rush Creek into its Gem Lake reservoir in Mono county, Cal. From this reservoir the water will pass through the company's Rush Creek plant where approximately 3500 horsepower will be produced in addition to that already developed.

IRRIGATION PLAN

The Thermalito Irrigation District has applied for a license for a power project which contemplates the construction of additional storage on Concow Creek in Butte county, Cal., and the extension of the Spring Valley Ditch so as to permit the water to be stored in Concow Creek to be delivered to the Cole Canyon power-house plant of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, with which company the district has contracted for the sale of water for the development of power, this water later to be used by the district for irrigation.

The San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company has applied for a right of way for a short section of transmission line crossing the Rincon Indian Reservation in San Diego county, Cal.

PERMIT GRANTED

Permits have been granted as follows:

To the Escondido Mutual Water Power Company of Escondido, Cal., a license for fifty years for a power project partly within the La Jolla, Rincon and San Pasqual Indian reservations, diverting water from the San Luis Rey River. The project works will consist of a constructed dam, a reserve known as the Bear Valley Dam, a hydraulic fill dam now under construction, a constructed conduit (now being enlarged) and two power plants, one at Rincon and one at Bear Valley, with a combined installed capacity of about 675 horsepower. The general use of the power will be for farming purposes.

BAR PUT UP ON VISITORS TO MOSCOW

Government Invitation is Required; Little Work in Soviet Capital

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIGA, April 2.—A special decree has been issued by the Moscow soviet and published throughout Russia which forbids Russians to visit Moscow unless especially invited by the government. The decree orders all provincial governments to circulate the fact that it is useless for anybody to seek work or living quarters in Moscow.

Because of the increasingly large number of people visiting the Bolshevik capital seeking work, the Moscow Work Exchange has received orders not to accept further applications from out of town unemployed.

The Moscow pravada reports that fifty American farmers have arrived with agricultural machinery to settle in Yekaterinoslav Province. A soviet writer humorously comments that Russia has continued to put things over on America even on immigration. He states that those people emigrating from Russia are a parasitic and nonproductive element, of which Russia is glad to be rid, whereas American farmers who are emigrating to Russia are highly valuable citizens which the United States can ill afford to lose and which Russia is glad to obtain.

NORTHCLIFFE WILL IN COURT FOR DECISION

FIFTY LAWYERS ENGAGED IN CASE TO CLEAR POINTS FOR SETTLEMENT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, April 2.—The Northcliffe will case, in which fifty lawyers are engaged, was opened today before Justice Russell in the Chancery Division for the settlement and construing of certain clauses in the will of the newspaper publisher. The case was instituted for the reason that difficulties had arisen as to whether the directors and employees were entitled to the legacies left them and also as to the fund to which they were to look for payment.

Counsel for the plaintiff, Henry P. Arnholz, the chief executor and trustee, after referring to the will as unusual in form, said it might be a matter of opinion whether the estate was as large as the testator thought. The justice ruled against the claims of the directors of the Amalgamated Press and Associated Newspapers to the legacy left them.

PUBLIC DOMAIN OPEN TO ENTRY

Homesteads Offered in Five Western States

California Has 24,000 of 92,500-Acre Total

Dates for Choice of Tracts to be Announced

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Approximately 92,500 acres of the public domain in the States of Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada and Wyoming were ordered thrown open to homestead entry at the Department of the Interior today.

The lands have recently been surveyed by public surveyors and the official plats are to be transmitted to the local land offices in the various States and registers will later open the land to entry fixing the dates of filings. Ex-service men will be given a ninety-one days' preference in accordance with the law after which the unentered tracts will be offered to the general public. A summary of the tracts with description by States follows:

LANDS DESCRIBED

Arizona: Approximately 28,000 acres in Maricopa county near the towns of Beardsley and Enid and in Pinal county near the town of Florence. The lands are described as mountainous, rolling and level. The soil over the level and rolling lands is a sandy, gravelly loam, second and third rate, while the mountainous land is rocky and fourth rate. There is a scattered growth of timber and a fair growth of grass over the entire area. Filing on these tracts in Arizona must be made at the local land office at Phoenix where the exact date for their opening will be announced later.

California: Approximately 24,000 acres in San Bernardino county near the towns of Bagdad and Amboy. The lands are mountainous excepting a comparatively gentle slope in one direction. The soil on the level portions is alluvial sand with boulders while the mountainous are mostly granite and rock. The vegetation consists of greasewood, shad scale, cactus and other arid land growths. Opening of the area will be under the jurisdiction of the local land office at Los Angeles where the exact date when entries may be filed will be announced later.

WELL WATERED

Idaho: Approximately 21,580 acres in Idaho county, near the town of Pollock. The lands are mountainous and covered with a fine growth of timber. The township is well watered and the undergrowth affords grazing for sheep. he soil is a clay loam, first, second and third grades. The local land office at Boise, where all filings must be made, will announce the exact date of opening.

Nevada: Approximately 6000 acres in Esmeraldo county, near the town of Hawthorn. The area is described as mountainous and rolling, with some scattering timber and undergrowth of sagebrush, aspen and willow. The date of opening on these tracts will be announced later by the local land office at Carson City, where all filings must be made.

Wyoming: Approximately 3000 acres, in Carbon county, near the city of Encampment. This area was recently restored to the public domain from a power site withdrawn. The date for its opening to homestead and desert land entry has been set for April 26, 1924, and all filings must be made at the local land office at Cheyenne. The 3000 acres are located near the Encampment River and in close proximity to the Union Pacific Railroad.

FRENCH AND BELGIAN FRANCS MAKE GAINS

AFTER GOING TO NEW HIGHS FOR YEAR, REACT ON PROFIT-TAKING

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—After reaching new highs for the year, French and Belgian francs late today reacted on profit-taking and the failure of definite information regarding a loan to Belgium to develop.

Selling at 6.05 cents, French francs touched a record 1924 high level, 30 points above the previous closing figure. With large-scale speculative activities again influencing the market, the current failed to hold its strength and yielded about half of its early gain. There were indications also that French interests, alarmed by the rapid rise of the franc, above 6 cents, contributed to the decline by selling exchange.

International bankers reported no new developments in negotiations for establishment of a Belgian credit, but intimated that European financial interests had offered to supply limited funds to stabilize the currency. After running up as high as 5.19½ cents, the Belgian franc settled back to around 5 cents, 7 points below yesterday's close. Spanish peseta dropped about ¼ to 12 cents, and Swiss and Scandinavian exchanges also weakened.

NEARLY ONE THOUSAND TEACHERS ON PENSION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—The annual report of the teachers' retirement fund board of the State Board of Education shows that on June 30, 1923, 867 pensioned California teachers were receiving annuities under the Retirement Salary Act. During the ten years beginning in 1913, the receipts under the act were $4,058,223 and the expenditures $3,972,415, leaving a balance on hand at the beginning of the last fiscal year of $85,808.

MANY HOBOES ARE EJECTED BY ESPEE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A total of 120,119 trespassers and "hoboes" were removed from the premises and trains of the Southern Pacific Company durng 1923, according to the annual report filed today by Dan O'Connell, chief special agent of the company.

TRAM CARS STALLED IN SNOW BANK

Passengers on Gotham Line Bitten by Frost in Two-Hour Tie-up

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 2.—More than 200 men and women were held prisoners for about two hours today in chilly trolley cars of the New York and Queens railway, which had stalled in wind-piled snow drifts, midway between Flushing and Jamaica, Long Island.

In the wake of the All Fools Day storm the wind blew in from the sea over the Long Island flats, piling snow along the trolley tracks. One car lost the rails and soon cars which followed found themselves snow-bound.

A combination snowplow and repair car first cleared the way and then rerailed the trolley, but not until the passengers, nipped by the biting cold—the temperature was around 25—had been slowly transferred to a shuttle and sent on to Flushing.

LABOR OFFICER URGES PEACE IN INDUSTRIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, April 2.—Until international justice has been achieved, "it is idle for us in the United States to think of adopting a policy of pacifism," said Ma George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union of North America, in an address last night before members of his organization. "We can, however, have national peace," he added. "But before we get it we must obtain peace in industry, on which the Nation depends for its life. We must co-operate, quit fighting one another, and realize that there is a real mutuality in interest."

ENGLAND NOT TO CUT DOWN CRUISER PLANS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, April 2.—England will not cut down her cruiser program, already announced, although Australia proposes to lay down two new cruisers, Charles G. Ammon, parliamentary secretary for the admiralty, told a questioner in the Commons today.

He added that any decision of the Commonwealth government to build new cruisers will be taken into account by the Cabinet committee set up to consider the Cabinet's policy on Navy requirements within the next ten years with regard to the replacements of units other than capital ships.

FORMER GOV..NOR DIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, April 2.—Leon J Taylor, former Speaker of the House of New Jersey, who became Governor when Woodrow Wilson resigned that position to become President of the United States, died today.

The CHURCH and the CEMETERY

THE first cemetery was the Roman catacombs under the ancient church of St. Sebastian. It was called cemetery because it was a place of sleep.

The earliest Christians buried their dead under their houses of worship. It was safer. And safety outweighed every other consideration.

Then came a time when the fear of ghouls and plunderers was passed.

The consecrated yards of churches became the cemeteries of the dead.

For centuries the church buried its dead in the shade of its walls. Such was its sweet solicitude. It suggested God's care for the dead.

Then came two mighty forces to crush this sentiment.

The onrush of cities. The living said the land was too valuable to be occupied by the dead.

The laws of public health.

The churchyard was abandoned. And cemeteries became extra-mural—apart from the walls of the church.

But these two mighty modern forces were irresistable.

The cities swept on. The cemeteries were engulfed by the pressing tides of industry, of business, the flood of population.

And new and stricter health laws were passed.

Turn to "Cemetery" in the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Read what happened to the churchyards and city cemeteries in London, in Paris, in all the earth's centers of population.

And why it happened.

The story does not rest well on the stomach.

The time is bound to come, must come when the cemetery history of other cities will be repeated in Los Angeles.

AND here in this glorious Southland a group of far-seeing men not only have anticipated this eventuality, but inspired by a beautiful sentiment they have devised a plan under which each church may again have its own churchyard.

This group of men are the Founders of Graceland.

Last week they announced their plan to make it possible for the different churches of Los Angeles to secure entire sections in this Cemetery Beautiful in which they may find rest in the ground for their loved dead where there is peace everlasting.

The response from the churches was immediate.

A number of beautiful acres of Graceland's rolling hills have already been reserved.

Reservations of other available sections may now be made.

Each church with its own "God's Acre," a consecrated churchyard removed from the city's turmoil, safe from all danger of encroachment, marked by a corner stone fittingly inscribed and dedicated, a "God's Acre" bordered by groves of olive trees and shining orchards, vistas of purpling peaks and the distant sea, cared for perpetually at the expense of Graceland, not the church.

It is a revival of one of the most cherished sentiments of mankind adjusted to modern conditions—the sentiment that gave immortality to Gray's beautiful Elegy.

In Graceland, cemetery returns to its first meaning—a place of sleep—a safe place for your beloved dead, safer than the subterranean tombs under Rome's ancient St. Sebastian.

Well, you could of knocked me down with a wagon tongue! Going to work for Rags Dempster's old man and Rags himself is now working in the same office, learning the business. Honest, for a minute I'm fit to be tied!

Judy busts up the painful pause. "What's the matter, Gale, are you ill?" she says. But she well knows what's the matter!

"No," I says, "I'm sick. Why, Judy, you can't go to work for Rags Dempster's father!"

Up goes Judy's maddening eyebrows and you should of felt the chill in the air. "Oh!" she says. "I can't? Why not?"

"Because—because I—Judy, you know Rags is overboard over you, and him getting you that job is just a scheme of his to—to keep you near him!" I bust out. "As the matter and fact, I must give that dizzy stiff credit for a nifty play, but I ain't going to let him get away with it! Why, he'll pester you to death, Judy and——"

"What on earth are you talking about?" butts in Judy, in well-feined and a bit angry surprise. "Rags had nothing to do with my getting a position in his father's office. I applied there and was engaged by Mr. Young, the head clerk. As for Rags pestering me, well, Gale, I feel quite capable of taking care of myself under any and all circumstances. What right have you to question my actions?"

"In other words, what you do is none of my business, hey?" I says.

"You're not my brother, Gale," says Judy—and the thermometer slides down past zero.

"I don't doubt that," I says. "But I thought I was your boy friend. I guess women is all alike!"

"Indeed!" says Judy, a bonfire in each eye. "You seem to know a lot about women, Mister Gale." Mister!

"I'm off women for life, Miss Willcox," I says in a dignified way. "I am convinced that the fellow which understands women can also understand what a couple of flies says to each other when they meet on a windowpane! You know Rags Dempster hates the ground I walk on, and yet you go to work with him in his father's office—like that was the only job in the United States of America. It looks like you are giving me a pushing around, Miss Willcox. O.K.—don't be surprised if you read in tonight's paper where I left for—for Gehenna, or some distant country like that. You made me what I am today; I hope you're satisfied!"

With these few remarks, I turn on my rubber heel and march haughtily down the stairs into the great outdoors. I can be as hard as a rock when I want to. Beautiful women has no effect at all on a fellow of my type, and I made up my mind I would apologize to Judy and get squared up with her at supper that night no matter what concessions I have to make, up to and including my right eye!

I ain't taken three steps up the street when low and behold who do I run into but Rags Dempster. I start to pass him by, but he furnishes me with the surprise of my life by stopping me and holding out his hand with a smile.

"Let's—eh—bury the hatchet, Galen," he says, in that smooth, oily voice of his. "It seems rather silly for us to keep up this childish feud, now, doesn't it?"

I am busy thinking, will wonders never cease? I know there's a catch in it somewheres, but still and all I shake his damp, flabby hand because I'm always ready to meet anybody halfways. I let go Rags's hand and he takes out a gold cigarette case, tapping a cigarette on it, while his smile grows into a wide satisfied grin. "Besides," he says, with a odd glance at me—"besides, the—eh—matter we fell out about is pretty well settled now."

I can feel the hair rising on the back of my neck! "What matter, Rags?" I says, looking him right in the eye—no small feat, as Rags's eyes is of a wandering variety.

"The matter of Judy—Miss Willcox," he says, lighting his cigarette and trying to carry the thing off as a mere nothing. "She's going to work in our office, you know, in my department, and—well, Miss Willcox and myself have known each other a long time, Gale, and I don't suppose my feelings regarding her are much of a secret to you. I thought I'd save you a lot of—eh—a lot of embarrassment, by telling you now that I expect to marry Miss Willcox this winter!"

I can feel I'm as pale as a quart of skim milk and I could of kick myself for not being able to stop my voice from trembling.

"Has Judy—are you and Judy engaged?" I stammer.

Rags's beady, gloating eyes tells me he's enjoying my misery to his full capacity. He takes plenty of time to answer.

"We—e—ll, not exactly engaged," he drawls. "But——"

"But, nothing, you big stiff!" I cut him off, and my voice ain't trembling now. I'm burnt up, for a fact! "If Judy ain't promised to wed you, where d'ye get that stuff about expecting to marry her this winter? The best thing you can do is to leave Judy alone, get me? If she ever tells me that you're trying to take advantage of the miracle that she's working for you, I'll slap you for a Chinese ash can!"

Thus endeth the first lesson.

That night, as they say in the movies, I nailed Judy after supper and apologized for the way I talked to her earlier in the day. She changes like the wild winds, she does for a fact. She ain't a bit sore, and she's the one which suggests sitting out in the hammock on the dark back porch to talk matters over. I think both my ears is liars when she asks me, but we go and sit there and after a while a idea hits me right in the head—a idea which to me is the snakes's hips! It's no less than a way for Judy to turn down the job in the carpet factory office and still eat and what not.

"Judy," I says, "the only reason you're going to work for Rags Dempster's father is because you got to take a job somewheres, ain't it? I mean it ain't because you particularly like Rags or nothing like that—am I right?"

"I thought we settled all that this afternoon, Gale," says Judy, beginning to freeze. "I think we're letting this conversation grow too personal again. I am going to work for Dempster & Co., because it's right here in Drew City, and I have been offered a very good salary—and why I'm allowing you to catechize me like this, I don't know!"

"It's a mystery to me, too," I says pleasantly. "However, what I'm getting at it this, Judy. If you had a chance to take another job in Drew City at more wages, would you take it instead?"

"Rather!" smiles Judy.

"Then that Dempster & Co. job is out!" I says joyfully. "Judy, I now hereby offer you the position of my secretary at the salary of fifty bucks a week to commence, with a chance of advancement. No experience is necessary and—"

But Judy has bust out laughing. "Oh, you funny boy!" she says, looking at me through dancing eyes. Then she gazes out into the night. "I wonder what I'll eventually do with you?" she remarks softly to the big oak opposite the house.

Now that's a funny crack, ain't it? What will she do with me? I'm trying to figure that one out, when she lays her beautiful hand on mine, which is only beautiful in a four-ounce glove.

"That's a splendid offer, Gale," she says, "and I'd be tempted to snap it up, only I know why you've made it to me. You don't need a secretary yet, though I know the day will come when you'll have a half-dozen secretaries in your own big office. I often visualize you sitting at your desk, directing the destiny of some tremendous business, Gale—don't you yourself?"

"I don't know, Judy," I says. "I'd rather direct your dest—eh—"

I'm getting in over my head, so I kind of trailed off!

"Yes, Gale," says Judy, all attention.

But I'm afraid to gamble with her! I'll tell you why. If I ever lost Judy's friendship, I'd of cooked myself, as sure as you can get good and moist by falling into the ocean. I once read in a book about a couple like me and Judy, which was the best pals till the fellow hauls off one day and asks the girl to wed him. This spilled the beans, because the girl looks sad and shakes her head, saying to the best of my knowledge, "Oh, Jack, how could you! Our lovely friendship is now broke up—we can never be the same again since you went to work and asked me that! Why couldn't we have remained chums?" And the guy gets the air. So I held my tongue and played safe, turning the conversation to Rags.

"It looks to me, Judy," I says, "as if you're kidding me about what you really think of Rags Dempster. You turn down my offer of a job and take his and the best I can get is a laugh! D'ye know he expects to marry you this winter?"

Judy's face is like fire. "Where did you hear that tidbit?" she asks.

"Rags told me himself," I says. "I told him if he bothered you when you went to work in his office he's going around telling people I'd knock him dead."

Judy jumps up out of her hammock. If she ain't mad, then she's a wonderful actress. "I wish you and Rags would stop discussing me as though I were a—town character!" she says, ninety below zero. "And I am not in need of a protector. You've made it very embarrassing for me by threatening Rags, and I'd be glad if you'd wait until I ask you before delivering ultimatums for me. I haven't the slightest intention of marrying Rags or—or anyone, ever!"

And she flounces into the house.

If I got a dollar for every time I got in wrong, I'd have a Rockefeller gnashing his teeth inside of a given year!

Well, for the next few days me and Judy don't exchange half a dozen words, and she even takes to eating her meals either before or after me, so's we don't meet at the table. This kind of treatment steams me up to the point where I have decided to move from Mrs. Willcox's boarding house to a New York hotel, when Nate busts into my room one day and hollers he has finally signed me for a fight. The victim's name in round numbers is "Wild Bill" Killoran, which has broke down and confessed to being light heavyweight champion of the Pacific Coast. The quarrel is to be staged at the Eureka A.C. in New York, fifteen frames to a decision. I am to get five thousand bucks even—win, lose, draw, or what have you.

I will have to spot Wild Bill at least ten pounds, and from all accounts he's a sweet puncher and nobody's fool. Likewise, this will be my first battle in three months, so I start in training at once for William. Spence Brook is then a inmate of Princeton and his millionaire dad is still taking a interest in me. Both of 'em goes to nearly all my fights, and I have been up to the emperor's palace they call their home half a dozen times, talking over my future with Mr. Brock. I always left him with a little more stuff and a little more ambition than I had when I went up to see him. He is certainly one wonderful man and a billion ain't a dime too much for him!

UNEMPLOYED CHORUS GIRLS ARE NUMEROUS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 2.—A call for a handful of chorus girls yesterday revealed that at least 3500 of them are out of work. As the season for road shows is nearing an end, it is estimated that the number of unemployed soon will run as high as 5000. They will be concentrated in this city. Bad business, high railroad rates, excessive expenses and the controversy between actors and managers are cited as reasons for the large number of unemployed. Ordinarily dozens of spring and summer shows would be rehearsing at this time but now there are only three of four.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINCOLN (Neb.) April 2.—A new departure in Indian welfare work has been undertaken by the State of Nebraska. Mrs. Addie Boucher, a full-blooded Sioux Indian woman who is also a graduate nurse, has been assigned to work among the Indian women on all of the reservations in the State. She is to operate under the provisions of the Shepperd-Towner Maternity Act.

Oil Distillation by Dry Process Is Discovered

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, April 2.—An inexhaustible supply of petroleum through the dry distillation of oil shale is reported from Fushun colliery in Manchuria. This process of obtaining oil has been a failure elsewhere except in Scotland.

Pinning their hopes on this solitary exception the officials of the South Manchurian Railway, owners of the mine, experimented with the shale for many years and they are now achieving success. They estimate that they will be able to produce 75,000,000 gallons of heavy oil annually by treating 2000 tons of shale daily.

It is reported that the company may supply their product to the Japanese War and Navy departments. The oil is found in the upper strata and it is obtained practically free of cost in connection with the digging of the coal.

PEACH DAMAGE FIGURES DROP

Thirty Per Cent Losses by March Frosts

Almond Trees Heavily Hit in Three Counties

Grape Crop Harm Reported to be Negligible

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, April 2.—Damage to the peach crop of California, caused by the severe frosts of March 20-24, last, estimated ten days ago as amounting to 30 per cent of the crop, was approximately 30 per cent, according to the semimonthly crop report made public today by E. E. Kaufmann, Federal agricultural statistician, co-operating with the California Department of Agriculture.

Crop reports estimate the damage to the cling-peach crop at 75 per cent in Sutter county, where about 40 per cent of the State's cling-peach crop is usually produced. Growers in Butte, Yuba and Sacramento counties also suffered some loss, although the frost was not quite so severe in those counties. Other peach-growing districts were injured but slightly, if at all, and the entire damage to the State probably will amount to less than 30 per cent for the peach crop as a whole.

INJURY TO ALMONDS

Apparently the greatest damage to the almond crop occurred in Butte, Sacramento, Stanislaus and San Joaquin counties. Fifty per cent damage is reported from these counties. Yolo and Solano both report some injury.

Some damage is reported to the apricot crop but in the heavy-producing districts injury from frost is light.

Reports indicate 30 per cent injury to the pear crop in Sacramento county, which normally produces 23 per cent of the State's crop. Considering the State as a whole, the loss will be comparatively small.

The estimated damage to plums in Sacramento county was about 50 per cent. Placer and Solano, both heavy-producing counties, apparently escaped. Cherries were damaged 50 per cent in San Joaquin county, with lesser injury in other cherry-growing counties of the Sacramento Valley. Damage to the grape crop from frost is reported to be negligible.

CONDITIONS BETTER

There has been a noted improvement in the condition of agriculture in general in California during the last fortnight due to the generous rains that fell in most of the important agricultural districts, says the semimonthly report issued today by E. E. Kaufmann, Federal agricultural statistician.

Grain growers and live-stock men were particularly benefited. A good supply of snow which has fallen in the Sierras will do much to relieve the expected shortage of water for spring irrigation.

There is a comparatively good supply of range feed in the northern half of the State, particularly in the coast counties. The condition of pasture in the San Joaquin Valley and Southern California is poor and as a result live stock is in poor condition except where being fed. However, the report says, a substantial improvement in the conditions of both pasture and live stock can soon be expected, due to recent rains.

Grain prospects in the southern part of the State are still far below normal. The grain outlook is more promising in the Sacramento Valley with fair to good yields in prospect.

FARMERS IN TROUBLE ON PIG SCHEME

Men in Three States Lose Heavily in Company That Has Quit Buying

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINCOLN (Neb.) April 2.—Farmers by the hundreds in Nebraska, Kansas and South Dakota have lost thousands of dollars by the breaking down of what has been known as the Chester White endless chain hog scheme. It was fathered by a firm of breeders that had headquarters in DeSmet, S. D., and was launched at a time when the purebred hog business was booming and prices were high. It went to pieces when prices of these animals fell to below $40.

The company had agents operating in the three States named. They agreed with every farmer who would pay the company $140 for a purebred Chester White sow that at weaning time they would buy all of the progeny at $75 a head.

In spite of the warning of farm bureau leaders and local purebred hog men that the plan was unsound, farmers bought liberally. Some of them, seeing in $75 a head for spring pigs an enormous profit, mortgaged their farms to buy enough to have a large yearly income. The first sales were made three years ago. The next year and the next one also the company did buy a number of the progeny. This stimulated the sale of more brood sows. When the market went to pieces this year, however, the company was unable to make good on its agreements, and rather than face a tremendous loss quit buying. Now the farmers have to sell at the market prices.

FIRE DAMP CAUSED UTAH MINE DEATHS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALT LAKE CITY, April 2.—Methane or "fire damp" was the cause of death of the 173 men who perished March 8, lost in the wreck of mine No. 2, of the Utah Fuel Company at Castle Gate, according to a report today of State mine officials to the Utah Industrial Commission.

The report said that the explosion took place when the open flame lamp of a fire boss came in contact with methane liberated when top coal was removed.

Today he withdrew his appeal of Judge Rellstab's recent ruling upholding Lamar's conviction in which the court decided that Lamar had been sent to the wrong place of confiement.

Under Judge Rellstab's decision Lamar will be taken back to the Federal District Court of the Third District of New York for sentencing.

EGYPT WINS POINT IN SUIT OVER TOMB

CONCESSION CANCELLATION BEYOND CONTROL OF MIXED TRIBUNAL

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CAIRO (Egypt) April 2.—The mixed court of Alexandria, which has been considering the controversy over continuation of the excavation of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, declared today that cancellation of the concession to Countess Carnarvon was an administrative act over which the mixed tribunals in Cairo had no control. Thus the Alexandria mixed court upholds the Egyptian government's appeal against the mixed tribunals which ordered the parties to appear before the judge.

The appeal against the Cairo mixed tribunal's decision was brought before the mixed court at Alexandria on March 19, the controversy growing out of the trouble between the Egyptian government and Howard Carter as the representative of Countess Carnarvon over the carrying on of the work in the tomb.

Plática Diaria en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

Habíabamos en la Plática 218 del usodel futuro por el presente en sentido metafórcio, y debemos agregar a lo expuesto que, como lo asienta Bello, usamos de esta misma trasposición de iempos para significar sorpresa o maravilla: "¿Será posible que Gil Blas, juguete hasta aquí de la fortuna, haya podido inspiraros sentimientos . . . ?" (Isla). Encarecemos la admiración, expresándonos como si dudáramos de aquello mismo de que en realidad estamos persuadidos. Del mismo modo decimos a un muchacho: "¿Será posible que no hayas traído una sola buena nota (report) en todo el año?", y hablando del tiempo: "¿Será posible que no hayamos tenido ni un día frío en este invierno?". La posibilidad de que aparentamos dudar es cosa presente o pasada, y, sin embargo, usamos del futuro "será" para denotar que lo sucedido parece increíble. Y la prueba de que significamos tiempo presente es que, traduciendo al inglés, diríamos: "Can it be possible, etc.?"

En las oraciones interrogativas, dice Bello, es frecuente esta trasposición del presente al futuro: "¿Quién habrá traído la noticia?"; "¿Si estará ahora nuestro amigo en su casa?". El amartelado caballero de la Mancha dice en cierto soliloquio estas o semejantes razones: "¡Ay, mi señora Dulcinea del Toboso! ¿qué fará agora la vuestra grandeza?"

En la conversación familiar es frecuentísimo el uso del futuro por el presente en todas aquellas preguntas en que manifestamos el deseo de saber una cosa que ignoramos; construcciones que, en inglés, como ya hemos dicho, se vierten por "I wonder"; "¿Estará mi papa en su cuarto?" (I wonder if papa is in his room); "¿Serán ya las doce?"; "¿Estará mi hermano hablando en estos momentos con el ministro?", etc.

En el primer párrafo del artículo que estamos analizando, encontramos esta frase: "Yo, al menos, juego por la vida de Madrid, que está 'harto' desanimada", en la que la palabra "harto" está empleada como adverbio, y es, por lo tanto, invariable: "Juan y Pedro están harto disgustados"; "María y Elena son harto coquetas"; "Harto corrieron las pobres muchachas, y al fin llegaron tarde". En tal oficio, significa "bastante", "sobradamente". Como adjetivo, significa "lleno", "saciado", "cansado", y concierta en género y número con el nombre que califica: "Teresa ha comido mucha y está harta"; "Harta ya de palos, se huyó de su casa la desventurada joven". Como adjetivo la Academia le señala también la acepción de "bastante", "sobrado", "abundante", y con esta significación lo usa mucho la gente del pueblo en Méjico: "Tiene mi amigo harto dinero"; "Los sultanes tienen hartas mujeres".

Empléase también "harto" como sustantivo neutro: "Harto es he dicho; pensadlo".

"Harto-a" se usó en otro tiempo como participio pasivo irregular de "hartar"; pero actualmente esa forma es anticuada: "Bienaventurados los que han hambre y sed de justicia, porque ellos serán hartos." (Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after justice, for they shall have their fill"—one of the eight beatitudes). En el lenguaje corriente del día, diríamos: "Bienaventurados los que tienen hambre y sed de justicia, porque ellos serán hartados".

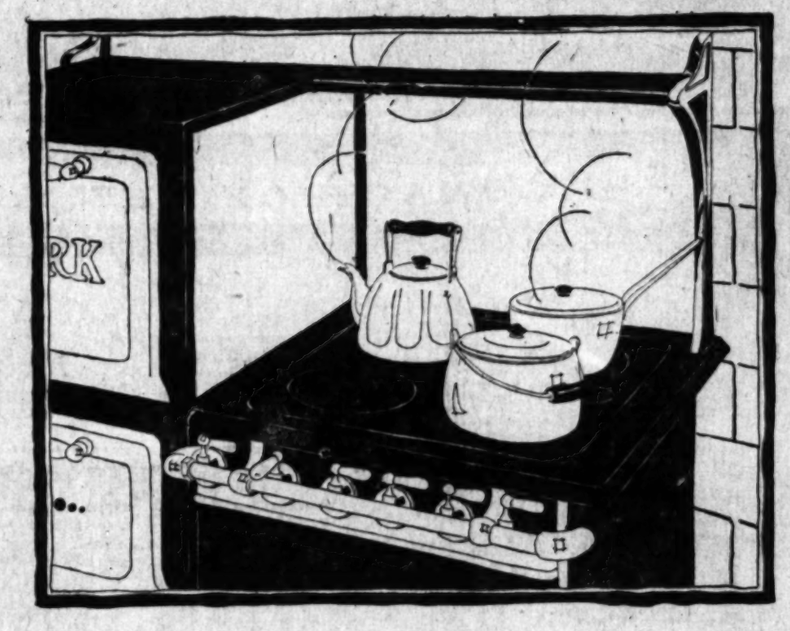
SPARK Lid-top GAS RANGE

$5.00 — puts Spark Lid-top in your home!

Liberal allowance for your old stove!

Easy payment terms available!



First Showing of This Modern Gas-Saving Wonder Stove! Only at Barker Bros.!

The gas range with the closed-top feature—that bids fair to revolutionize the stove industry. The very latest in gas range construction—doubly remarkable since price in the Spark has been kept at lowest levels. After you have seen the features—noted the construction—learned its advantages—value at Barker Bros.' price will seem unbelievable.

Is It a Fact?

1. That a complete meal can be cooked on the Spark Lid-top Gas Range in less time and with less gas than on other ranges?
2. That with one burner on the Lid-top you can keep four vessels steaming? Would it require four burners on other ranges?
3. That the Spark Lid-top Gas Range confines the heat under the Lid-top instead of letting it escape to the ceiling?
4. That you can boil, simmer and fry all at the same time on the Spark Lid-top Gas Range with only one gas burner going?
5. That you can clean the top of the Spark Lid-top as easily as a kitchen table top—that no grease or dirt can clog the burners?
6. That on the Spark Lid-top Range, the gas fumes enter the chimney instead of coming into the home?
7. That the Spark Lid-top Range prevents kitchen walls from becoming discolored?
8. That when working over the Spark Lid-top Range you don't inhale the obnoxious fumes from the gas?
9. That physicians recommend the use of the Spark Lid-top Range?

Let Us Show You the Answer

Demonstration in Progress Daily Gives Startling Proof of "Spark" Lid-top Claims!

Mrs. Lela Adams, leading domestic science authority and director of research of the Hammer-Bray company, conducts these demonstrations daily from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. Until you have seen by demonstration what the Spark Lid-top stove can do—you cannot know what progress has been made in stove development.

Spark Lid-top Stoves in Sizes for Every Home!

Stoves with large capacity—requiring but little space—that is one of the secrets of Spark Lid-Top popularity! The big feature—the flat top—is such that the smallest vessel may be used without tipping—giving 50% more cooking space than a gas range with a grate. For quick boiling, the lids may be removed, bringing the pans in direct contact with the flame. In short—the modern gas range—with features of high quality—at price within the reach of all.

$65.00

Note the trim lines—the fine clean enamel—the oven and broiler—the lid-top feature that will begin saving on the cost of the range from the moment you start using it. This is one of the notable features in the Spark Lid-top family.

BELIEVE BANDIT TOOK OWN LIFE

Officials Think Death Held Better Than Capture

C. D. Whicker Death is to be Probed Further

Coroner Jury Verdict Sheds No Light on Puzzle

Gordon D. Whicker, 21-year-old bank bandit, was not shot by his reported accomplice or by citizens who killed himself to avoid capture by the police, in the opinion of Deputy Coroner MacDonald and Deputy Sheriff Stensland.

This belief was expressed by the officials after the Coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict which stated that Whicker came to his death from a gunshot wound in the head inflicted by an unknown person. The jury recommended a further investigation.

The suicide theory was strengthened by the statement of J. P. Reed, proprietor of the Reed Cafe at Huntington Park. He told officials after the inquest into Whicker's death that a man came into his cafe shortly after the hold-up and robbery of the Slauson and Central avenue branch of the Security Trust and Savings Bank and told him that he had seen the two bandits escape and had heard Whicker shout "they won't get me" and then saw him send a bullet through his head.

The original theory of the police was that Whicker was shot and killed by his asserted partner, Jack Rogers, who was shot and wounded in his attempt to escape.

This theory, however, largely has been abandoned. It is now believed that Whicker, wounded in the leg while he and the man who is asserted to have aided him were attempting to make their getaway, turned his pistol on himself rather than be captured. Powder marks on the dead bandit's head serve to bear out this belief. A further investigation, however, will be made, Captain of Detectives Home said.

APPEAL OF WOLFGANG IS DENIED

Slayer of Patrolman Dinsmore Loses Fight to Escape Gallows

Isaac Wolfgang, convicted of the murder of Patrolman Oliver Dinsmore in Los Angeles in November, 1922, lost what will probably be his last struggle in a long battle for life, when the State District Court of Appeal yesterday denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of the slayer, who is waiting to be hanged at San Quentin, according to dispatches from San Francisco. The petition was denied without comment by the court.

Wolfgang was arrested by Dinsmore for the theft of two bottles of milk. He pleaded with the officer to take him to his room so that he could obtain some money he had there. From one of the bureau drawers in the room he obtained a revolver and killed the officer.

Following his conviction for the crime, he took his appeal as high as the State Supreme Court, declaring he shot in self-defense, but each tribunal upheld the verdict of the Superior Court. While in jail here he several times tried to commit suicide.

BRIDEGROOM FAINTS AS RITE ENDS

Milton Schwartz Marries Miss Belle Fox, Daughter of Film Pioneer

Miss Belle Fox, daughter of William Fox, one of the pioneers of the moving-picture industry, was quietly married at 7:30 o'clock last night to Milton Jerome Schwartz, a young business man of New York City. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Magnin in a private suite of the Ambassador. Only the immediate members of the family were present. Both bride and groom were unattended.

Just at the close of the ceremony the bridegroom fainted, due to nervous excitement and the fact that he had eaten nothing throughout the day. Restoratives were applied and he rallied within a few minutes.

A supper in the Cocoanut Grove celebrated the wedding and the bridegroom seemed to have entirely recovered at that time.

"It is the culmination of a long romance," said Mr. Fox. "Our young people will make their home in New York, after a brief honeymoon. We do not know where the honeymoon will be spent—that is their secret."

William Fox has been associated with the film industry nearly twenty-five years. He is the president of the William Fox Vaudeville Company and the Fox Film Corporation. He was instrumental in developing Pearl White, famous serial star, Theda Bara, William Farnum, now with Lasky's studio, Tom Mix, and other notables of the screen.

The home of the Fox family is in New York, though it spends a part of each winter in Los Angeles.

DOUG MAY BE BEHIND NEW HOTEL

Twin of Algonquin in New York Said to be Plan for Hollywood

Manhattan's famous hostelry, the Hotel Algonquin, noted as the stamping ground of the East's artistically elite, is to have its counterpart in Hollywood.

Frank Case, proprietor of the Algonquin, is in the city looking over sites for the twin hotel. It is reported that his chief backer in the project will be Douglas Fairbanks.

Dispatches from New York say rumors are current there that the new venture will lead to the abandonment of the Algonquin in that city but these rumors were denied by officials of the hostelry.

The site of the new hotel, according to information obtained in New York, will be opposite the Pickford-Fairbank studio, which virtually every visitor to the motion-picture center in California wants to see.

Fairbanks has long been a close friend of Case and was one of the first theatrical stars to bring his hotel into notice. Fairbanks, when East, always stayed at the place until a few years ago, and even nowadays frequents it on his visits.

ADVISES BAN ON LEFT-HAND TURN

PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS ACTION IN BUSINESS ZONE

Action to bar entirely the left-hand turn in the downtown district was recommended to the City Council yesterday by the Public Safety Committee. Such action, the committee stated in its recommendation, would serve to relieve traffic congestion downtown to a material extent and would also serve to straighten out the present complications resulting from the involved regulations permitting left-hand turns at some intersections and not at others.

The district in which the left-hand turn would be prohibited, as recommended by the committee, extends from Fourth to Ninth and Hill to Los Angeles streets, inclusive. The committee acted upon the recommendations originally made by the Los Angeles Traffic

Concerning $1,200-a-Year Income, for Life

Would You Pay $50. per Month for 4 Years to Receive $100. per Month for Life?

—John E. Kennedy—

HAIL to the hopeful Rainbow-Chasers!
Tight-Wads as well as Get-Rich Quickers, take heed!
Sporty SPECULATORS who think ye are "Investors"—this is for you!

Come down to EARTH, and consider the sober facts here stated:

"Land is the basis of all Wealth." Blackstone admits it.

There is only one kind of Property called REAL Estate.

Its name is "LAND," and its more correct name is "INCOME——FARM——LAND."

Land-Ownership was the foundation of the most notable family Fortunes in this and the older Countries.

The Astor, Vanderbilt, Huntington and scores of other PERMANENT Fortunes were, and are, based on just such LAND ownership as is here advocated.

Not the fitful, nervous, Buying, Selling, Swapping or Trading of Land many times a Year,—but LONG-CONTINUED title to Land,—and long-term LEASING of Land to RESPONSIBLE Tenants.

HOW many have found out, to their Cost,—after years of "Quick-Turnover" transactions,—that they were merely Swapping Dollars, when not ultimately losing Money on the aggregate of such transactions,—that BROKERS' COMMISSIONS ate up all the Profits.

If the Investor Buys and Sells OFTEN enough, the compounding of Commissions on "Quick-Turnover" deals in Stocks, Bonds, "Securities" or Subdivisions, must ultimately act in the same way as the "Rake-off" in Gambling Houses.

More ENDURING, more cumulative, and far more satisfactory Fortunes have been made through careful buying of INCOME-LANDS for PERMANENT Investment.

So,—this to the Plungers,—the Rainbow-Chasers and Hopewells generally!

Come out of that Fool's Paradise where the "Quick-Turnover" delusion lures on perpetually to a mirage of Paper-Profits.

Put your Savings and Surplus in that Safest, and ultimately most Profitable of all Investments,—INCOME FARM LANDS, as LEASED to responsible Tenants, and by them planted to Permanent Crops at their own expense.

California Income Lands May Soon be "Cornered"

CALIFORNIA Population is growing by leaps and bounds.

That Population MUST EAT TO LIVE,—and Home Products have first call on local Markets.

No Lands in America can produce so many Dollars per Acre, on average, as California Irrigated Lands when PROPERLY planted to PERMANENT Crops.

There are Farm Lands in California that regularly produce $250 to $1,000 per Acre Yearly in Net Profits.

Many of these High-Profit Lands could not be bought from their present Owners for $1,500 to $2,500 per Acre.

But,—equally good Lands, through injudicious planting, poor financing, bad management, and worse Marketing of Crops, are producing less than $50 per Acre.

These are the "California Lands" you HEAR most about.

California Farming on highly-productive Irrigated Land, calls for MORE ability, MORE capital, BETTER equipment, and more Business Capacity in MARKETING products, than does Field-Crop Farming on Cheap Lands of limited capacity elsewhere.

And,—scientific, well-equipped, sufficiently capitalized FARMERS, to operate these high-priced Lands, are rarer than well-equipped Merchants,—since it has long been the fashion for Brains to gravitate off the Farms into Cities.

That Drift of Agricultural Intelligence cityward, has lowered the price of Farm Lands and thereby created a great Opportunity in "Factory-ized" Farming.

Certain able Individuals have SEEN this OPPORTUNITY and are now taking advantage of it.

Cudahys prove their Faith by Deeds

AS President of the great Cudahy Packing Co. of Chicago, Edward A. Cudahy, Sr., has had ample opportunity to measure the future Market for California Farm Products.

With the vision and acumen which enabled him to build up one of the largest Meat-Packing Industries in America, he has seen the vast possibilities in California INTENSIVE Farming,—when put on a "Factory-ized" basis,—with its Fruits and Vegetable Products marketed as efficiently as are the Meat Products of the Cudahy Packing Co.

Edward A. Cudahy is President and principal owner of the Cudahy Farm Operating Co., which now farms intensively several thousand acres of carefully-selected Lands in California,—under long-term Leases.

When these Cudahy Leases expire, the Lands they now cover will be among the most highly-developed, and most valuable in the State, presumably equal to or better than adjacent lands planted to similar Permanent Crops, valued today at $1,200 to $2,000 per Acre by American Appraisal Co.

THE proven Ability, ample Capital, and long Experience in production and marketing of perishable Food Products, which have made the Cudahy Packing Co. a success, are now available in the skilful development of these leased lands.

And note well this self-evident fact:

The Cudahy Interests cannot make satisfactory profits for THEMSELVES out of Intensively Farming these Leased Lands without doubling, or probably trebling, the value of the Lands they thus cultivate and return to Land Owners at end of Lease.

They do not own these Farm Lands, for the same reason that they do not own the Range Lands on which are grown the Cattle they slaughter and sell as dressed Beef, or the Hogs they convert into Puritan Hams and Bacon.

They are MANUFACTURERS, and their business is with Farm PRODUCTS, not with Farm Land Ownership or Cattle Range-Land Ownership.

But,—their SELECTION of THESE particular Lands for long Leasing, and their heavy Investment in permanent Crop development on them, certifies to the exceptional QUALITY, of their Soil, their condition and their consequent value.

You can now Buy these Cudahy-leased Lands

WE,—Kennedy, Hardie & Co., Land Brokers, offer the limited balance of highly-developed Farm Lands now under lease to CUDAHY Farm Operating Co.

During the term of that Six-Year Lease the value of these Lands will probably be doubled or trebled by Cudahy cultivating.

Five Acres should produce a minimum clear profit of $250 per Acre yearly for YOU, under renewal arrangements already specified in Lease.

Five Acres should therefore safely provide you with "$1,200 a year Income for Life," without Work,—without Living on the Land.

Meantime, the Cudahy Cash Rentals will bring you NET 9% per annum over and above all Interest Charges, and above all other charges, being payable directly to you.

Payment on Five-Acre tracts may be spread over Five Years,—with only 5% Interest, and as little as $50 down, with $50 per month, will be accepted when necessary.

Deed, with Title Guarantee, and Transfer to you of Rentals from Lease, will be delivered when ONE-SIXTH of the purchase price per acre has been paid in Cash, with balance in Approved Notes.

NO BANKER could want a SAFER or more conservatively profitable investment than in this responsibly Leased Land.

And, no WAGE-EARNER who can spare $50 per Month need lose THIS rare opportunity to build a safe Competence for his family and himself, provided he has the Courage and Energy to act promptly.

Buy Five Acres of this INCOME—FARM—LAND which you can call your own FOREVER. Then KEEP it.

It will provide a permanent Pension for Life, carrying its own Charges.

It will pay a positive Net 9% per annum average on every Dollar you invest in it from the Start, during term of lease.

This with reasonable certainty of "$1,200 per Year for Life" after the Six-Year Lease expires.

It will work for you when you can't work for yourself.

It will guard you and yours against the Dangers of Disability or Destitution in Old Age.

PAY OR NOT PAY IS VITAL QUERY

Fund Dilemma Argument in Long Beach is Hot

Council to Transfer Money for Overdue Wages

Auditor Declares City Soon to be in Dire Straits

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, April 2.—To pay or not to pay. That is the question that has stirred up more controversy between departments of the city government in Long Beach than any other factor in recent municipal history and indications today pointed to the answer. If all goes well the city will pay about $72,000 in back salaries to employees not later than Friday. An ordinance authorizing the transfer of moneys from the oil revenue fund to the safety, public service and other depleted funds of the city, passed its first reading today in the Council and will be adopted this week.

With the passage of the measure there will come to an end a long controversy between City Manager Windham, Mayor Buffum and others on the one side and Miss Myrtelle L. Gunsul, city auditor, and her attorneys on the other side.

AUDITOR'S VICTORY

Failure of the city to pay policemen, firemen and others for the first half of March when the pay became due March 15, started the controversy. It is asserted by the city auditor that the funds from which the pay should come had become depleted and she was prohibited by the city charter from taking money from other funds to make up the deficiencies. This was denied by the city manager, who declared the city auditor had all the legal authority necessary, but she had declined to transfer the necessary funds, thus compelling city employees to go without their money. The controversy waxed warm, but culminated today in what Miss Gunsul claims was a victory for her when the City Council and the mayor, by passing on the proposed ordinance, tacitly acknowledged that her stand in the matter is the correct one.

Politics, Miss Gunsul declared, has been a strong factor behind the entire squabble. That Long Beach is in anything but a desirable situation financially was her declaration today. Except for the money in the oil revenue fund which is about $227,000 in actual cash and the prospects for $160,000 more, representing revenues from oil during March, the city is "broke," Miss Gunsul declared.

OWES SALARIES

"The city owes approximately $72,000 in back salaries for March and has about $200,000 in outstanding bills," she declared. "To take care of the city's business until the 15th inst. will require a total of $836,000. The only revenues in sight between now and July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year exclusive of oil revenues is about $753,000. On this amount the city will have to be run from April 15 to July 1," she said.

"At the present rate there will be a deficit of $500,000 by the end of June," Miss Gunsul said.

City Manager Windham, however, declared that there is plenty of money on which to conduct the affairs of the city for the remainder of the fiscal year, and although admitting that there has been a depletion in certain of the funds, he says the city has plenty of money and that simple bookkeeping is all that is required to clear up the situation.

CHANGE OF VENUE BLOCKED

New Complaint Filed Thwarts Move of Trio in Oil Suit in Santa Ana Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, April 2.—By means of a strategic move on the part of the complaining witnesses, the case against B. F. Parrott, Louis Kleindienst and Herman Fisher will be tried in the local Superior Court following the filing of a new complaint here blocking the request for a change of venue to a Los Angeles Superior Court, asked by the defendants.

The new complaint contains more specific charges against the defendants.

In the first complaint the trio was accused of failing to account for $250,000 received from sale of the product from the Pacific Corporation's well No. 16 at Signal Hill. In the new action it is alleged that F. C. Krause, president of a Fullerton bank, has in his possession $10,000 received from the sale of units in the company's holdings and also from the sale of gas and oil. Krause was named as defendant in the original complaint, but no charge was made against him.

The new complaint also includes as defendants Benjamin S. Brubaker, William H. Bell, J. P. Detweiler, R. C. Steel, directors, and J. L. Richardson of Riverside county. The complaint charges that the directors and the three original defendants, Parrott, Kleindienst and Fisher, "conspired to defraud the other stockholders."

An accounting of the funds of the corporation, a receivership, a restraining order preventing the defendants from molesting the corporation property and an order for the sale of the property are asked by the complainants.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, April 2.—Cowboys, wild horses and wild steers will be features of the Southern California rodeo at Riverside on the 4th, 5th and 6th inst., and thousands of lovers of the sport of the Wild West are planning to be present on those days.

That the rodeo will not be hampered as a result of the foot-and-mouth epidemic was the statement here yesterday of Chief Agricultural Inspector Bottel, who declared that all cattle and horses to be used were brought in here from other States prior to the outbreak of the epidemic, and that no possible danger can result.

The venture is an annual event and has attracted wide attention.

Cowboys from virtually every one of the Western States have arrived here and because of the large number of entries elimination contests will be necessary, according to Secretary Van Pelt. The city is already decorating for the occasion and everything will be in readiness for the opening day. All business houses will close Friday afternoon to allow employees to attend the rodeo.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, April 2.—The corner-stone of the new Swedish Evangical Church now being erected at the corner of North Lake avenue and Santa Barbara street, will be laid with impressive ceremonies Sunday afternoon.

The membership of the church is one of the smallest in the city as fifty-four members make up its entire list. The church, however, will be spacious and will cost approximately $30,000, the pastor, Rev. A. G. Sporrong announces.

The building will be of stucco, two stories in height and will have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 300. In addition there will be Sunday-school rooms, kitchen and social rooms.

Rev. P. B. Welanger, pastor of the Swedish Evangical Tabernacle of Los Angeles, will be the principal speaker at the corner-stone ceremonies. Rev. J. Henry Hutchins, pastor of the Lake Avenue Congregational Church will bring the greetings of the neighborhood churches.

WOMAN HIT BY CAR STILL UNCONSCIOUS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, April 2.—Mrs. Georgia Hoffman, 60 years of age, 1429 Lyndon street, who was injured last night at Fair Oaks avenue and Bank street, when she stepped off a Pasadena Short Line car into the path of another car, was still unconscious late today at the Alhambra Hospital. Because of her serious condition physicians have been unable to determine whether her skull is fractured. Her left ankle and several ribs were broken. Mrs. Hoffman was returning home from a visit in Alhambra and alighted from the car in the rain. It is believed that the rain obstructed her view of the oncoming car.

BOYS CONFESS TO VANDALISM

Three Ontario Youths Admit Wrecking of School

One Caught Secreting Purse in Can of Garbage

Building Made Chaos With Paint, Paste, Water

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, April 2.—Taken into custody after one of their number had been caught in the act of hiding a stolen purse in a garbage can at the junior high school in West J street, three 14-year-old boys today confessed to C. W. Randall, City Superintendent of Schools, that they were responsible for wrecking the interior of the San Antonio-avenue school building here Sunday.

The boys are Chester Braxton, 632 West D street; William Dean, 809 West D street, and Francis Galanis, 811 West G street. M. J. Cochran, a janitor at the junior high, observed young Braxton disposing of a purse in a garbage can. The purse was identified as one stolen from the San Antonio school and when confronted with this evidence, the youth admitted that he was one of the vandals who wrought havoc at the school and implicated young Dean and Galanis, who later confessed.

None of the boys would give any motive for their destructive acts and all denied that they had any personal grudge against Miss Erma Brown, principal of the San Antonio school, whose name they had scrawled on the blackboards.

Damage wrought by the trio, including the pouring of ink over textbooks, report cards and papers, the smearing of paints and paste over the walls and furniture and the flooding of the basement with several inches of water, is estimated at close to $1000. The boys created such chaos in the building that is was necessary to dismiss the more than 300 pupils who assembled for the Monday session, until the damage could be repaired.

No decision has yet been reached regarding the disposition that will be made of the cases against the boys.

Unknown Hero Saves Woman and Vanishes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, April 2.—Police of Redlands are searching for an unknown hero who saved Miss Marie Eigenhuise of Lawton street from an attempted attack said to have been made by Thomas Reales, a Mexican who recently came here.

The unknown man knocked Reales out with one blow and Reales was unconscious for about an hour. The hero did not wait for thanks but climbed back on the truck he was driving and went away.

Miss Eigenhuise was going home when a man whom she identified as Reales accosted her and then seized her by the throat. She screamed. A truck was passing and with grinding brakes it came to a stop. The driver leaped out, ran to the struggling couple, gave the man one blow, asked Miss Eigenhuise if she could get home all right and when she replied in the affirmative he jumped back into the truck and drove away.

Reales is being held in the City Jail.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, April 2.—Nervously pointing a gun at his victims an amateur robber last night succeeded in relieving Miss Alice Reesh, 547 Fourteenth street, of a handbag containing $11, a valuable diamond and a lavalliere and demanded her escort, Domin Homer, 831 Maple avenue, Los Angeles, to hand over his watch and money.

The hold-up took place in the 1200 block in Santa Monica Boulevard, when the outlaw stepped from behind the shadow of a palm, where he had been hiding. He was described as being about 23 years of age.

STATE TAX ESCAPED BY PHONE COMPANIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Telephone companies which serve only their stockholders or others who are interested financially in such companies need make no tax return to the State under any public utility tax law, Atty.-Gen. Webb held today in an opinion asked for the State Board of Equalization.

Such companies, known as "mutual companies," cannot be considered public utilities in any sense of the word, the decision held. In its letter asking for the opinion the board did not mention the name of any company.

YOUTH ROUTS THIEVES WITH OBSOLETE GUN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, April 2.—Harold Grafton, 15-year-old son of F. P. Grafton of Santa Ana, held at bay four men attempting to raid his father's chicken coop last night, but the miscreants escaped when they heard the police coming. Throwing a bottle of milk at the raiders, young Grafton forced the quartet out of the house at the point of a shotgun, too obsolete to shoot, while his father phoned for the authorities. The elder Grafton purchased the youth a new weapon today.

RESERVOIR FILLING

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BAWTELLE, April 2.—J. Challen Smith, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, announced this morning that water in the Stone Canyon reservoir is now sixty feet deep and that hydraulic work on the face of the dam had been stopped. Smith recently returned from a trip through the canyon to look over construction work. A large head of water has been turned in, he said, and the water level is rising daily, indicating that a great reserve will soon be on hand.

The elevation of the dam is such that it makes an ideal service reservoir for the entire western section of Los Angeles, and it is felt that the restoration of the dam and the opening of new trunk lines will materially aid the water situation here.

SEEK GANG OF ROBBER SUSPECTS

Santa Ana Police Hunt Men in Peddler Guise in Burglary Cases

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, April 2.—Following a series of daylight robberies, in which gems and money to the extent of $500 were secured, local police and county officers were searching for the robbers, believed to be members of a gang which invaded this city.

In every instance the thieves entered local residences while the houses were occupied or where the residents were near-by, police said.

A burglar opened the screen door of the Dr. George H. Dobson home, 315 Chestnut avenue, with a wire and secured $7 from a purse and two rings, valued at $200.

C. W. McNaught reported to the police that robbers secured two $10 bills and a pearl necklace from his home at 701 West Fifth street.

Mrs. Ida Wood, 909 West Fourth street, laid her purse on the kitchen sink and went out to hang out clothes to dry. When she returned the purse was not there.

W. Frank Harris told the officers robbers used a pass key to enter his home at 2330 Bush street, where they secured knives, forks, spoons, a carving set and a silver berry spoon.

Mrs. Carl Strock, wife of a local jeweler, reported the loss of three valuable rings and a bar pin from her home.

Mrs. Roba M. Schoef, 424 East Second street, lost two $5 bills and several smaller bills to burglars.

When a burglar entered the home of William C. Schultz, 414 West Sixteenth street, he removed a sewing machine from the wall to a bed, where he discovered the daughter of the house slumbering, and was frightened away, Schultz told the police.

Men posing as peddlers are suspected.

Suspects Held for Burglaries Told to Leave

FRESNO, April 2.—Weeding out of a large number of burglar suspects arrested Saturday night and early Sunday morning has been started by Chief of Police Frank P. Truax. Charges of vagrancy were filed against W. Pecharis, Pasquale Ciree and Jack Williams, and each received a six months' suspended sentence on his promise to leave Fresno.

The same sentence was given R. Garcia, arrested by Lieut. Guy Shoun when he sought to furnish bond for suspects. He furnished cash bond, however, for Mrs. Manuel Sanchez, who gave her name as W. Patricia at the time of her arrest.

Absolute identification of Ramon Herbandez as the burglar who slashed the throat of S. Yamada at his home on F street several months ago also was made, police say. A charge of assault with intent to commit murder has been filed.

Further examination of suspects was in progress last night by Detective Sergeant Edgar A. Nichols. The officer announced that burglary charges would be filed in several instances, and the other suspects would be arraigned as vagrants.

OUTLINE EASTER MORN PROGRAM

Mt. Rubidoux Committee Work Out Details

Mme. Marcella Craft Will Sing at Service

Musical Numbers of Other Years Repeated

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, April 2. — With Easter less than three weeks away the committees in charge of the Easter sunrise service held annually on Mr. Rubidoux, is rapidly working out the program.

Sunday, the 20th inst., probably will mark the last appearance for several years in her home city of Mme. Marcella Craft, operatic soprano, who will sing at the Rubidoux Easter service on that morning. Mme. Craft is expected to arrive in Riverside from Germany, where she has been studying, in time to conduct several rehearsals of the great community chorus being organized by Mrs. Cora B. Merry, music director of the Riverside city schools.

MUSIC NUMBERS

The music committee is contemplating the use of a brass quartet from the Riverside Military Band for the opening number of the Easter service, and also for the number, "The Holy City." The same musical numbers will be used on this year's program as in previous services on the famous mountain, and DeWitt Hutchings is scheduled to read Henry Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air."

Newell Parker, organist for the Glenwood Mission Inn, will be the accompanist for the chorus.

The mighty chimes, which were started at midnight as usual, will be played again this year by Miss Gertrude Ridgeway. Three Riverside ministers will be chosen to take part in responsive readings of the Lord's prayer and the Benediction.

PARKING RULES

The road leading to the cross on the summit of the mountain is to be put into first-class condition a week before the service, and the chimes and platform for the soloists and speakers will be guarded at the same time. Seats will be reserved for the chorus only.

All Riverside Boy Scouts will be pressed into service for patrolling the mountain trails and offering assistance to pedestrians, according to Howard K. Merritt, county scout executive. An augmented police force will control automobile traffic.

"Riversiders writing to friends in other cities and inviting them to attend the Mt. Rubidoux program will do well to suggest that they bring with them drivers to relieve their automobiles to the base of the mountain until after the service," Chief of Police Elmer Lewis said yesterday, "because parking at the top of the mountain will not be permitted."

UNSETTLEMENT MART FEATURE

Political Developments Are Disturbing Element

Business Cautious Pending Congressional Action

Constructive Program Being Interfered With

Unsettlement has been a feature of both security and commodity markets in recent weeks, due in part at least to political developments rather than current changes in fundamental business conditions, states the current issue of the "Guaranty Survey," which has just been issued by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

"The action of the House in rejecting the Mellon tax revision plan and adopting an inadequate substitute has unfavorably affected business sentiment; although the restoration of the Mellon rate schedule in the revenue bill by the Senate Finance Committee on March 24 was a reassuring note, the "Survey" continues, "disclosures made in the course of the oil investigation have tended to further disturb confidence. The approval of the bonus bill by the House, while not unexpected, called attention to the possible enactment of the measure in some form at this session. The sharp decline in the exchange value of the French franc, until it was arrested upon the announcement of a loan to the Bank of France by a group of American bankers, was an additional disturbing element.

CAUTIOUS POLICIES

"In the face of these uncertainties both at home and abroad, a general attitude of hesitation and unwillingness to make commitments for the future continues. As a result, hand-to-mouth buying is general and programs involving the extension of old or the undertaking of new enterprises are held in abeyance. In some industries this is more pronounced than in others but the general effect has been to restrain speculation and to lower prices somewhat. Conservatism and caution are the keynotes of the situation.

"Market trends in the immediate future will probably be influenced in considerable degree by further developments at Washington, as well as by the reactions to the recommendations of the Dawes Committee concerning reparations and German financial rehabilitation.

"It is obvious that the present activities of Congress must interfere in some measure with a constructive legislative program. This may not have an entirely unfavorable effect, however, for it may prevent the enactment of some laws inimical to the best interests of business, such, for instance, as legislation antagonistic to the railroads.

COMPROMISE TAX BILL

"The Longworth compromise tax bill passed by the House differs essentially from the carefully drawn plan proposed by Secretary Mellon. A serious defect of the bill is the proposal to continue the higher surtaxes which are so high as to discourage business enterprise and restrict the Treasury's income. Moderately progressive rates are almost universally recognized as an essential feature of an equitable income tax system. Many close students of tax problems insist that our lawmakers should recognize that rates which yield a smaller aggregate revenue than would be collected under a more moderate schedule are indefensible, and injure all who directly or indirectly bear the expenses of government. For in the long run, of the taxes that are collected, people with moderate incomes pay a larger share than they would pay if tax-exempt investments were not unduly enlarged.

"The passage of a soldier bonus bill by the House, after the adoption of a revenue measure which, without any increase in expenditures, would fail to provide the Treasury with sufficient income, is further evidence of the prevailing cross purposes in Congress."

SHORT COVERING BOOSTS COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, April 2.—The cotton futures list advanced sharply in the afternoon trading on the New York Cotton Exchange today. Heavy short covering by the West and New Orleans was responsible for the advance, but trade interest also bought extensively. To a large extent buying was based on a rumor that the English bank rate would be reduced tomorrow together with the good undertone displayed in early trading. Trade and local bull interests, however, absorbed all cotton sold in the forenoon when the list got down only some 30 points under the previous closing. Demand improved gradually in the afternoon and prices at the close were just under the best and ranged from 21 to 62 points net higher. Spot cotton closed 60 points net higher at 29.10.

New Silk Mills Stimulate Home Industry; Mortgage Company in Important Deal

Los Angeles Harbor will shortly take her place among the leading silk-importing ports of the nation.

"What the silk industry will mean to Los Angeles Harbor in the near future can be readily seen from a recent Seattle news dispatch," said E. J. Young, president of the Golden State Silk Mills, Inc., now rapidly reaching completion at Hermosa Beach.

"According to this information," Mr. Young declared yesterday, "raw silk brought to Seattle from Japan in 1923 required 800 express cars, or a train of more than six miles in length, to move it to New York and New Jersey silk mills. The total value of the silk receipts at Seattle, the item stated, were $231,000,000. The steamship President Jefferson recently arrived at Seattle with a silk cargo valued at more than $4,000,000.

"With the start of silk manufacture by the Hermosa Beach mills, the first on the Pacific Coast about July 15, the importation of silk through the Los Angelec Harbor will begin. All of the raw silk will come through our local port and will be transported by truck to Hermosa Beach. The total value will reach millions of dollars each year. The local silk mills will start with 200 looms."

Mr. Young commented on the action of the Worlds Traders of Los Angeles in devoting a recent dinner meeting to the formation of plans for making Los Angeles the chief silk distributing point of the the United States and expressed the opinion that the people of Southern California and the Pacific Southweste would be astounded with the growth of raw-silk importation within a comparatively few months.

The present units of the Golden State Silk Mills, Inc. at Hermosa Beach, which will be completed about June 1, consist of two twin buildings for the weaving and throwing plants, with dimensions of 66x220, a dye plant, 60x168, and a three-story office building, 30x48, with concrete and steel vaults for the safe keeping of the valuable raw silk. Other units will be constructed later on additional ground just purchased.

AN IMPORTANT DEAL

Judge D. R. Weller, president of the United Mortgage and Loan Corporation, with offices in the Van Nuys Building, announced yesterday the completion of negotiations whereby Metzler & Co. of California become general managers of his company under a long-term operating contract, and the offices will be transferred to the Metzler quarters, 727 South Spring street.

In making the above announcement Judge Weller stated that the United Mortgage and Loan Corporation, which was organized in 1919, had grown steadily until today its resources are over $1,000,000, and that it was thought advisable at this time to have the active management, subject to their control, in the hands of an experienced organization equipped to handle the many problems of a company of this size.

"We have built up the company," the judge said, "to a point where it will take all of the time of a good-sized organization to turn over the mortgages purchased from time to time with the company's funds and in the agreement we have negotiated with Metzler & Co. of California, we feal that our earnings will be considerably increased without any corresponding increase in overhead.

The directors of the United Mortgage and Loan Corporation are:

D. R. Weller, formerly judge of the Court of Appeals; Walter Durgin, vice-president California Bank; W. J. Dodd of the firm of Dodd & Richards, architects; William L. Smith, retired; H. A. Zuber, formerly of the California Title Insurance Co.; Charles H. Holmes, retired.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

An undertone of conservative optimism pervades the business community of the Pacific Southwest as a result of the heavy rains during the last week of March, is the statement made in the Monthly Summary of Conditions in the Pacific Southwest, compiled by the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First Securities Company, and released for publication today. While the precipitation was not sufficient to provide a normal seasonal rainfall, the report continues, it came at a very auspicious time for many agricultural producers, and has materially improved the prospects for agricultural output, easier credits and a revival of business turnover. In spite of these improvements a not of caution is still evident in business commitments and no rapid expansion in activities can be expected during the next few months.

Agricultural conditions generally have improved during March, due to intermittent showers during the porepart of the month, and heavy rains during the last week. In many districts where the rains did not come sufficiently early to permit a normal planting of field crops a slight tightness of credit is evident, but as a whole the situation should be relieved.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK

Agricultural production will undoubtedly be larger than was feared would be the case a month ago. The prospects for the 1924 fruit, nut and vegetable crops are distinctly better and the live-stock outlook will be somewhat improved with the new growth of feed on the ranges. The possibility of a shortage of water for irrigation and power purposes is partly alleviated, although the exact situation will not be known until the Railroad Commission's report is available. A material increase in cotton acreage in the Pacific-Southwest is assured, but it is evident that production of the bean, sugar beet and grain crops will be far from normal.

The markets for agricultural products as a rule have remained firm or have strengthened during March. Citrus prices, while influenced by unsettled weather conditions throughout the East, became stronger during the closing days of the month. The dried and canned fruit markets are steady and carryovers are being constantly reduced. Bean prices have continued at high levels and the vegetable markets have been firm or advancing.

Although the live-stock industry will benefit from the recent precipitation, there is little likelihood of sufficient feed to finish fat cattle this year on the ranges in Southern California. Supplies of finished live stock in the Pacific-Southwest for California markets during the next few months will be light, and higher markets on finished products are expected.

NOTE OF CAUTION

Production and distribution of goods has proceeded cautiously during Mrach, and the volume of output while large will probably not exceed the February level. Retail sales improved during the closing week, although sluggish during the earlier part of the month. Wholesale trade has not changed appreciably from that of the preceding month. Industrial output proceeded at previous levels but with a tendency toward slackening. Building permits were large in Los Angeles city, but construction and real estate activity throughout the territory is definitely less than in previous months. The petroleum industry has largely marked time awaiting the development of new fields.

The banking position of the Pacific-Southwest is practically unchanged from that of a month ago. The demand for credit has strengthened somewhat and interest rates have remained strong. Deposits have held up well, with only minor evidences of lower levels in the agricultural communities.

In general, however, the stimulating effects of the rainfall have tended to materially reduce the somewhat excessive amount of pessimism which has been evident in some quarters and while 1924 will probably be primarily a year of economic adjustment, the present situation gives increasing evidence as to the basic soundness of the economic structure of the Pacific-Southwest.

LOCAL FINANCING

The outstanding issues in the local market were $2,500,000 Los Angeles Lumber Products Company first lien and collateral trust sinking fund 7½ per cent gold bonds offered by a Los Angeles syndicate, and $14,000,000 Southern California Edison Company refunding mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds which were marketed through the investment markets of the country.

The banking position of the Pacific-Southwest is approximately on a parity with that of a month ago. Tax payments have called for important sums of commercial deposits but have not materially affected the credit situation. Deposits, while not expanding, have tended to hold up well, with only minor evidence of recessions. The reduction in realty transfers has naturally been reflected in reduced escrow business.

The demand for credit has strengthened somewhat and interest rates have remained strong, with some evidence of a tendency toward stiffening. In spite of this, it becomes increasingly evident that there is sufficient credit available for legitimate demands within this territory without recourse to outside financing of current operations, providing a careful credit policy is maintained and there is no transfer of an excessive amount of commercial credits into speculative operations.

Steel Outlook Is Puzzling to Trade Experts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, April 2.—"Elements of strength are curiously mingled with those of weakness in the steel market, leaving the future outlook more puzzling and uncertain," says Iron Trade. "Strong points come from the continued high rate of production which apparently truly registers underlying consumption. On the unfavorable side is the absence of comparable bank logs of unshipped business compelling producers to rely upon the current inflow of tonnage to sustain their operations. This makes for a condition of erratic prices and an absence of firm confidence. After high production in March, during which the Gary works established a new tonnage record for men hereto and the trend now is slightly lower. Several blast furnaces were blown out or banked this week.

"Pig iron production in March reached a daily average of 110,832 tons compared with 105,907 tons in February, a gain of 4.6 per cent over February and 18 per cent over December, the low point. The March average represents 89 per cent of the record figure of last May. Total production in March was 3,435,813 tons against 3,072,165 tons in February. Six more furnaces were active in March. The number active at the end of March was 269.

"The market has been filled with rumors this week of impending announcements of price reductions on finished steel by the leading producers. So far these have proved unfounded and indications are that some larger interests are not inclined to consider such action at this time because of the steady way in which new tonnage is coming out. Railroad buying of equipment is less prominent but is well maintained in miscellaneous fields. Bridge inquiries and awards are heavier, totaling 29,000 tons. The Southern Pacific Railroad will buy 140,000 tons of rails. The automobile situation presents a mixed front. Various builders have made an appreciable cut to their April production schedules; on the other hand a considerable group of builders is maintaining its output. The season's low ore price is still undetermined. Sellers of pig iron say they have not experienced as stagnant condition of buying in many years, but shipments are large and with some furnaces exceed production."

The Iron Trade composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products this week is $44.91, compared to $43.13 last week and $45.31 for March, 1923.

SILVER MEN TO DEMAND ACTION

Want Government to Resume Purchase of Metal

Annual Statements by Steel and Utility Companies

March Earnings Reported; Gold Mine Activity

Further agitation among the silver men to induce the Treasury to purchase domestic silver at $1 an ounce, as the Pittman Act provided, has resulted, according to eastern dispatches, in the calling of a meeting in Salt Lake City of the large silver producers of the country. Other protective measures are expected to come up for consideration at the meeting, among them being the completion of the organization to be known as the Silver Export Association.

The proposals provide that the United States Treasury purchase 14,589,730 ounces of silver and 29,000,000 silver dollars under the Pittman Silver Purchasing Act. The previous Pittman Act, which expired last fall, brought prosperous times to the silver producing districts of the West, and any resumption of such arrangements will, in the opinion of the silver men, materially assist such mining sections as the Randsburg, near Bakersfield, and the fields adjacent to Tonopah, in Nevada.

The producers take the position that the United States Treasury must pay for the silver at $1 an ounce under the old Pittman Act. The silver dollars were those used, it was said, to break the market for the metal in China when it sold above $1.30 an ounce. The dollars were supplied by the New York Federal Reserve Bank to banks with branches in the Far East, and it is alleged that the step was not only detrimental to the interests of the silver producers, but that the Federal Reserve Bank acted without authority, since subsequently it was brought out that the Pittman Act does not confer such authority. The producers would require the Treasury to repurchase and recoin the dollars so used.

As for the silver metal, the 14,589,730 ounces were originally allocated for subsidiary silver coin under the same act by the Secretary of the Treasury. Later this order was revoked and the silver treated as a "loan" to be returned. The producers will demand that this metal be repurchased.

W. Mont Ferry is chairman of the silver producers' organization committee and will call the meeting. Cornelius F. Kelly, president of the Anaconda Copper Company, is head of the producers' fact-finding committee, which will report at the meeting.

STEEL EARNINGS

Net profits of the Superior Steel Corporation for the year ended December 31, 1923, were $734,878.85, which were equal after the deduction of dividends on the preferred stocks of $196,404, to $8.97 on the outstanding common stock. The year, according to President R. Edson Emery, was especially profitable for the corporation, and it received its portion of the heavy tonnage of business booked by the steel companies as a whole.

After the payments of dividends on the first and second preferred stocks, the corporation increased its surplus account by the sum in excess of $400,000. This result was also after the payment of $165,000 for sinking fund purposes, and a write-off for depreciation of $129,-001.44.

President Emery states in his report to the stockholders that the tonnage of business booked in the last half of the year was not as large as the tonnage booked during the first half, although operations of the plant were maintained to a very considerable percentage of capacity during the entire year. "The present demand for our products," he says, "is fairly strong and indications are that this demand will continue for at least six months."

MARCH EARNINGS

Net earnings of Whiting Finance Company for the month of March were at the annual rate of more than $20 per share of preferred stock after liberal reserve for taxes, and other contingencies. Actual earnings on the average amount of preferred stock outstanding for the twelve months ended March 31, 1924, were $20.78 per share. After allowing for the 8 per cent dividends on preferred stock, the amount remaining available for the common stock was equal to $4.79 per share. The common stock was placed on a $2 annual dividend basis last December. Before that time the rate was $1 per share per annum.

Whiting Finance Company, engaged in discounting automobile sales contracts, is headed by Dwight Whiting, president, who is vice-president of Union Oil Associates and chairman of the executive committee of the Bank of America.

NEW MILL

The Standard Gold Mine Company near Mojave has placed its new 100-ton ball mill into operation, according to an announcement made yesterday by W. H. Tharpe, general manager of the company.

With the installation of this new mill the Standard Gold Mine begins actual daily production. During the past few years the Standard mine has been put in shape and new ore blocked out now below the 900-foot level is said to insure operation of the mill for some time.

The old Exposed Treasure mine, part of the Standard holdings, has produced between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000. The free milling ore contains both gold and silver.

UTILITY EARNINGS

The Kansas City Power & Light Company reports through Blyth, Witter & Co. gross earnings for the twelve months ended Feb. 29, 1924, as $8,996,834, as compared with $8,114,043 for the twelve months preceding. Net earnings after taxes were $4,581,105, an increase of $606,011 over the twelve monis ended February 28, 1923. Surplus after charges and amortization was $3,234,631, against $2,-612,246. The balance available for depreciation after first preferred dividends was $2,534,259, an increase of $420,711.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

J. H. Thomas, a member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, was elected yesterday a director of the B. and H. Circuit, Inc., the company which owns the new Forum Theater now being erected at Pico and Norton streets at the cost of $1,000,000. Mr. Thomas also was made treasurer of the corporation.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Buoyant Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Responding to lower money rates and reports that Senate action on the tax reduction measure would be expedited, bond prices displayed material improvement as trading expanded today. Liberty bonds, in which there was a revival of activity led all standard investment issues into higher ground.

The rally of the French franc to above 6 cents stimulated buying of French bonds, the governmental 8s attained a new high level for the year at 99 and most of the municipal issues registered substantial gains. Other foreign obligations were firm.

An 8-point break in Wickwire Spencer 7s was attributed to speculative activities. With a narrow market prevailing in the bonds, a relatively small volume of offerings thrown on the market toward the close was sufficient to depress the price at one time to 51. Officials of the company said that interest requirements had been more than earned in 1923 and also in the first quarter of this year.

Improvement in the earnings of the Erie Railroad last year, as shown in the annual report today, contributed to an upward movement in the company's bonds, with gains comparing favorably to those of the St. Paul issues, which again held leadership of the rails.

Local bankers were awarded $2,285,000 twenty-thirty-year 4½ per cent improvement bonds of the Territory of Hawaii, which will be sold around par. Offering is expected shortly of about $5,000,000 Northern States Power 6s and other public utility issues.

Following are closing quotations on bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange, furnished by Logan & Bryan, 634 South Spring street:

NEW YORK CURB

Upward Movement

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, April 2.—Stock prices continued to forge upward today in the curb market, with sharp gains taking place in some of the high priced oil shares. A slightly broadening tendency was noted, particularly in the speculative issues.

A sudden burst of activity and strength in New Mexico Land, which touched a new 1924 high at 10, featured the oil group. Gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by Prairie Oil and Gas, Bumble, Ohio Oil and Standard of Kansas, while Borne & Scrymser, Chesbrough Manufacturing, Standard Oils of Nebraska and Ohio, and Cowen & Finch jumped 4 to 9 points.

Few changes of importance took place in the industrial group, American Light and Traction and Durant Motors being among the few outstanding strong issues.

Chief interest in the mining group centered in the newly listed Kay Copper Corporation stock, nearly 25,000 shares of which changed hands between 1 and 1 3-16.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 634 South Spring street.

Making Profits and Keeping Them

The profits of a business depend largely upon the efficient use of the capital employed.

In a small business this responsibility can be successfully shouldered by one or two men. The larger the business the more widely should this responsibility be divided throughout various departments of manufacturing and selling.

Yet it is a common occurrence for executives who follow this procedure carefully in their own business to invest in the securities of other corporations without any accurate knowledge of the uses to which their capital is put.

Business men and bankers in all parts of the United States are depending upon Moody's Investors Service to guide them in their selection and to keep them advised thereafter.

"Constructive Investing" is the title of a booklet we have issued. A copy is available to every interested investor.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Enthusiasm predicated on the favorable lease concluded with the Standard Oil Company for the drilling of 1000 acres owned by the Los Angeles Investment swept the stock of the latter company to unprecedented levels yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Opening sales were at 4.00, an advance of 39 cents over the final price of Tuesday, and at the high of 4.15, the stock was up 54 cents above the previous day. The closing quotation dropped back to 3.87 on profit taking by traders who had acquired the shares at lower prices in the past few days.

The activity in Los Angeles Investment practically excluded other stocks from the floor. Among the oils, U. S. Royalties sold up to 37 and finished at 26 cents, and United Oil was taken at 29 1-4. General Petroleum common moved up 1-4 to 41 5-8.

Tom Reed opened at 37 and fell back to 34½ at the close. Richmond Consolidated was well received around 14½ cents, and Lucky Boy sold at 1½.

Bond buyers took Los Angeles Railway 5s of 1940 at 76 5-8, up 5-8 of a point. Western States Gas 5s of 1941 sold up 3-4 to 91 and Pacific Electric 5s of 1942 moved forward 1-4 to 86 1-4.

Grains Resume Advance; Corn Takes the Lead

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, April 1.—Grain markets continued on the upgrade, although slightly under at the start. As was the case Tuesday, corn attracted the most attention and at the top May was 79¼, or 4¼ over the low of last week. Above 79 commission houses turned sellers and there was also profit-taking by local bulls who bought on the recent break. The finish was at best prices for the day with May ¼ under July against 1 under Monday. Wheat was up ¾, oats ¼@⅜ and rye ⅛ to ¼.

Reports that charters had been made to move out 1,000,000 bushels of corn from here and Milwaukee with nearly 1,000,000 bushels already loaded at the latter point, in addition to July operations booked to go out from Duluth, with receipts of only twenty-nine cars here had a bullish effect on values. May finished at 77⅞ to 79. July at 75¼ to 75¾, and September at 73¼.

Country offerings of corn to arrive are light and few of the leading operating houses were credited with having only about a dozen cars in transit. Dry grain is steadily gaining on the May with 3c. 3 Yellow on spot selling at ½ to ⅝ over the future.

Interest in wheat is not large, and the market is easily influenced by any good buying or selling. May finished at 1.43¾, July at 1.39⅞@1.40, and September at 1.34⅝. December sold between 1.37 and 1.37⅛ and closed at 1.37⅝. There was some selling here, presumably against purchases at Winnipeg by operators, but there was nothing in the general run of news to indicate any enthusiastic buying or selling.

Foreign demand continues relatively slow with sales of 400,000 bushels Manitobas. Owing to liberal charters for wheat to France being discussed at the seaboard there were intimations that that country had been buying under cover. Favorable crop reports continue to come from the Southwest. Milling demand here has improved with sales of 170,000 bushels, including 30,000 bushels No. 2 red to a local mill, and there was 200,000 bushels hard winter sold to go to Ohio.

Oats showed more activity with consolidation houses buying July. The May, however, led the advance and closed at 41¾. Private reports from Illinois showed no rise in oats, although under normal conditions it should have been practically completed as far north as Springfield, Ill., by April 1. Receipts, twenty-two cars.

Rye market was dull, but steadily firmer in sympathy with wheat. Export sales at the seaboard were estimated at 30,000 bushels. The market is waiting for some new influence.

Here is the Reason Why Los Angeles Has Many Beautiful Women

Los Angeles—"I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines; they have been a great help to me. While passing through the critical period of life, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gave me the only relief I had. I became very thin, was all rundown, weak and extremely nervous. I was on the verge of nervous prostration and suffered with all the discomforts that women have at middle age, but after taking the 'Prescription' for a time I was well and strong. I regained my weight and just felt fine."—Mrs. H. M. Ricks, 759 E. 12th St.

Obtain now from your neighborhood druggist Dr. Pierce's family remedies—tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.—[Advertisement.

TRY THIS ON YOUR CATARRH

Ordinary methods of treating catarrh are failures simply because they do not reach the affected areas. You're got to heal those raw, tender spots that are hidden away where liquids and sprays never touch them. The best and most effective method is to inhale the vapor of "Deo" each night and morning.

Gently heat a spoonful of "Deo" in a tin plate and draw in deep breaths of the pleasant, soothing vapor. This penetrates every nook and corner, destroying germs and gradually healing inflamed membranes. Right away you will begin to feel better. Hawking and spitting will lessen and your head will be clearer.

"Deo" is the trade name of Dennis' Eucalyptus Ointment— composed entirely of antiseptic, healing oils. Sold in 50c jars or tubes by leading druggists everywhere. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. Dennis Eucalyptus Ointment Co., makers, Berkeley, Cal.—[Advertisement.

NERVOUS, RUN-DOWN MOTHERS

Worn Out Caring for Children and Housework—See how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"I was in a very nervous and run-down condition while nursing my baby, and hearing some talk of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began taking it. From the second bottle I noticed a big improvement, and I am still taking it. I am not a bit nervous now, and feel like a different person. It is a great medicine, for any one in a nervous, run-down condition and I would be glad to give any one advice about taking it. I think there is no better medicine and give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. ANNA SMITH, 541 W. Norwood St., Indianapolis, Indiana.

The important thing about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is that it does help women suffering from the ailments common to their sex.

If you are nervous and run-down and have pains in your lower parts and in your back, remember that the Vegetable Compound has relieved other women having the same symptoms. For sale by druggists everywhere.

W. A. BONYNGE, BANKER, DEAD

Financier Fatally Stricken at Office

Cerebral Hemorrhage Cause of Sudden Demise

Numerous Positions Filled by Capitalist of City

Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage as he sat at a meeting of the directors of the Bank of Italy in the office in the Bank of Italy building yesterday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, W. A. Bonynge, prominent Los Angeles banker for more than twenty years, died without regaining consciousness or uttering any of his family who were with his side.

The financier had left his seat at the table to speak to Cecil B. DeMille, prominent motion-picture producer and a director of the bank, when he was stricken. He dropped to the floor unconscious and expired fifteen minutes after Dr. A. S. Granger had made a futile effort to revive him.

EXTREMELY ACTIVE

The dead banker, although 70 years of age, was remarkably active and enjoyed the best of health until the last three weeks. At the time of his death he was recovering from a cold which attacked him approximately three weeks ago but he was improved to the extent that his death was totally unexpected.

W. A. Bonynge was born in England and came to the United States at the age of 19. He was established within a short time after his majority. He amassed a fortune at Virginia City, Nev., in the days of the gold excitement there and moved to Los Angeles several years later after having engaged in the insurance business for a number of years at San Antonio, Tex.

As a financier he assisted in the organization of the Old Traders National Bank, the Home Building and Loan Association, the Commercial National Bank and the National Banks of Riverside and Bakersfield. He was a director of the Golden State Bank of Anaheim and vice-president and director of the Bank of Italy, in addition to holding official positions in the other institutions enumerated. He had been engaged actively in the banking business here for twenty-seven years. He was a pioneer in the establishing of agency or branch banks in connection with a national bank.

Mr. Bonynge leaves a widow, Mrs. Margaret Bonynge; two sons, Dr. C. W. Bonynge, 419 South Commonwealth avenue, and W. A. Bonynge, Jr., a banker of Altadena, and five grandchildren.

He recently purchased the old Andrew McNally estate at Altadena, where he planned to spend the remainder of his life. The body is at Pierce Brothers awaiting funeral arrangements.

Mexican Tax on Fishing to be Adjusted

A protest by local and Long Beach fish canneries on what they declared was overtaxation by the Mexican authorities on catches of American fishing boats off the Coast of Lower California brought Fish Commissioner Lyons from the Mexican border yesterday, where an authority had been sent to San Jose del Cabo to correct the situation.

The tax collected, it was declared, was $20.45 a ton, whereas it should have been approximately $10. The fishing interests that protested the so-called high tax declared that they would be forced to withdraw from the Mexican waters unless the tax was reduced, a move that would have resulted in a heavy curtailment of the output of the beach canneries.

CLEAR SKY AFTERMATH OF STORMS

Los Angeles Gets .34 of an Inch Precipitation; Valley Threatened

Showers which brought .34 of an inch of rain to Los Angeles and fell generally throughout Southern California Tuesday night and early yesterday morning were followed by clear weather yesterday as the storm moved eastward.

According to reports late yesterday fair weather prevailed all through the Southland with the exception of the San Joaquin Valley where in some districts lowering skies gave promise of more rain last night.

The storm visited all sections of Southern California with the exception of the Imperial Valley. Precipitation varied widely, however, some sections receiving but a few hundredths of an inch of rain while others were presented with more than an inch. San Bernardino and Redlands reported the highest figures, gauges in the first city registering 1.66 inches and in the latter 1.01. Santa Monica and other bay district cities were the least favored, but .10 of an inch falling there.

Fair weather for last night and today was forecast by United States Weather Bureau officials for Southern California.

As a part of this campaign 20,000 "white spot" buttons will be distributed to those interested in the greater Los Angeles movement.

Preliminary arrangements were made to interest every luncheon club in California in the drive. Additional stickers for automobiles displaying a large white spot on a blue field with the slogan of "Keep the White Spot White" are to be distributed by the thousand. Radio and motion pictures may also be used in the advertising drive.

BANNING CONFESSES TO ASTOUNDING FAKERY

President of Revolution's Sons Admits Manufacturing Tale of Huge Franklin Prize

BY CHARLES SLOAN

Pierson W. Banning, president of the Society, Sons of the Revolution, author of several books, scion of patriots and long prominent in Los Angeles, yesterday confessed to Times reporters that he manufactured out of whole cloth the tale which recently brought him world-wide fame—to wit, that he had been awarded the first prize of 2500 pounds sterling from the "Benjamin Franklin Fund of London" for his scientific achievements.

He further admitted that he had manufactured the story of a miraculous resurrection from the dead of a woman at Albany, N. Y., through the influence of his book, the same volume which was supposed to have won the Franklin award.

He said he did it as a joke—in order to win a bet.

The confession came shortly after Banning had returned to his office from the Federal Building, where for some hours he had been questioned by Postoffice Inspector Webster regarding a postoffice box asserted to have been procured under a fictitious name to carry out the "joke."

In his statement, which was at first made verbally and then reduced to writing, Banning admitted that the much-heralded "Benjamin Franklin Fund" and its "awards" had been concocted by him as an international publicity scheme; that he had used the names of Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz and Dr. Fugicachi Omori of Tokio, both world-renowned scientists, as the grantees of lesser awards without authority; and that his published statement that his book had been presented to the fund trustees by the late Dr. Franklin C. Wells, then medical director of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York, was false. All three of the men quoted died before the first of this year; they were not alive when the Banning story was first published.

POSTOFFICE INTERESTED

Banning further admitted that the story which he had had printed and sent broadcast that one "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham," representing the trustees of the "Franklin Fund," had called him to the Alexandria Hotel and there made the announcement of the awards—this announcement later being made public through the press—was conceived by himself and that it has no basis in fact; that Lloyd-Gresham is a mythical personality. And, in this connection, it was learned yesterday that the Federal investigation is based upon the genuineness of a signature of "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham" attached to an application for a postoffice box on January 2, last, and attested by both Mr. Banning and an employee in his office. In view of Mr. Banning's statement that Lloyd-Gresham is a myth; his signature cannot be genuine.

The "seedy stranger" named "Dr. D. Phan" who Banning had previously said was responsible for much of the misleading publicity about the book and the "Franklin Fund," was Banning himself, who personally wrote the Phan article. This evidence, together with proof that Banning had ordered, corrected the proofs of, accepted and paid for the questioned circular, had been in the hands of Times reporters for several days.

Banning also admitted the falsity of the story sent to the press from his office of a "miraculous resurrection" which supposedly occurred in the County Hospital at Albany, in which a woman student of Mr. Banning's book "Mental and Spiritual Healing, All Schools and Methods" was able to restore life to a woman patient who had just died.

STORY OF INVESTIGATION

The account of the investigation of Banning and his methods of operation were first printed by The Times last Sunday morning. In this article was given the text of a criticism printed in the issue of March 29 of the Journal of the American Medical Association, the leading medical publication of the United States, and in which Banning's claims were challenged. Immediately upon receipt of the medical journal article, Times reporters took it to Banning for explanation. It was at that time that Banning told at length of his interviews with Lloyd-Gresham and Phan, the seedy-looking stranger.

"TO WIN A BET"

Bannings ascribed the whole plot, in which were spent several hundreds of dollars on his part and which has resulted in an international investigation in which were concerned the Federal government, the American Medical Association, the British Medical Society and several newspapers, to a desire to win a wager which he says was made eighteen months ago with a Los Angeles business man.

This business man, who has been interviewed by The Times, but

MYTHICAL FUND CONFESSION MADE

April 2, 1924

To Whom It May Concern:

For the past several days there has been extant an enormous amount of publicity matter concerning an award supposedly made some by the Benjamin Franklin Fund of London, which drew forth attacks on my book.

At this time, feeling that the purpose which I have been striving for has been achieved, I am making public the following facts:

About eighteen months ago a Los Angeles business man, whose name has been given to the newspapers but which is withheld from publication, and myself, made a wager that before 1925 I could concoct a story which would receive international publicity.

In the summer of 1923, I wrote my book: "Mental and Spiritual Healing; All Schools and Methods; A Textbook for Physicians and Metaphysicians." This book was a serious effort on my part; in its origin, inscribing and publication I had no thought of hoaxing the public. But, after its publication, I saw, or thought I saw, a chance to win my wager.

After the publication of the book I wrote and had printed various press circulars, some of which was signed by the name of Dr. P. Phan, which were sent out widely through the country. One of these circulars told of a supposedly miraculous resurrection in Albany.

Later I met an old friend of mine named Gresham, whom I met while I was a student at the Lake Forest, Ill., Academy.

While reading some volume the name of which I have forgotten, I learned that Benjamin Franklin was greatly interested in mental healing.

As days passed by, the thought came to me of the Benjamin Franklin Fund. Mr. Gresham had told me that he had met Dr. Franklin C. Wells of New York City a short time before, who, in mentioning my name as from Lake Forest, referred to this book which I had recently written.

Several days ago I intended to make this whole thing public. I did not, because I could not get in touch with the man with whom I had made the wager. I met him today.

There is, of course, no Benjamin Franklin Fund of London. There were no awards made by it, for it is not in existence as I clearly state. There is no "Robert Lloyds-Gresham" or representative of the trustees. There never was any Dr. P. Phan. The press matter relating to the Albany resurrection was also a myth. Anything and everything I have said to the contrary was done so in my attempt to carry this thing along. The whole affair was very carefully planned.

[redacted] I think that after this full and free explanation on my part that the public and my friends will understand that this whole thing was in the spirit of a joke.

Pierson W Banning

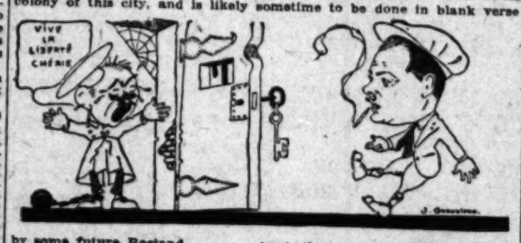
HIS HIGH "C" FOILS JAIL KEY

M. Bois de Chene Rocks Police Station With Heinous Aria and is Evicted to Forestall Cataclysm

How Jean Bois de Chene, hotel cook, sang himself out of the City Jail day before yesterday is a matter that is agitating the Franco-Swiss colony of this city, and is likely sometime to be done in blank verse by some future Rostand.



M. Bois de Chene is one of the most prominent (there is no most prominent) Swiss of Southern California. At present he is chef grand rotisseur de l'Ambassador, which, translated, means that he cooks roast beef at Mr. Frank's boarding-house out in the Wilshire district.

It is recalled vividly by all French-speaking residents how M. Bois de Chene arrived some years back in Los Angeles. He was met at the station by several pastry cooks, whom he had telegraphed from Yuma. One of the first things M. Bois de Chene asked was why the Swiss consul was not there to greet him. When told there was no Swiss consul at this port, M. Bois de Chene spoke a line that should rank with the sayings of Napoleon and Louis XV. He said:

"No Swiss consul here. Allons! I am the Swiss consul."

M. Bois de Chene at once called on all the foreign consuls and on the editor of "L'Union Nouvelle." He remained the de facto consul until the Berne government was so inconsiderate as to appoint a consul here.

It was none else but this distinguished person who was picked up on North Spring street by a policeman. At the time M. Bois de Chene was driving his automo-

SELECT SITE OF LARGEST APARTMENT

Builders Choose Corner of Highland, Sycamore to Erect Structure

A three-acre tract located at the intersection of Highland and Sycamore avenues, Hollywood, has been selected as the site for a proposed 2000-room own-your-own-apartment structure to be built by the El Encanto Apartments, Inc., it was revealed yesterday by Thomas Ball, attorney for the project. Organization of the building company was announced several days ago when incorporation papers were approved by the Secretary of State.

The contemplated structure is to be built at a cost of more than $5,000,000 under the supervision of E. P. Lewis, local designer. According to preliminary specifications, the apartment-house will be thirteen stories high, Class A and of reinforced concrete construction, arranged to contain 2000 rooms, a theater to contain 750 seats, garage, gymnasium, ballroom and other dwelling features.

If the apartment project is carried to completion, it will be the largest of its kind in the West, the building being 1000 rooms larger than the Biltmore and 400 rooms larger than the proposed hotel for West Seventh street. Temporary members of the board of directors include B. G. Hite, David D. Salles, David K. Johnston, C. S. Harrison, Charles L. Williamson, D. M. FitzGerald and Wayland A. Dunham.

POWER BUREAU IS ORDERED TO MAKE GOOD MISUSED FUNDS

Judge Butler Grants Petition of W. W. Mines to Compel Public Service Commission to Refund Public Money Spent for Political Purposes

The reckless misuse of taxpayers' money for political propaganda by the Municipal Power Bureau was officially halted by the courts yesterday when the Board of Public Service Commissioners was declared in a decision by Superior Court Judge Edward I. Butler to have spent illegally from public funds $12,415.15 for political purposes during the $35,000,000 power-bond campaign last spring. Judge Butler granted the petition of W. W. Mines, as a taxpayer, asking that the commissioners be ordered to restore to the city treasury for the benefit of taxpayers the money spent from power revenues for political campaigning. In other words, Judge Butler upheld the contention of Mr. Mines that the Power Bureau revenues should not be spent for "jazz" bands, marcel waves for young women, thousands of circulars calling the opponents of the power bonds "Boulder Dam liars" and similar forms of political propaganda. The decision means that the officials who authorized the misuse of these public funds for political campaigning must dig down into their own pockets and make up the $12,415.15 itemized in the Mines complaint and replace it in the City Treasury.

The decision of Judge Butler is a terrific blow to the Power Bureau, and particularly to Commissioner John R. Haynes and Special Counsel W. B. Mathews, as the bureau had stoutly contested the Mines case before Judge Butler. They admitted spending the money, but attempted to justify it. The court in its decision swept aside their attempted explanations and declared in effect that the commission is bound, under the charter, to expend power revenues only for the administration and extension of the property itself and not for political purposes.

When the suit of Mr. Mines as a taxpayer was filed last August, Judge Butler, whose home is in San Rafael, was holding court here as a visiting judge, and to him was assigned the Mines case. The court received the original complaint of Mr. Mines setting forth, item by item, the expenditures of the Power Bureau for power-bond campaigning, and including quotations from the campaign literature and, in some cases, photographic copies of some of the circulars issued by the bureau at the public expense to secure votes for the $35,000,000 power-bond issue. The attorneys for Mr. Mines, who were Carroll Allen and Hunsaker, Britt & Cosgrove, had selected from the long list of campaign expenditures only those items which were typical of the different kinds of propaganda put out by the public-service department during the campaign. Had the complete list been submitted, together with estimates of the lost time of city employees who did campaign work for the bureau, it is believed the total would have reached $100,000.

The city through Special Counsel Mathews filed its answer admitting all of the allegations of fact set forth in the Mines complaint, admitted that it had spent public funds to employ jazz bands, printers, hairdressers, sign painters and other handlers of publicity, but said that these expenses were a justifiable charge against the power revenues. The admission of the correctness of all of the statements of fact set forth in the Mines complaint was a victory for Mr. Mines at the start of the case, and caused Attorneys Allen and Hunsaker, Britt and Cosgrove to ask the court for a judgment "on the pleadings" or that the court, without taking testimony or considering anything but the complaint of Mr. Mines and the answer of the Power Bureau, hand down a decision in favor of Mr. Mines and the thousands of other Los Angeles taxpayers and order the Public Service Commissioners, the City Auditor, the City Treasurer and other officials of the city to replace in the city treasury the $12,415.15 which had been illegally expended.

This request by Mr. Mines's attorneys for a "judgment upon the pleadings" was granted in the order of Judge Butler, notice of which was received in the Superior Court here yesterday in a note from Judge Butler which said briefly that in the case of Mines against the Public Service Commissioners and other city officials the order of the court was that the plaintiff's (Mines's) petition for a judgment upon the pleadings had been granted.

It is assumed that the city, through Special Counsel W. B. Mathews, will appeal the case to

LEAGUES OF GROCERS HIT AS ILLEGAL

Government Files Suit Against State Bodies in Antitrust Law

Conspiracy to violate the Sherman antitrust law was charged against leading wholesale grocery concerns of California in two injunction suits filed by the government yesterday with the United States District Court. The actions are in equity and seek dissolution of the Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association, the California Wholesale Grocers' Association, the National Wholesale Grocers' Association, the Southern California Association of Manufacturers' Representatives, and the Grocers' Friend, Inc.

The court is asked also to permanently enjoin defendant corporations, companies and individuals from conducting their business in compliance with rules asserted to constitute unfair means of restraining trade and maintaining prices. The two bills are similar as to general charges, and it is understood they may be combined for trial.

It is charged the defendants have conspired and are conspiring to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman antitrust law. One bill is filed against the State and national grocers' associations together with thirty companies and thirty-seven individuals. The other bill names as defendants the Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association, the Southern California Association of Manufacturers' Representatives, and the Grocers' Friend, Inc., together with nineteen companies and four individuals.

BEGAN YEAR AGO

According to Herbert N. Ellis of Los Angeles, and Henry A. Guiler of San Francisco, special assistants to the Attorney-General in charge of the prosecution, the investigation that resulted in the filing of the suits began a year ago. Complaints of excessive food prices, they said, came from individuals and from the so-called chain-store grocers. The latter are named in the bills as receiving prejudicial attention from the defendants.

The means by which the asserted conspiracy was promoted are set forth as follows in the bill brought against the California Wholesale Grocers' Association and others:

"Agreeing to fixing, establishing and maintaining the prices to be charged for said groceries and other like articles, uniform prices to be charged for said groceries and other like articles, terms, discounts, conditions and policies which should obtain with respect to the purchase, sale, disposal and delivery of said groceries and other like articles, uniform terms, discounts, conditions and policies which should obtain with respect to the purchase, sale, disposal and delivery of said groceries and other like articles."

The names of the defendant corporations and individuals follow: Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association.

M'ADOO FIRES OPENING GUN

Democratic Presidential Aspirant Hits Opponents in State and Belabors Republican Regime

Challenging his Democratic opponents in this State to reveal their motives, which he described as sinister and subject to invisible influences, and uttering a general defiance to the Republican party, which he charged with "exclusive responsibility" for governmental scandals at Washington, William G. McAdoo in Philharmonic Auditorium last night formally launched his camaign for the California delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

The auditorium was filled to capacity and several hundred men and women anxious to hear the former Secretary of the Treasury discuss "The Scandals of Washington" were turned away.

Mr. McAdoo pictured himself as opposing not only the Republican reactionaries, but as representing "the cause of progressive Democracy" in opposition to Wall street bosses, corrupt political bosses, big business and "a small reactionary element" within his own party. He attacked specifically such Republican measures as the Mellon tax-reduction program, the Fordney-McCumber tariff law and the Esch-Cummins law, and made a general indictment of the policies of the Republican administration.

Making no direct reference to his own connection with the oil scandal investigation, the Democratic Presidential candidate asserted that the oil and other Washington scandals are "exclusively Republican," and that "the effort to make the American people believe the scandal is bi-partisan is as unworthy as it is false."

Passing from criticism of the policies of the Republican administration, Mr. McAdoo sketchily outlined a number of his own campaign pledges, principal among them being his announcement that if elected President he will ask whose name has been withheld at his request admits that the wager was made. But, he says, he knew nothing as to what lengths Mr. Banning was going or of what methods he was using, to attain his aim. And he was at no time notified, he says, by Mr. Banning that the "Franklin Fund" and its associated statements were in connection with the wager. He found it out yesterday, he said, when Mr. Banning called on him and asked him if he remembered the bet, and asked him to write a letter which says, simply: "You win. When do we eat?" And to Times reporters, Mr. Banning admitted that he had no witnesses who could aver that the creation of the fund and the other fabrications was done with the idea of the wager in mind.

Banning Says He Fabricated Story of "Prize" and "Resurrection" to Win a Dinner Bet

SIGNED CONFESSION

The text of Mr. Banning's amazing statement follows:

"For the past several days there has been extant an enormous amount of publicity matter, concerning an award supposedly made by the Benjamin Franklin Fund of London, which drew forth attacks on my book.

"At this time, feeling that the purpose which I have been striving for has been achieved, I am making public the following facts:

"About eighteen months ago a Los Angeles business man, whose name has been given to the newspapers but which is withheld from publication, and myself, made a wager that before I could concoct a story which would receive international publicity.

"In the summer of 1923, I wrote my book; 'Mental and Spiritual Healing; All Schools and Methods; a Textbook for Physicians and Metaphysicians.' This book was a serious effort on my part to bring, inscribing and publication I had no thought of tweaking the public. But, after its publication, I saw, or thought I saw, a chance to win my wager.

"After the publication of the book I wrote and had printed various press circulars, one of which was signed by the name of Dr. Pban, which was sent out widely through the country. One of these circulars told of a supposedly miraculous 'resurrection in Albany.'

"Later I met an old friend of mine named Gresham, whom I met while I was a student at the Lake Forest, Ill., Academy. And while reading some volume, the name of which has forgotten, I learned that Benjamin Franklin was greatly interested in mental healing.

"As the days passed by the thought came to me of the Benjamin Franklin Fund. Mr. Gresham had told me that he had met Dr. Franklin C. Wells of New York City a short time before, who, in mentioning my name as from Lake Forest referred to this book which I had recently written.

"Several days ago I intended to make this whole thing public. I did not, because I could not get in touch with the man with whom I had made the wager. I met him today.

"There is, of course, no Benjamin Franklin Fund in London. There were no awards made by it, for it is not in existence as I described it. There is no 'Roberts Lloyd-Gresham' as a representative of the trustees. There never was any Dr. Pban. The press matter relating to the Albany resurrection also was a myth. Anything that everything I have said to the contrary was done so in my attempt to carry this thing along. I think that after this fall and free explanation on my part that the public and my friends will understand that this whole thing was in the spirit of a joke."

HIS HISTORY

Here is the Banning story, told briefly and chronologically, as it is taken from records in the possession of The Times:

Pierson W. Banning, a member of virtually all patriotic societies, president and trustee of the California State Branch, Society, Sons of the Revolution, and boasting of a lineage which dates back to 1632, was born in Chicago on September 13, 1879. He is a son of Ephraim Banning, one of the founders of the noted law firm of Banning & Banning, Chicago.

Banning says that his early education was obtained in Lake Forest, Ill., and Lawrenceville, N. J., and that he graduated from the Kent College of Law, Chicago. After some time in South America and in building construction work, he came to Los Angeles August 1, 1910. In 1914 he conducted a social survey for the Municipal League. From 1919 to the present year he has been appointed by the Mayor of Los Angeles on numerous minor civic committees. He identified himself many years ago with patriotic and commemorative war organizations here; during the war he was an active worker in volunteer intelligence services and in 1920 was named by the Governor of California a member of the War History Committee of California.

In the society, the Sons of the Revolution, California State branch, he has held almost every office. He claims authorship of many bills, some of which now are law, introduced in Congress and in the California State Senate for the furtherance of patriotism and the restriction of immigration.

In 1921, he wrote and published his first book, entitled "Maker, Man and Matter." It purported to be a history of the world up to the point where H. G. Wells started his "Outline of History" and from the conclusion of that book to the present time.

In 1922, his second volume, "Psychology, Superpsychology and Higher Phases," was published. This dealt with mental problems.

And, in 1923, the volume, "Spiritual and Mental Healing," in some 300 pages and a green cloth binding, saw the light of day in a little printshop on East Third street.

During the summer of 1923, according to evidence in possession of The Times, Banning sought to popularize his book by offering it for review to newspapers in the usual legitimate manner. Several papers, among them The Times, did so review the book. Clippings of these reviews were republished by Mr. Banning and used as advertisements.

MINISTER MISQUOTED

Those that did not review the volume were the recipient of two sheets of manilla paper on which were printed several extravagant statements. It was headed, "Some People Do Not Believe Adam Had Two Wives!" And in the descriptive matter we find the following sentences quoting Rev. D. A. Trundle, long a well-known divine on the Pacific Coast: "This is the finest exposition of facts ever written. I consider Dr. Banning the greatest living analyst today on the mind and mental action."

Dr. Trundle, in fact, did review Mr. Banning's book. He did write a letter approving it, with some reservations, to Mr. Banning. But the statements above were not in that letter. The Times has a carbon copy of it which had been saved by Dr. Trundle.

THE ALBANY FAKE

The next bit of publicity to appear related to the "resurrection at the Albany County Hospital." It consisted of four type written pages and purported to come from the Albany Chamber of Commerce. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, "It dealt with the most remarkable case in modern medical science" and "the story was to the effect that 'Dr. J. T. Everheart,' who was in charge of the County Hospital at Albany, had just announced that one Margaret Cooper, who died in the hospital, had been brought to life by a Mrs. Elizabeth Smith," just after Mrs. Smith had read Dr. Banning's book. And, to quote the same authority, "the bringing back to life of Miss Cooper had 'aroused Albany to a mob fever of investigation' and all of the Protestant churches and some of the Catholic churches had organized groups to study these startling healing methods."

Inasmuch as Dr. Banning, now admits that this story was a fabrication on his part, the tale of a long investigation by newspapers, the American Medical Association and the Albany, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce proving it false need hot be told here.

But even after the expose had been made—and up until last night, Banning had placed the blame for this episode in newsfaking on a "seedy-looking stranger" named Dr. D. Pban.

THE FRANKLIN FAKE

In January, 1924, newspapers here and abroad were recipients of notifications from a "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham" telling of the "Benjamin Franklin Fund," its asserted birth in 1759 with a donation of 100 pounds sterling from Franklin, and of how, this year, three awards were being made, one, the major award, for 2500 pounds sterling, to Banning for his book on mental and spiritual healing; the second for 1000 pounds sterling to Charles P. Steinmetz for a treatise on the nervous system as a conductor of electrical energy—a treatise which was never written; and the third for 500 pounds sterling to Fugachichi Omori of Tokio for an unpublished treatise on "The Rotary Knife in Surgery." The announcement created much comment in medical and scientific circles; it also received great publicity.

Immediately thereafter Banning started a gigantic campaign advertising his book on the strength of having received "the major award from the Benjamin Franklin Fund." His photographs and press matter and appeals to the public covered the nation—and several foreign countries.

THE "PBAN" MYTH

One of these was a circular signed by "Dr. D. Pban," and which characterized Mr. Banning as a "mental giant," claimed his relationship with Kendall Banning, noted author and poet, and made many extravagant statements—an extravagant, in fact, as to arouse suspicion in the minds of investigators. "Pban" is really an abbreviation of P. Banning.

Following the publication of an expose of this statement and the book in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Mr. Banning said "Pban" was a foreign-looking, seedy stranger who came into his office to sell him a set of books, went away with a contract to sell 1000 of Banning's books and a notebook full of information on Banning's history. Banning said that Pban—he didn't know how to pronounce the name or where the man was—must have published the objectionable matter; that it wasn't authorized by him and that he didn't know a thing about it. In his admissions of last night, Mr. Banning said "Pban" was a mythical personality created by him as authority for the statements in the circular. The "Book Lovers Biographical Society," another name signed to the circular, is also a fabrication.

In the Pban letter mention was made at great length of the asserted awards under the Franklin fund. The names of Drs. Steinmetz and Omori were used. Both gentlemen were at that time dead.

GRESHAM FABRICATION

And on questioning regarding the awards, Banning told the story of a man named Roberts Lloyd-Gresham who had called him to the lobby of the Alexandria Hotel and made the announcement that Banning had received the £2500 award from the fund. Lloyd-Gresham it seemed, was traveling for the health of his family; Mr. Banning, at any rate, didn't know where he was. To communicate with him, Lloyd-Gresham had left with Mr. Banning a postoffice box number—1677. Investigators traced the box address to Banning's office. And so Banning, forty-eight hours later, now admits that Lloyd-Gresham, the Benjamin Franklin Fund, the awards under which he was to make a two-years' study in mentalism in Europe—and his statements—each and every one of them—connected with the affair, were fabricated by him to suit whatever situation arose.

Just how many books Banning sold at his price of $3.50 has not been learned. Reg. D. A. Trundle said M. Banning had told him of a shipment of 2500 of them which went to Australia. The American Medical Association Journal is authority for the statement that they would be highly profitable at a retail price of 50 cents.

Banning, in the sale of his books, has operated under the name of "The International Book Concern, 424 South Broadway." This concern is not listed on the building index, but Banning has been transacting his affairs in Rooms 809-12, the headquarters of the society. Sons of the Revolution, of which he is the state president.

"I suppose I'm going to have an awful time straightening this out with my friends," he said last night. "I have received telephone calls from people I didn't even know were here. And this statement to The Times will come as an awful shock to all my friends, for not one of them—not even my wife—knew what I was doing."

Banning lives at 140 North Wilton Place.

FROM LONDON

[Copyright, New York Times.]

LONDON, April 2.—The Society of Friends is investigating what it believes to have been a hoax on both the London Times and the British Medical Journal, which published toward the end of January, a notice which they received from "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham" headed "Announcement of awards from the Benjamin Franklin Fund established in London, 1759."

The address of Roberts Lloyd-Gresham who made the announcement "for the trustees" was given as "W. I." without any mention of a street. W-One is a postal division and a large and fashionable business district in West End of London. The notice not only announced the first awards from the Benjamin Franklin Fund but gave particulars of its origin.

Searches made both by the Society of Friends and the London Times have failed to discover the identity or address of "Roberts Lloyd-Gresham." Headquarters of the Society of Friends in London told the New York Times correspondent they knew nothing about a Benjamin Franklin Fund. They had had queries from the American University Union and the American Consulate in London regarding the awards, while Earlham College of Richmond, Ind., had written to ask where it could obtain a copy of the late Dr. Steinmetz's treatise, which the college said it had been unable to trace. The society inquired of the London Times and British Medical Journal, but neither knew anything beyond the circular upon which they had relied. The society since has written to Fusakichi Omori of Tokio, who was stated to have received one of the awards, but thus far has received no answer.

New Officials Are Installed by Local Elks

With pomp and ceremony, Los Angeles Lodge No. 99 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks last night installed new officers.

George M. Breslin was inducted as Exalted Ruler for the coming year, with the following staff: Fred E. Pierce, Esteemed Leading Knight; Charles H. Coffey, Esteemed Loyal Knight; William R. Kilgore, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; Francis Edgar White, Secretary; Clarence D. Hudson, Treasurer; John W. Tyler, Tiler; George M. Adair, Trustee; Ingall W. The new Exalted Ruler is the youngest man to occupy the chair in the local lodge. Ingall W. Bull, the retiring executive, last month was granted an honorary life membership in the lodge in appreciation for his services.

A huge gathering of fraternal members watched the inauguration ceremony, which was conducted by Frank R. Cryderman, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, assisted by past rulers of the local lodge.

Gamut Club Celebrates Anniversary

Members of the Gamut Club celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the club's formation last night with a banquet and entertainment program at the clubrooms, 1044 South Hope street.

Resolutions indorsing the campaign of the Civic Arts and Music Association for a $3,000,000 bond issue to be used in the construction of a civic auditorium were adopted at the meeting.

It was also announced during the meeting that members of the Orpheus Club had joined the Gamut Club in a body.

L. E. Behymer, president of the club, presided at the banquet and the meeting which followed it.

Among those appearing on the musical program were the Zoellner quartet, the Orpheus Club, conducted by Hugo Kirchhofer; Joseph Diskay, Hungarian tenor; Juana Moore, soprano; Frederick Huttman, tenor, and Constance Balfour, soprano. Dancing followed.

The government asks the court to declare the California Wholesale Grocers' Association and the National Wholesale Grocers' Association illegal organizations, and to issue a permanent injunction restraining the defendant organizations and individuals from continuing such acts that are complained of as being in violation of the anti-trust law.

Fewer specific charges of asserted illegal agreements are made in the bill filed against the Southern California Grocers' Association and others than in the bill against the State and national organization. The purpose of the two suits, however, is identical, the prayer of each bill shows.

ACTION IN NORTH

As to the action against the Southern California organizations, the court is asked to declare illegal the Southern California Wholesale Grocers' Association, the Southern California Association of Manufacturers' Representatives, and the Grocers' Friend, Inc. The court also is asked to enjoin the defendants to this action from agreeing to exclude competitors, "especially chain stores," from engaging in the grocery business, and from agreeing to maintain so-called "yellow lists" or "black list" containing the names of firms or individuals "to whom they would not sell any commodity except for cash."

According to Attorney Guiler, who was appointed a special assistant to the Attorney-General in April, 1923, to organize a Western anti-trust section of the Attorney-General's office, the suits against the wholesale grocers is similar to action brought last May in San Francisco against the Industrial Association of San Francisco. Federal Judge Dooling of San Francisco granted an injunction in that case but declined to dissolve the association. In his opinion Judge Dooling said he would consider a motion for dissolution in event his injunction order were not obeyed. That case, according to Guiler, is now before the United States Supreme Court on appeal.

HEADS SILENT

The investigations in Southern California on which the action against the grocers is based were conducted by Attorney Ellis. He and Attorney Guiler were assisted by Harry H. Atkinson and A. T. Seymour, special assistants to the Attorney-General and U. S. Atty. Burke.

The action against the State and national organizations has been assigned to Judge Paul J. McCormick. The other action has been assigned to Judge William P. James. The defendants have thirty days within which to answer.

Heads of the organizations named in the court action refused to comment on the suits last night, declared they wished to go over the charges first.

Mrs. Brainerd Is Still Critically Ill at Residence

Little change was noted yesterday in the condition of Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, well-known clubwoman, who is critically ill at her home in the Rampart Apartments. Dr. A. F. Godin of the trio of physicians in attendance at her bedside, said she had rested easily during the day and the early evening.

The illness began Friday with a nervous breakdown, followed by pneumonia. She has been unconscious much of the time for two days, but hopes for her recovery have not been abandoned, according to the physicians.

MEETING IS HELD BY SEVENTH-STREET BODY

Members of the Seventh Street Improvement Association met last night at the Elite to further plans for developing Seventh street between Figueroa street and Westlake Park. Shirley C. Ward, president of the West Side development Association, was principal speaker. He praised the work of the association to date and declared that if the same spirit continued, Seventh street in time would be one of the most important business streets in the city.

ENGINEER GETS THREAT

William P. Joplin, an engineer, reported to the Sheriff yesterday the finding of a threat pushed under his office door. The threat, he said, was written on a telegraph blank and read: "Beware us. J. J. J." Mr. Joplin said the blank might have been placed there Monday, April Fool Day.

POWER BUREAU MUST PAY BACK

the Supreme Court in order to make a showing to the people of Los Angeles, who are to be asked on May 6 to hand the Power Bureau $21,000,000 more in bonds for the Power Bureau.

Attorney T. B. Cosgrove of Hunsaker, Britt and Cosgrove, attorneys for Mr. Mines, said yesterday that there is not the slightest doubt that the higher courts will sustain Judge Butler's decision as the arguments on behalf of Mr. Mines's contention were supported by decisions from the Supreme Court which admitted of no doubt that the courts hold that such use of public funds as the Power Bureau made last spring during the $35,000,000 power bond fight was an abuse of their discretion and a misuse of public funds.

"The main practical question on the present motion," said Judge Butler in his decision, "would seem to be whether the power revenue funds of the city may lawfully be expended upon publicity in the form of newspaper ads, circulars, posters, banners and the like addressed to the people of the city for the purpose of bringing about the approval of a popular bond issue designed to enable the city to enlarge its electric system and extend its electric business.

CHARTER PROVISIONS

"A logical and orderly discussion of this question would seem to require that we should, at the outset examine the powers of the Board of Public Service Commissioners as managing and constructing the city's electric light and power system. Additional subdivisions of the same section also are cited, empowering the board to control and expend the revenues from the system, provided that such moneys must be deposited in the city treasury to the credit of the "power revenue fund."

The opinion then points out restrictions on the expenditure of such moneys and confining such expenditures to such items as cost of conducting the department; cost of improvements to such system; payment of outstanding power bonds and interest thereon, and cost of leasing or acquiring power plants.

Section 2 of the charter is quoted as giving the city the powers of a municipal corporation under the State constitution, pointing out that Section 12 of the charter vests the legislative powers in the City Council.

The opinion recites that the bond election under discussion was held under the provisions of the Municipal Bonding Act empowering the city to call a bond election for public improvements, including light and power works. Attention is called by the court to the fact that the act requires the city ordinance calling for the election to recite the objects of the proposed indebtedness, the cost of the proposed improvements and the proposed method of paying off the indebtedness, fixing the date of the election and requiring the publication of such ordinance in a local newspaper, following a definite schedule according to the type of newspaper in which publication is made. In municipalities where no newspaper is published, such ordinance shall be posted in three public places therein for two succeeding weeks.

"No other notice of such election need be given," is the language of the act.

The opinion then continues:

"When the resolution of public necessity has been passed and the ordinance ordering the submission to voters of the question of voting bonds has been adopted and published as provided in the act, it then becomes a matter for the voters to decide whether or not it is best to incur a bonded debt. This is a question concerning which there can be an honest difference of opinion. The wisdom of the policy of incurring the debt is for the qualified electors of the city to decide. The law leaves it to them.

NOT FOR CAMPAIGN

"The provision in the Bonding Act that no other notice of such election need be given necessarily implies that no other notice of such election can be given at the expense of the city's funds, no matter from what source derived. Manifestly the Board of Public Service Commissioners, as such, has nothing to do with it. It is within the power of the said board to expend the proceeds of the bonds (if they should be authorized) in the extension, repair, betterment, etc., of the light and power system, and the law gives them a wide discretion in such matters. But expending public funds in making a campaign in favor of the bonds cannot be justified any more than could its expenditure in making a campaign against them. Should the people of Los Angeles deem it desirable that the Board of Public Service Commissioners or the City Council should have such power, they can easily confer it by a charter amendment.

"In Dillon on Municipal Corporations, Vol. I, section 237, (fifth edition) we read: 'It is a general and undisputed proposition of law that a municipal corporation possesses and can exercise the following powers and no others: First, those granted in express words; second, those necessarily or fairly implied in or incident to the powers expressly granted; third, those essential to the accomplishment of the declared objects and purposes of the corporation, not simply convenient, but indispensable. Any fair, reasonable, substantial doubt concerning the existence of power is resolved by the courts against the corporation, and the power is denied. Of every municipal corporation the charter or statute by which it is created is its organic act. Neither the corporation nor its officers can do any act, or make any contract, or incur any liability not authorized thereby, or by some legislative act applicable thereto. All acts beyond the scope of the powers granted are void. Much less can any power be exercised or any act done which is forbidden by charter or statute. These principles are of transcendant importance and lie at the foundation of the law of municipal corporations.'

"Viewing the acts done by the defendants in the light of the charter provisions and State law on the subject of bond elections, I fail to see where there was any authority to make the expenditures for the purpose alleged in the answer. Being without authority they are void, and judgment must be for the plaintiff. It is so ordered."

M'ADOO FIRES OPENING SHOT

Congress to "substitute a policy of enlightened international co-operation for the present foolish policy of isolation, so as to reopen foreign markets to our farmers and to enable them to dispose of their surplus products at the best obtainable prices."

Although promising, if elected, to repeal the Fordney-McCumber tariff law, the candidate said that he would substitute therefor "a reasonable and fair tariff measure," and he proposed rail and freight reforms through amendment of the Esch-Cummins law.

"If I should be elected President," he said, "the first thing I intend to do is to drive all the grafters and corruptionists out of Washington and into the jails of the United States."

Considerable attention was paid by Mr. McAdoo to the Democratic contest in this State and he said the issue is up to California Democrats either to support "a progressive Democratic candidate on a progressive Democratic platform or an uninstructed delegation committed to no candidate and to no definite principle or platform."

STALKING HORSE

"An uninstructed delegation," said Mr. McAdoo, "is a stalking horse for somebody or for some sinister purpose or for some invisible influence. No invisible candidate should receive support.

"The familiar tactics of corrupt political bosses and of those sinister influences which want to control at least one-third of the next Democratic convention, is to put up stalking horses or uninstructed delegations in every State where the bosses and these sinister and invisible influences do not control. It is only by these secret methods that they hope for success. If the candidates of corrupt bosses and sinister influences are brought into the open so that the people may know who they are voting for, their defeat is certain.

"The cause of progressive democracy is at stake in the forthcoming election, and the destiny of America and the world will be profoundly influenced by the verdict of the American people in November, 1924. We must know who and what we are voting for in the California primary, in the Democratic National Convention and in the next Presidential election. The reactionary element in the Democratic party, small in numbers but powerful in resources, is allied with the bosses, Wall street and big business, and making common cause with the powerfully organized wet forces of the country, is determined to name a reactionary Democrat on a reactionary platform and thereby make certain the re-election of a reactionary Republican administration.

FAITH IN STATE

"The Democrats of California will not send any stalking horse or barterable delegation to the Democratic National Convention. The progressive democracy of California, the progressive women of California, the progressive nonpartisans of California, are deeply concerned in this issue. I earnestly hope that every influence in this State standing for clean and honest government, for the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the laws, for the progressive principles and policies, will unite in support of the Phelan delegates.

"The first duty is to bring the government back to honesty, to drive graft and corruption out of Washington. Bribe-taking public officials not alone disgrace the nation, but they strike at the very foundation of democratic institutions. Political power cannot be poisoned at the source by corruption without destroying the confidence of the people in their government. Whether we are Democrats or Republicans, we are vitally interested in clean government. It is not a partisan question—it is a matter of saving the great heritage of liberty and democracy our forefathers handed down to us, and of transmitting it unimpaired to our children and to our children's children.

DIFFERENCE TOLD

"I sometimes hear the remark that there is no difference between the two old political parties. It is true that there is a small reactionary element in the Democratic party that is like the dominant reactionary element which controls the Republican party, but the overwhelming majority in the Democratic party is progressive and it gave evidence of its progressiveness during the eight years of the Wilson administration by fighting Wall street and every reactionary influence and passing some of the greatest laws for the benefit of the farmers, business, labor and women ever enacted in the history of the nation. In fact, progressive Democratic principles and Republican reactionary principles are as far apart as the poles. The fundamental progressive Democratic principle is equal opportunity to all, special privilege to none; whereas the reactionary Republican principle is special privilege to some, equal opportunity for none.

"In the forthcoming election, the American people must decide whether they will continue in power the Republican party, dedicated to reaction, subservient to special privilege and permeated with scandals and inefficiency in the administration of national affairs or whether they will restore to power the Democratic party, the foe of reaction and special privilege, the party of progress, the party of honesty, the party of Woodrow Wilson. We have one reactionary party in America, the Republican party. There is not room for two.

"The Democratic party has a mission unless it is the true servant of the people and the unconquerable champion of progress and humanity. Above all, the fundamental democratic principle of government must be preserved. It is the immutable principle of equality of human rights, equal opportunity for all, special privilege to none. It is fidelity to this principle that has given vitality and strength to the Democratic party through its century of existence."

Like Taking Candy

Buying farm lands at the prices we quote below is a bigger snap than taking candy from a baby. It is an opportunity—one of the kind that knocks at your door but few times in the span of a generation. The prices quoted on these lands represent the ultimate in values. For the investor, they offer returns varying from 20 to 60 per cent a year. For the homeseeker, they are the best that the nation affords. In no other community will you find a farming district that offers so much in the way of yields, assured crops and healthful surroundings at prices that can even approximate the values offered here.

The Best "What Am"

There isn't a better forty-acre ranch any place than this "best buy" which we are offering you today. It's splendidly located on a paved highway, close to good schools and two miles to a market. Anyone interested in dairying will find this piece of special interest. It's all in alfalfa now, and the stand is one of the best in the valley. It's a piece de resistance at $8,800—only $220 per acre. Beat it? You can't even tie it! The fences are all good and there is a fine well. The house is small, but good, and there's plenty of old shade to make it an attractive home place. Last year, the owner cut seven crops of alfalfa, averaging a little over eight tons to the acre. At an average price of $18 a ton, his income from these lands was $144 per acre. The owner is returning to his former home in Georgia and is sacrificing for a quick sale. It's being reserved for some Southern California buyer. Pay $4,800 cash and the balance to suit. Possession immediately. Ask about listing No. 142.

Interested in Big Ranches?

Perhaps you are interested in something larger. We have two exceptional buys in big tracts, the first 160 acres and the second 320 acres. The price on the 160-acre tract is $180 an acre—total price, $28,800. The 320-acre is quoted at $175 an acre—total price, $56,000.

The 160-acre ranch is under the project, now on lease until January 1, 1925, purchaser to get one-half of 1924 crops. Sixty acres are in new alfalfa—a fine stand—and 90 acres in cotton. There is a dandy well and good engine. The house is a four room frame structure and there are living quarters for ranch help. There also is a small stable. The fences, hog and wire, are good. The down payment is $14,400 with the remainder in three equal annual installments with interest at six (6) per cent. Ask about listing No. 123.

This 320 acres is outside the project and has its own source of water supply, namely, pumping. It's been under cultivation three years and considered one of the finest pieces of property outside the project. It has a shallow lift of less than 40 feet and the water supply is plentiful—far more than is needed. The entire acreage is given over to alfalfa and cotton. This ranch sold $35,000 worth of cotton alone in 1923—the total income was in excess of $38,000. The engines are practically new and the buildings in tip-top shape. Possession may be had immediately, the present owner expecting pay for all labor and seed planted providing sale is consummated after he has planted. Prior to that time, you take it as it is for $56,000 with a down payment of $28,000. The balance will be made to suit. Refer to listing No. 124.

ALL TULARE IN ORATORY MATCH

First County to Participate 100 Per Cent

More Than 1000 Pupils Join Forensic Event

Constitution Contest Holds More Interest

With more than 1000 pupils in its ten high schools preparing orations for the national oratorical contest, Tulare county holds the distinction of being the first county in Southern California to report a 100 per cent participation in the big forensic match.

Word was received by Prof. A. F. Blanks, contest director for Southern California, yesterday from Prof. Ernst McInnes, teacher of English in the Visalia High School, who has charge of the contest in Tulare county, to the effect that Woodlake High, the last of the county's high schools, had decided to toss its hat in the ring.

PLAN DISTRICT MEET

L. L. Doig, principal of Woodlake, explained his school had held off until the voting on a school bond issue in his district had taken place and that the successful outcome of that event had stimulated the interest of his pupils in their school work to such an extent that they wanted their institution to be represented.

Arrangements are now being made by Prof. McInnes to conduct the district meet of the Tulare schools at Visalia on the 22nd inst. It is planned to make this a civic event in which the citizens of Visalia and surrounding towns will participate. The winner will represent the Tulare county schools at the group semifinals to take place at Bakersfield May 2.

PRIZES OFFERED

The schools of Tulare county have shown keen interest in the contest from the first. It has had the indorsement of the newspapers of the county, particularly the Visalia Times, which has offered prizes for local winners. J. E. Buckman, County Superintendent of Schools, and the Tulare County Principals' Association have lent their active support to the efforts of the teachers to create interest in the study of the Constitution in the different schools and this subject has received more attention than any other during the past several weeks.

There are several other counties that are likely to report a 100 per cent representation of their schools before the contest is over, according to Director Blanks. He mentioned Kern, Inyo and Santa Barbara among the counties that have already reported that all their schools would undoubtedly participate.

CHANDLER IDE WINS ORATORICAL PRIZE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, April 3.—Chandler Ide, son of Rev. H. C. Ide of the Congregational Church, won the right to represent Redlands High School in the fifth district contest for Southern California of the national oratorical contest this morning when his oration was given first place. He also won a cup offered by a local newspaper. Mr. Ide spoke on the "Constitution," explaining the flexible character of the framework upon which the government of the United States is founded. Second place was taken by Winston Crouch, third by Vada Fulbright and fourth by Dorothy Dean. E. M. Lyon, Mayor A. E. Brock and S. R. Hotchkiss were the judges for the contest. The fifth district contest is to be held here on the 11th inst.

CITY BOARD VACANCIES ARE FILLED

George J. Stoneman Put on Civil Service Body in Mayor's Appointments

Mayor Cryer yesterday announced four appointments to various city commissions to fill expired and unexpired terms.

George J. Stoneman was selected to succeed J. Wiseman MacDonald on the Civil Service Commission. Mr. MacDonald's term had expired. M. C. Bettinger was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dr. E. J. Lickley on the Social Service Commission. Dr. Lickley resigned to become a deputy city prosecutor.

George J. Cochran, an official of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company, and William Lacy, president of the Chamber of Commerce, were reappointed as members of the Efficiency Commission.

Mr. Steneman is an attorney and the son of Gen. George Stoneman, famous Civil War commander and at one time Governor of California. Mr. Bettinger has been connected with the schools of the city for many years.

LONG MARRIAGE ENDS IN DIVORCE CHARGES

HUSBAND WANTS ANOTHER WOMAN, DECLARES WIFE IN SUIT

After twenty-two years of married life, during which, she declared, she helped to increase her husband's income from $30 a month to $1000 a month and aided him in building up a fortune of $150,000, Mrs. Emma Bouska is compelled to sue for divorce because her husband wants another woman, she averred yesterday in a divorce complaint filed in February, she says, saying:

"I found her behind a soda counter. She is a hard-working woman and a good woman."

Mrs. Bouska wants $150 a week alimony and custody of two minor children.

ACQUITTAL IN DRUG CASE

THE NEW

IN STORES AND HOMES

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

Up-to-Datest:

The scarf blouse of colorful crepe, flowery satin or other suitable fabric. The blouse is so fashioned as to display to advantage the design which is likely to be very cretonnish, huge flowers placed on either side the front, or posed girdlewise; the scarf of the same material, either composing the upstanding collar or being frankly a neck scarf with ends falling below the waistline. This line is usually on a range with the hips. The scarf is inclined to terminate in silken fringe, or in an elaborated band upon which the floral design condenses.

Designs in Dots

Many of the new summer silks and cottons for dresses are designed in dots, fantastically arranged, yet forming a pleasing harmony. Small, almost ethereal dots are used to create a plaid—such as once was termed an "invisible" plaid. Again these dots form bands or stripes, crosswise of the fabric. Few striking color clashes are put to use in these new dotted effects and, in fact, it seems to be the idea to introduce the effects so insidiously that they steal upon the eye without shock or jar.

Bustle Bows

Many diaphanous summer frocks will be enhanced by outstanding bows, set bustle fashion, upon them at new and interesting angles. Bustles, by the way, take on any whim they fancy, from posing upon one hip to flaring from each; from sitting demurely at the back of the garment to tilting at one side the front panel of flaring tunic or clinging skirt. Ribbons, new in weave and unlimited in coloring, will take the leading part in formation of the new bustle bows.

Aunt Jane's Way

Aunt Jane always attaches a bell to the neck of the bottle which contains harmful liquids, the instant tinkle giving warning when this container comes forth from its hiding place.

Punched Hats

A millinery fad is that of punching out a pattern in one fabric over another—black over white, white over black, or two harmonious colors, one appearing through the interstices, the other an "all-over." Red plays a conspicuous part in the punched-out program, offering a vivid contrast, quite pleasing to those selecting somewhat somber tints for the main part of the hat or the costume.

Flower Hems

A new note in dress, according to a recent letter from Paris, is the broad skirt hem, encrusted with flowers. An especially lovely gown, described, was broadly hemmed—one might prosaically term it "banded"—in natural colored violets, the same flowers in a lavish bouquet, holding in place the draped girdle.

An Investment in Vestments

"An investment in good appearance:" It is thus a leading merchandise house puts it. And truly, one cannot afford to go slip-shod—to appear careless of one's appearance, for so to place oneself before the public is to proclaim a certain poverty of spirit, if not of more material things. Pride is justifiable, even though vanity may be a sin, and he or she who no longer cares for good attire must be somewhat blunted in taste, to say the least.

Silks Quaint and Colorful

Silks of many and varied weaves and colorful to the nth degree are predicted for summer. Nice distinction may be displayed in the choice of the proper weave for the occasion. The rougher surfaces in both silk and crepe seem most appropriate for sports and street wear, while the finer and more filmy fabrics take their place in the realm of afternoon and dinner clothes. For evening, weaves cannot be too sumptuous, the lustrous shimmering cloths reminding one of those "stand-alone" examples in silk weaving, boasted by our forebears. There will be a silk for every occasion in the summer wardrobe of the truly well-dressed woman this year.

In La Mode's Salon

Cire metal ribbon is favored for ornaments for the evening gown or coiffure.

Parrots are embroidered in gay colors on the cuffs of white silk gauntlets.

Red and white shawls fringed with black are worn with black bathing suits.

Gay scarfs of printed chiffon will be worn with white crepe frocks at the resorts.

Sleeve puffs and a shirt bosom of plain material are used in a frock of printed silk.

Corns

Don't risk blood poisoning by paring a corn. Apply Blue-jay, the scientific corn ender. The pain will vanish instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Get Blue-jay today at your druggist.

AT THE SWITCH

The man who took a sleeping car on the road to success didn't hear his station when it was called.

THE DOWNWARD PATH

Manager McGraw is teaching all his Giants how to slide. If they bring up at the bottom of the ladder he will have himself to blame.

CASTING A SPELL

The average business man has trouble in keeping up with the spelling book. That is one reason why he is helpless when the stenographer is off.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

The more meat the higher the blood pressure, according to the medical examiners for the life-insurance companies. Here seems to be a chance to compromise on spinach.

COULD USE THEM

If the government has a few battleships to get rid of they might easily sell them to the bootleggers. The rum fleet would like to have a couple of dreadnaughts for convoy.

MAN AND HIS TOGS

The outfit of a well-dressed man as he stands on the hoof in the crowded street represents a cost of $118.85, according to the testimony of tailors. If one can round up $118 shaking dice the rest should be easy.

COLD PROPOSITION

There are rich platinum discoveries in Siberia, some of the ore carrying as high as 76 per cent of the metal. But better a prune mine in Pasadena than a platinum lode in Siberia. We positively refuse to be rushed by the stories of treasure.

THE NATIVE HANDICAP

The native New Yorker is handicapped against success. According to a survey made by the Rotary Club and confirmed by "Who's Who" four out of five persons who achieve fame of some kind in Gotham are born in small towns or come from other sections of the country. The youth born in New York will have to go elsewhere to gain his glory. The home brew doesn't seem to be strong stuff. We treat our native sons better in California.

SHRIMPY DAYS

The knights of old were not very long—neither were they very plump. Somebody has taken the trouble to measure up most of the suits of armor in the museums of France, England, Italy and Spain and it seems to be established that the average warrior of the Middle Ages was a dainty little man only a trifle over five feet tall and weighing about 125 pounds. In these days even a Bennie Leonard could take a pair of brass knuckles and clean up King Arthur's court. The average weight of the ordinary citizen is forty pounds heavier than it was in the days of William the Conqueror.

TOO MANY PEOPLE

The head of the Planning Commission in New York says that the city will have a population of 25,000,000 seventy-five years from now and its immediate suburbs will carry 12,000,000 souls in addition. That would give Greater New York a roster of 40,000,000 inhabitants—which is too many people for one community. Enthusiasts who insist that in another generation or two Los Angeles will have surpassed New York will see what we are up against and wish their prophecy back. We are opposed to towns of 40,000,000 human beings. That is carrying the congestion of humanity beyond the danger point. If all the folks come downtown to see the circus parade there won't be room for the elephant.

THE BANISHED BARD

Now they are buffeting the bard to make the world safe for the rising generation. Club women in a thriving suburb are about to give a regular performance of Shakespeare's "Winter's Tale," but out of consideration for the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act they have cut out the characters of Sir Toby Belch and Sir Andrew Aguecheek. Apparently it is their belief that it would never do to offer this pair of drunken rascals for the contemplation of a virtuous and sober people. It is true that most of the comedy centers about Sir Toby and in the past certain Shakespearean performers have made it the star part, but that was in the days before prohibition and the tendency of the hour is to cut out all recollection or reference to bibulous times. If the inspiration of these club women extends it may be essential to banish the so-called immortal William from the home. Look what a roisterer he made of Sir John Falstaff. Surely nobody in these times would care to be associated with that fat and frolicsome scoffaw. It will take an awful lot of editing to bring Shakespeare down to the half-of-1-per-cent permitted by the Volstead Act and it is feared that the residue would not be very palatable to ancient students. Possibly it would be safer to cut out William altogether. He certainly did not write for a prim and immaculate citizenship.

REVAMPING THE SENATE

While neutral observers are almost unanimous in the opinion that President Coolidge will succeed himself, it is not at all certain that the Republican party will control the Congress to be elected in November. The country is disgusted with the record of the present Congress; and the method used in the conduct of the present investigations in the Senate is rapidly turning that disgust to indignation. But there are so many cross-currents in the campaign for the election of thirty-three Senators that neither party may secure a working majority.

Fifty-one members of the present Senate were elected as Republicans. That should mean a working majority of six Senators. There are forty-three Democrats and two Farmer-Laborites. But masquerading in Republican togas are six Radical-Progressives. They donned the livery of the Republican party in order better to serve the party's enemies.

By such means a situation has evolved in which the people of the country are back of the President, but the Senate is against him. The Democrats, the nondescripts and the insurgents have formed a coalition which gives them control; and they are using that control to make a mockery of what we were once proud to term the highest deliberative body among the nations.

No one honestly interested in the public welfare desires to see the present condition carried over into the next Congress. But there is serious danger that personal considerations and petty differences may cause the electorate of several States to lose sight of the fact that they are supporting candidates who will continue the present almost intolerable condition and make it worse.

The Democrats do not expect to capture the Senate. They realize that they will do well to retain the number of seats they now possess, knowing the sentiment of the country is back of the present administration. But they hope to widen the defection in the Republican ranks to the extent that the President will find himself next year faced by a distinctly hostile Senate.

Chance gives the advantage to the Democrats in this year's Senatorial elections. Only three Democrats are up for re-election in what may be termed the doubtful States, while the Republicans must wage battles in seven doubtful States. It is plain that the chances for the Republicans to increase their present majority are not promising.

But there is an opportunity for the Republicans to defeat for renomination those Senators who deserted their party as soon as they reached the Senate chamber. For the sins of 1912 the party is still suffering. Most of those who deserted the ranks to form a third party have returned; but the example they set is directly responsible for the present defections.

There is an excellent opportunity for the Republicans to win a seat in Massachusetts. Senator Walsh, the ring leader of the head-hunters in the present Senate, must stand for re-election. He will receive the Democratic nomination, probably, without contest. But Massachusetts is pretty certain to give to President Coolidge a rousing majority; and, if a Republican pledged to support the President's policies is selected as his running mate, Massachusetts can be depended upon to retire Senator Walsh to private life.

Massachusetts seldom fails the country in an emergency. It is to be regretted that some of the Western States, our own included, cannot point with equal pride to a similar record.

Close observers agree that the country stands at a parting of the ways. Under a republic party government is essential to stability and progress. If we are to have three minority parties and a Congress hostile to the President stability in government will disappear. That is the real issue in the Senatorial elections this year.

"GERMAN JUSTICE"

Former Field Marshal Ludendorff's vindication by the high court of Bavaria on the charge of treason is a palpable miscarriage of justice. He confessed, in fact boasted, that he had taken active part in a movement intended to overthrow the republican form of government in Germany through violent means. He admitted that his signature to a manifesto announcing his intent to march at the head of a Bavarian army upon Berlin was genuine.

Yet he was acquitted; and celebrations were held commemorating his personal triumph in many German cities and villages. Some of those associated with him in his "beer-cellar" revolt were convicted; but Ludendorff was held to be above the law. If one signer of that manifesto was guilty, how could another be innocent?

One cannot escape the conclusion that a wide chasm intervenes between law and justice in Germany. Ludendorff appeared in court wearing all his war decorations; and the judges cringed in their seats. He defied justice, and the judges showed the customary German servility in the presence of power.

A government whose authority can be flaunted with impunity cannot long continue. It is perilously near collapse. The Ludendorff incident indicates that a dictatorship in Germany is imminent. A republic that ceases to be a government of laws has already lost its de facto existence.

According to the Berlin cables, the exulting royalists in Bavaria have nominated Ludendorff as a candidate for a seat in the Reichstag. His election is a foregone conclusion. Three months hence he will be in Berlin, a member of the German House of Representatives. The dictatorship will be within his grasp.

Germany is apparently returning to the folly that involved the country in a disastrous World War. It is not through making a mockery of justice that so-called just claims of Germany will receive the sympathy of the outside world. A people that will not themselves be just are not likely to receive justice from others.

Ludendorff's only concession was a promise that, if he was cleared of the existing charge, he would not do it again. Such cynicism does not bode well for the German republic, nor for the German people.

KEEPING THE FAITH

Union agitators from Samuel Gompers down will have a difficult task in making Los Angeles a closed shop for carpenters. This city is the home of more competent carpenters than any other town in America. Many of them have retired from activities and are living quietly in little homes built by themselves. But they are here and they are capable. At the first threat of strike or the first call to service there would be an army of volunteers. Los Angeles is the citadel of industrial freedom and the American plan must and shall be maintained.

LATTER-DAY EVANGELISTS

Church and stage are pulling together instead of pulling apart—and the result promises to be highly beneficial to two honorable professions and to the public in general. The spectacle of Fred Stone and Elsie Janis campaigning in New York to raise money for the Methodist Church suggests that a "League of the Professions" is both practical and worthy of promotion.

Fred Stone has, of course, for some time combined the activities of play acting and preaching and supplemented his comedy work at the theater with short gospel talks straight from the heart. His experiment, moreover, has proved a truth from which both church and stage may learn something—that the same audience that delights in good comedy is equally moved by honest preaching.

This should encourage the modern preacher to dissipate much of the solemn—not to say melancholy—atmosphere without which it was once supposed no church service could be conducted. Fred Stone has demonstrated that you can take the church to the theater; Billy Sunday has shown that you can take the theater to the church; both have obtained glorious successes in doing so.

And why not? "Make 'em laugh, make 'em cry; make 'em think," was the advice of one who knew the kind of plays to win a theater-going public. And the same advice is sometimes good for the preacher in holding a congregation. Hard hearts may soften to laughing gas, no less than to tear gas. If souls can be charmed to heaven with a shaft of light, why employ a fog barrage of gloom?

Already modern congregations have shed the notion that a laugh in a church was always out of place and a joke from the pulpit a fit cause for unfrocking the clergy. Fred Stone, answering charges against his sincerity for continuing his profession, replied, "Men are not obliged to give up their business to be Christians."

Nor do they have to envelop themselves in garments of Sabbath gloom to be in the proper frame of mind to receive the gospel of joy and hope and boundless love.

MAKING GOOD AMERICANS

The prize pupils of the world are in the Philippines, according to Eugene Allen Gilmore, Vice-Governor of the islands and Secretary of Public Instruction, who is in San Francisco at present for the purpose of securing sixty recruits to teach school in his Territory.

The educator brought out the startling fact that there are no truant officers in the overseas American possession. With the exception of the troubled Moro district, the children are everywhere attending school, and no officers are necessary to hasten reluctant feet toward the classroom. The school situation is somewhat complicated, due to the fact that there are facilities for only 1,100,000 pupils, whereas 3,000,000 are besieging the schools for admission.

A bright future for the islands is predicted by Mr. Gilmore, from the eagerness of the younger generation to learn. The young students, moreover, display a strong desire to secure vocational education that will lift them out of the ranks of laborers. The classes are taught in English and more than 50 per cent of the pupils can speak that language fluently.

Mr. Gilmore was a professor of law at Wisconsin University until his appointment to the position he now holds in December, 1921. But in the brief two years that he has resided in the Philippines he has become a tremendous enthusiast over the country and the people and as soon as his present quest for teachers is completed he will tour the United States to acquire new educational ideas and then hurry home to try them out on his eager and industrious charges.

YOUTHFUL EFFORTS

The posthumous wrecking of Katherine Mansfield's claims to genius by the publishing of her early efforts that never got past the editor's desk should serve as a warning to writers already famous, to promptly destroy the rejected products of their pens. Shortly after her death her husband unearthed a huge collection of poems written between the years 16 and 28 and promptly published them. They have been collected into book form and given wide circulation and have sadly detracted from the reputation of the woman who is hailed as having written some of the finest prose in the English language. However, they show that many an unpromising young writer is capable of developing later into something worth while. Youthful aspirants for fame should buy a copy and give it to the family, who may be convinced that the young hopeful might possibly amount to something, after all.

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

The telephone company is still trying to get rid of the word "hello," despite the nonsuccess of previous efforts in that direction.

The idea of getting rid of it was "sold" them some years ago by some genius with a lot of spare time on his hands, who figured the American people were losing 10,937,452,223 seconds a year by saying "hello" when they pick up the receiver and that that time ought to be saved. They have been trying to oust "hello" from their lines ever since.

But habit has proved stronger than the telephone company and the word persists.

Probably because there is a sound reason for it. The word, in fact, is decidedly useful. It takes a second or so for the telephone listener to adjust his ear to the timbre and intonation of the voice that he hears and when some familiar word about which there can be no doubt is the first thing that floats over the wire the adjustment is made with the least difficulty.

"Blank & Co., Mr. Whoosis speaking," the phrase recommended by the experts, does not perform this function. Nine times out of ten the comeback of the person who has this phrase shot at him is, "Hello—what did you say?" So the patented phrase loses time instead of saving it.

As the mediums say when they are trying to be impressive, it is necessary to place the two speakers en rapport with one another. It would seem hard to improve on the simple word "hello" as a means of accomplishing the result. At least it hasn't been done. EDWARD C. KRAUSS.

RIPPLING RHYMES

UNSAFE DRINKS

There is no booze that's fit to drink, the best is worse than deadly lyes;
the bootleg bitters, white or pink,
are merely murder in disguise.
The potion from the scoffaw's still with deadly action is endowed; before you drink it make your will and buy a coffin and a shroud.
When I'm athirst the pump's my friend,
I buy no drinks of outcast knaves;
I stand a babbling brook on end and then consume its sparkling waves.
I drink no poison, green or red,
no turpentine or purple ink;
I lift a river from its bed, blow off the foam and take a drink.
In olden days when booze was sold by licensed venders it was bad;
it robbed the toiler of his gold and made his aunts and nieces sad.
It filled the poorhouse up with skates who might have lived in happy homes;
it wrought more harm in forty States than fifty thousand Teapot Domes.
But still a man might take a horn and keep his sight and live long years, and wake up on the morrow morn without the need of shrouds and biers.
But now the man who hits the booze is bidding death or blindness come; and none can win and all must lose who tarry with the Demon Rum.
I've cut it out, I've signed the pledge and when my works are all athirst
I stand a horsepond on its edge and drink its waters till I burst.
WALT MASON.

FLYING CHIPS

BY ALMA WHITAKER

And just when one has decided it is a pretty low-down sort of a world and "man's inhumanity to man . . ." etc., something happens like this.

A little old lady left Los Angeles for New York en route for England last month. The first day in New York her bag was stolen—containing her passport, her steamer ticket, her trunk checks, her keys, $160 in money (all she had) and anything she owned that could identify her in this country.

She went to the steamship company in despair. Their attitude was forbidding. But a man nearby politely raised his hat, said he had booked a passage on that steamer which he could not use and would the lady do him the honor to accept it.

Going back to her hotel with her sad story, the New York hotel gladly offered to accept her note without security. A reporter heard the story, talked with her, discovered they had a mutual friend in Los Angeles and loaned her $10 for tips on the ship. He also put a little story in the paper.

That story was sent to a London newspaper. There it was read by a member of the Overseas League, of which the lady is a member. League members met her at Southampton, conducted her to London and offered her hospitality until she could sort out her finances!

And that little lady was not young and pretty, either!

God is still in His heavens—and some things are still all right with the world, anyway.

Mr. Capadocia of the American Legion is indignant because some people insist upon inquiring what became of the money raised by the sale of bricks for the disabled veterans two years ago. It transpires that it was put to good use for quarters on Hill street.

But don't be angry at this misinformed interest, Mr. Capadocia. Had it so happened that the money had not been put to good use it would be good that such interest still obtains. It was only a case of too much zeal—which really is better than indifference.

But disrespect for elders, she thinks Jeanie, is a most regrettable weakness in itself. And one of the most charming things about Jeanie is that, in spite of her self-confidence, her audacity, her poise, her assurance, her attitude toward her elders is utterly graceful, considerate and flatteringly respectful. I should say it is one of Jeanie's most valuable assets, and it certainly does not undermine her amour propre a particle.

INDIANS AND ICE AGE

BY RANSOME SUTTON

Did the Indians live in this country during the Ice Age? Scientists are trying to learn the answer to this question from Santa Monica's mute skulls. It is generally admitted that the Indians came from Asia, via Alaska, and no conclusive evidence that the forerunners of the red race arrived earlier than 10,000 years ago has heretofore been discovered.

In Southern California the Ice Age closed about 25,000 years ago. In the interior of Alaska and beyond the Arctic Circle, as well as on eleven California mountains, it has not yet closed. To show that the Indians existed in California during the universal reign of ice, when the Pleistocene mammals went to their death in such death traps as La Brea, would push back the date of their arrival some 15,000 years. It would be the same as to show that the Pilgrim Fathers arrived, not 300 years ago as historians suppose, but some 400 or 500 years sooner.

The age of California skulls is especially difficult to determine, because the geological layers, in which they are imbedded, have been thrown out of normal position by upheavals and subsidences, plus the washing and filling effects of rapid-running surface waters. By looking at the sides of a canyon you frequently see strata turned edgewise. Think what was going on here 25,000 years ago. The canyon streams were frozen solid, earthquakes were common, faults were of frequent occurrence; and, as the glaciers melted, rushing waters carried down vast burdens of sediment and filled up the cracks in the crust. So a fossil in a rock on the top of a hill may be ages older than the bones washed down and buried twenty-five feet deep in the bottom of an arroyo. If skulls are found in washed sand and gravel disinterested students do not take much stock in their remote antiquity.

There is a better way to determine whether or not Indians existed here during the Ice Age, yet this opportunity seems to have been overlooked by local antiquarians. Prof. Gilbert Bailey of the University of Southern California is a recognized authority on California geology and, in The Times (March 19, 1923,) he said the Salton Sea "was probably contemporaneous with Lake Lahontan of glacial times." Now in the travertine, deposited on rocks by the water when the Salton Sea stood some some thirty feet above sea level, Indians carved signs, literally hundreds of inscriptions. Those Indians vanished with the drying up of the sea; but, later on, the Colorado River turned over in its bed and refilled the sea to the high-water mark—the ancient shore line. We know this is so because the water of the "second" sea plastered a coat of travertine on top of the carvings. It goes without saying, therefore, that the Stone Age Indians, who left their marks on the rocks, antedated the rise of the second Salton Sea. If the last time the sea stood level with the ancient shore line was during the Ice Age, then the Indians arrived this country much longer than 000 years ago. It would have taken them several centuries pressed to hunt their way down from ka, for they moved only pressed behind or when advance hunting prospects ahead, and camped for days, years or centuries in a place, depending upon circumstances.

If the inscriptions were cut in the rocks before or during the Ice Age one would expect to find signs of the glaciers, and the scratches made by grinding ice on the travertine. I do not pretend to be able to read Indian signs aright. In any event, I would be a prejudiced judge, because I believe Dr. Hrdlicka's contention that the Indians came here more than 12,000 years ago is fundamentally sound. Believers in the comparatively recent arrival of the Indians, however, would have to change their opinions if Professor Bailey, or some one of like standing, should point out sure signs of glaciers on the travertine deposits on top of the inscriptions. Archeologists would accept such evidence as conclusive, whereas the age of bones, wherein traces of organic matter are still detectable, is largely a matter of guesswork, a good guess is better than a poor reason. But no one can guess even accurately how long it took the surface waters to bury bones at varying depths under fluvial materials such as sand and gravel. In some places, especially in the beds or places along the seashore, the layers of sand and gravel might be lifted at the mouth of a mountain stream within ten years; in other places it might take a century to lay down one foot. Moreover, bones are seldom found where the living creature came to its end. Where a cow dies in the mountains you presently see a few bones; a few years later you find some of those bones removed by coyotes among older and younger bones along the water courses. But the carvings on the Salton Sea rocks tell a definite story, impossible to be preserved by the travertine, but which takes an experienced geologist to translate the story.

HOFFMAN AUTO ARTISTS ON KHJ

Studebaker Radio Orchestra Delights Hearers

Program Delightful Variety of Word and Song

Tales of English Rovers of Sea Recounted

The automobile industry drove through Radioland last night and left a trail of contentment. Through the courtesy of Paul G. Hoffman Company a well-balanced and entertaining program was arranged and presented. It included the Studebaker Radio Orchestra of Long Beach, Sam Hinds, the laugh creator; Jennie Durkee, the ukulele artist, and Harry Kairow, baritone.

As was to be expected, the Studebaker Radio Orchestra was hitting on all cylinders, and kept everybody in high spirits. The members radiated the warmth of irresistible syncopation. The members of this orchestra are Charles K. Lindsay, director and violin; Joe Ganini, violin; Bess Rudisell of the Southern California Music Company, piano; Clint Campbell, trumpet; Wallace Heglin, banjo; Earl Livingston, saxophone; Joe Lindenbaum, drums; Rhue Gill, soprano, and Tom Lindsay, baritone.

Sam Hinds's description of a woman who attempted to make lamp chimneys from champagne bottles provoked great mirth. Mr. Hinds has a remarkable sense of humor and a faculty for word portrayal of ludicrous situations.

TONES MARVELOUS

Jennie M. Durkee, who devised the American way of playing the ukulele, filled the studio with more harmony and tone effects than are usually associated with an insignificant instrument like the ukulele. Classical music offered no obstacles to this musician, whose new methods have not only modified the tones but increased the volume. The astonishing range of her selections was added tribute to her performance.

Harry Kairow made his bow to Radioland last night and departed with many wishes for his return. With a pleasing baritone voice he rendered old classic favorites, which never age in the singing by one of Mr. Kairow's ability.

Edward Murphy, able director of the Pasadena Community Broadcasters, recited Peter B. Kyne's "The Go-Getter." Mr. Murphy's able rendition was attested by the numerous expressions of appreciation which arrived at KHJ, in addition to requests for similar recitations.

STAR DESCRIBED

Dr. Mars Baumgardt brought in his heavenly special and took Radioland on an exploration trip to Arcturus, a large star which appears in the northeast shortly after sunset. In his interesting style Dr. Baumgardt described its habits and informed his hearers that this solar body was more than twenty-one times the diameter of the sun.

The matinee program which was given Monday afternoon at KHJ through the courtesy of Barker Brothers, marked a milestone in the progress of radio broadcasting. Decidedly an innovation, it served to better acquaint music lovers with the conditions that gave birth to many forms of music. Continuing these splendid lecture recitals under the expert guidance of Claire Forbes Crane, the pianist-composer, the subject dwelt upon yesterday was the value of chamber music and its relation to sonatas, a form of music which has gone through many evolutions since the seventeenth century.

To maintain the high standards set by the company through whose generosity she appeared, Claire Forbes Crane selected Robert Alter, 'cellist and talented artist, to interpret the sonata music of three different nations. Her first number was an Italian work of Corelli, composed in the seventeenth century. This was followed by one of Boellman's compositions of Sunny France. The third and last of the group was Rachmaninoff's selection, considered the most difficult modern 'cello sonata ever written. Its Russian spirit offered an interesting contrast to the two preceding numbers.

FIRST VISIT SUCCESS

On her first appearance at KHJ Florence Mason Tatsch's pleasing soprano voice carried the higher notes of her selections with apparently no difficulty. Ably accompanied by Mrs. F. J. Schwankovsky, she offered three well-received numbers.

Marjorie Vorhees, who has held the rapt attention of KHJ listeners on other occasions, returned with her magnetic violin to again delight her many friends in Radioland. Her rendition of "Meditation" from "Thais," gave proof of the excellent quality of her tones. She was accompanied by her sister, Gladys Vorhees.

Ferris R. Miller, in response to popular demand, delivered a special address on "The Truth in Advertising." Fred C. McNabb of the Aggeler & Musser Seed Company, gave another interesting and instructive talk on the care of gardens.

Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog, departing from his tales of American history, took his hearers on a long cruise with the famous English sea rovers, Drake, Raleigh and Hawkins. The trip was invigorating and did not contain a dull moment.

DICK WINSLOW TALKS

Dick Winslow, the juvenile reporter, went to the famous Mission Inn last week, roamed through the place, marked the points of interest in his mind, and came to KHJ last night to give the lads and lasses his observations.

His brother Kenneth, 11 years of age, joined the party with a brief discussion of the bell collection at the inn, while their little sister, Camilla, told of the noted court of birds and her acquaintanceship with Joseph and Opal, two of the macaws.

Ethel Brown entered the spirit of the children's hour and sang songs with a winsomeness that was captivating. She was accompanied by H. W. Vetter. Bud Pentz, 15-year-old pianist pupil of A. D. Cajal, displayed a musical maturity that commendably reflected his native talent and the instructive guidance of his teacher. Uncle John completed the program with his bedtime story.

SEES GOOD BUSINESS AHEAD

John Mody Tells Chamber Members of His Views; S..T. Mather Explains Park Plans

Two speakers of national reputation addressed the biweekly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Biltmore yesterday. They were Stephen T. Mather, of Washington, director of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, and John Moody, of New York, financial analyst, author and president of Moody's Investors' Service.

Mr. Mather told chamber members that the National Park Service has set aside $2,300,000 to be spent on the four national parks of California, mainly in the construction of roads. Mr. Moody met some of the arguments of pessimists who believe they see the end of the present ra of prosperity approaching, and stated that in his judgment, based on many years' study of business conditions in this country, there are no signs of depression and that the nation will continue to make progress and to prosper as it has in the past.

ASKS CATTLE PLAGUE AID

C. E. Gordon of Berkeley, representing the extension branch of the United States Department of Agriculture and the agricultural department of the University of California, spoke briefly of the spread of the foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in California, urging the importance of observing regulations laid down to stamp out this plague. He asked that the Chamber of Commerce cooperate in the efforts being made to check the disease.

Speaking of what the government is doing for national parks, Mr. Mather stated that a bill providing for an appropriation of $7,500,000 for park improvements already has passed the House, has been favorably reported by the Senate committee and that it was probable it would be adopted by the Senate within the next few days.

"California, with its four national parks, will come in for a full share of this proposed appropriation," said Mr. Mather. "It is purposed to spend $1,500,000 on road building in the Yosemite, which will place road facilities of this park in first-class condition. The State recently has completed an excellent road to Merced, which is close to the boundaries of Yosemite Park, and as soon as roads within the park are finished, motorists visiting the park will be able to tour the park without experiencing difficulties at any stage of the trip.

FIFTH PARK PLANNED

"Some $465,000 also will be spent on roads in Sequoia Park and to the Giant Forest, and when these are completed it will make one of the most wonderful motor trips in the world. At Lassen Park, in the northern part of the State, where the only active volcano in the United States is located, $340,000 will be expended for road improvements."

The director stated that there is in contemplation by the Park Service the establishment of a fifth national park in this State setting aside an area of the famous redwoods to preserve them from total destruction. "The plans for this project are not completed, but they will be carried out eventually," he said.

Mr. Moody opened his address by paying his compliments to California, of which State he said he expects to become a citizen soon.

PROFIT REFUSED

"I bought three acres of land at a place called Carmel Heights, north of here, about a year ago, paying $6000 for it," said Mr. Moody. "About two weeks afterward I was offered $7500. After I got back to New York a friend who had seen the tract offered $10,000, and a few weeks ago I was asked if I would take $12,000. I have decided that property in such demand must be a good place to live."

Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Moody referred especially to the opinion often expressed that 1924 may see a slump because it is Presidential year.

"There is nothing to substantiate this idea," he declared. "The best guide as to what is likely to happen this year is found in the records of previous Presidential years. There was no slump in 1916, in 1912 conditions were normal, in 1908 there was a big revival of business after the depression of 1907, in 1904 began a wave of prosperity unprecedented in the country's history, in 1900 business was good, and the first signs of a political year's adverse influence we find as we go back in the records is in 1896, when the free silver question was the big issue.

"There is no issue this year that should affect business adversely, notwithstanding the multiplicity of investigations now going on in Washington or the somewhat complex state of politics.

"If the political situation should have any effect at all on business, it would be temporary only. There may be a tendency on the part of some business interests to hold back for a time, but in my judgment there is nothing to cause a general depression such as was experienced in 1920 and 1921 on account of the period of wild speculation and inflation of prices which took place during and immediately after the war."

LONG BEACH GIVEN HONOR IN CONTEST

Long Beach was named honor city in cities of the second class in the United States in the fire-waste contest conducted by the National Fire Waste Council, an announcement yesterday from western headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce stated. In reduction of fire losses and fire prevention work Long Beach ranked next to Hoboken, N. J., winner of the grand prize.

Every day's "make" from each Tillamook cheese kitchen is examined by our association inspector. Wonderful, rich flavor is 45% of his test. Is it any wonder Tillamook has won first prizes the country over?

Not a pound leaves the valley as "Tillamook" unless it comes up to the strict association standard.

This is why you should ask for Tillamook by name—why you should look for the brand on every loaf and pound.

Such precaution produces cheese strictly fresh and of uniform quality; it insures you the rich, creamy flavor Tillamook alone possesses.

Send for our recipe book, especially prepared for us by Alice Bradley of Miss Farmer's Boston School of Cookery. Buy Tillamook in the convenient five pound loaf or by the slice, at your grocer's.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

M.—Please go to a skilled obstetrician (maternity doctor) for an examination and care. I hope your wish is going to be gratified.

"Dear Doctor: Have been following your advice to the F.F.F. and have lost twenty-five pounds. Isn't that wonderful? I cannot remember that I have ever felt as well as I feel now. But there is something bothering me: I have great fat chunks on my shoulder blades. Is there any special exercise that will reduce that part of me? I know quite a few fat ladies who are troubled that way. Gratefully yours—G."

Deep massage on the chunks, together with your continued dieting, will make some impression. There is a rolling machine used in some reducing institutions that is very effective. You can roll on the floor also. Put some papers or a sheet on the floor and rock back and forth. All the exercises for the shoulders and arms would help. Take time!

Mrs. H.—Take your little boy to an ear specialist or to your family physician. It is very dangerous to neglect a running ear. Permanent deafness may result, or he might develop mastoid abscess—that is, the pus germs may finally work around into the cells in the bone back of the ear, and then a serious operation will have to be performed.

If you sent a self-addressed stamped envelope and 4 cents in stamps, the pamphlet on how to gain and how to reduce has been sent you. Did you do that? If not, try again.

Mrs. B.—You say your girl of 10 is much underweight and you have difficulty in getting her eat. She eats lots of fruit, but spicy foods, meat and white bread, cream and she will take a little milk. She is very active.

Her diet is decidedly wrong, Mrs. B. She should have very little meat and no pickles or spiced food, and she should have plenty of vegetables and fruit and lots of butter. The following is a foundation diet for children:

For the protective foods: At least three glasses of milk a day; one full cup of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables (part raw;) one full cup of fruit, part fresh, if possible. For the energy foods: whole-wheat breads and cereals; fats, in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks, and nuts.

We recently had some reports on the Malnourished Child. These are compiled in book form, together with the other instructions for feeding children. We will be glad to you the name of the book and the author if you request it. Lack of space forbids our giving it here.

"Dear Doctor: I am a girl from my home town now living in Los Angeles. I have my paper sent to me every day for your column."

Good! — Write that to the editor of your paper.

Mrs. L.—Babies can have orange juice by the third month by beginning with about ten drops in a teaspoonful of water, and increasing a drop or so a day until it takes two tablespoonfuls. It should not be sweetened.

The first thing to do in case of convulsions is to give a hot mustard bath—one tablespoon of mustard to a gallon of water for five or ten minutes. Have the baby as hot as you can comfortably bear your elbow in. Place a cold towel dipped in cold water, or an ice bag, on the head. A mustard pack may be more convenient to give, using some large cloths wrung out of the mustard water and wrapping the child in them. Leave on until the skin is reddened well.

As soon as possible, give enemas with warm soapsuds and a dose of castor oil. Nothing should be given but water for six or eight hours, then cereals or vegetables, milk and water, or fruit juices after twenty-four hours.

Call your physician, of course. While convulsions of children are most often due to indigestion, you want to be sure they are not from a more serious cause.

BRUNETTE ACCUSED

Wife Says Mate Paid Attention to "Ugly Woman"

Her husband's attentions to an ugly brunette" are set forth as intolerable affront by Mrs. Hendrick, in a suit for divorce from Clarence E. Hendrick, filed yesterday.

The Hendricks separated February 7 last, and thereafter, according to the complaint, Hendrick assisted in driving by the home in which his wife lived in the company of the "ugly brunette," while drawing raucous shrieks from the klaxon on his car.

Erases Wrinkles in Less than 15 Minutes

Scientists have at last taken up seriously the problem of removing wrinkles and age lines. Many experiments have been made. The result indicates that the "tarkroot" method is the best because it produces immediate results with perfect safety and comfort. It consists simply in spreading over the face a mixture of powdered tarkroot, one spoonful, and lemon juice, one spoonful. In your mirror, before your very eyes you can watch the wrinkles and lines literally melt away—in less than 15 minutes! The sensation from this brief treatment is most refreshing. The effect is far better than that produced by the most expert massage. Tarkroot is so cheap you could eat it. And the cost of a package is trifling—less than 50 cents when purchased in the original package at any drug store. Advertisement.

Mrs. B.—You say your little girl of 10 is much underweight and you have difficulty in making her eat. She eats lots of pickles, spicy foods, meat and whipped cream and she will take a little milk. She is very active.

Her diet is decidedly wrong, Mrs. B. She should have very little meat and no pickles or spiced food, and she should have vegetables and fruit and lots of milk. The following is a foundation diet for children:

For the protective foods: At least three glasses of milk a day; one full cup of vegetables, especially the green leaf vegetables (part raw;) one full cup of fruit, part fresh, if possible. For energy foods: whole-wheat breads and cereals; fats, in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks, and nuts.

We recently had some articles on the Malnourished Child. These are compiled in book form now with the other instructions for feeding children. We will give you the name of the book and the author if you request it. Modern science forbids our giving it here.

"Dear Doctor: I am sending from my home town now but I have my paper sent to me every day for your column."

Good! — Write that to the editor of your paper.

Mrs. L.—Babies can have orange juice by the third month by beginning with about ten drops in a teaspoonful of water, and increasing a drop or so a day until it takes two tablespoonsful. It should not be sweetened.

The first thing to do in case of convulsions is to give a hot mustard bath—one tablespoon of mustard to a gallon of water for ten minutes. Have the water as hot as you can comfortably bear your elbow in. Place a towel dipped in cold water, or an ice bag, on the head. A mustard pack may be more convenient to give, using some large towel wrung out of the mustard water and wrapping the child in this. Leave on until the skin is reddened well.

As soon as possible, give an enema with warm soapsuds and a dose of castor oil. Nothing should be given but water for six or eight hours, then cereals or thin milk and water, or fruit juices, for twenty-four hours.

Call your physician, of course. While convulsions of children are most often due to indigestion you want to be sure they are not from a more serious cause.

The Hendricks separated February 7 last, and thereafter, according to the complaint, Hendrick was assisted in driving by the house in which his wife lived in the company of the "ugly brunette," while drawing raucous shrieks from the klaxon on his car.

The Woman and Her Job

by Valeria Stratton

[Questions concerning the problems of women will be answered in this column if addressed to Mrs. Watrous at The Times. If a personal reply is desired a stamped envelope must be inclosed.]

TO THE FOREIGN-LANGUAGE GIRL

Dear Mrs. Watrous:

From Berlin I have arrived in the United States. Shorthand I wrote there very quickly; also made translations from English. I cannot write my shorthand in the business office here, and am very unhappy. Where shall I get English shorthand, and how long will it be before I can write it so rapidly as in the German language. I shall be very happy to receive your kind reply. [Signed] ELSA.

This is the second letter of this character in the past two weeks. The answer is the same in both cases.

You cannot, by dear Elsa, think in one language and write in another. It is apparent that you are thinking in German.

Shorthand is a system of symbols used to represent the sounds in the language. There are probably many more throat sounds in the German language than in English. Aside from the difference in sounds and a familiarity with them, I see no reason why you should not be able to use the same system here that you used in Germany.

I used to do reporting, and while I have not written shorthand in a number of years, I never could forget those characters.

It would seem to me a difficult thing to learn any other system. The sound of the words would immediately suggest those strokes and hooks, and a new set would not mean the same things.

You need a course in business English even more than you need shorthand, and in taking such a course it is important that you sit down and work out your studies on the typewriter. If you work in longhand, it will not seem the same when you do it on the machine. It will not have the same appearance. You must familiarize yourself with typewritten English, because that is the medium with which you will express yourself in an office.

A still further handicap is the fact that people from other countries seek friends among those who speak the language of the country from which they have come. It is quite to be expected that they feel more at home where the language of their childhood is spoken.

Once more I say: You can't think in one language and write in another. You can't talk German, or French or Italian at home and think and talk in English in your office.

It seems rather astonishing to meet Germans who have been living here for thirty years. Their accent is most marked, and many times they are difficult to understand. Then you go into their homes and you find that the whole family is talking German and thinking in German. They are reading books and newspapers printed in their own language, and fixing the sounds of that tongue in their minds.

You have come to this country, Elsa, to find a peace, and prosperity you did not find in your own. If it is a desirable place to make money, then you should begin at once to learn its ways, adapt yourself to its language, determine to abide by its laws and accept its ideals for your own.

Go to a good business college, or a night school, and take a course in business English. Talk with an instructor in shorthand about the kind of stenographic system you have learned, and she will advise you.

KITTLE NAMES CHIEF PLOTTER

Says Sullivan Ringleader in Arcadia Bank Robbery

Widespread Search is Started for Indicted Suspect

Aviator Declares Convicted Mexicans Innocent

Statements attributed to Hubert Kittle, daredevil aviator and former investigator for the police department, and several other persons prompted the printing yesterday of many thousand bulletins to be circulated throughout the country requesting the arrest of Frank J. Sullivan, well-known man-about-town, as the chief plotter in the robbery of the First National Bank of Arcadia in April, 1923.

Sullivan's name headed a list of seven persons in as many indictments returned by the county grand jury two weeks ago in that body's investigation of the asserted "railroading" to the penitentiary of three Mexicans convicted of the Arcadia bank robbery, a crime of which they now are declared to be innocent. Since the action of the county grand jury a chain of evidence against Sullivan as the ring leader and chief participant in the crime, has been strengthened daily, according to the authorities.

Sullivan, in the indictment, is charged with suspicion of robbery. He is said to be the man who plotted the Arcadia robbery and who drove the automobile in which the actual participants, known as the "Tom Gray gang," made their escape with the plunder.

LEAVES SOUTHLAND

At the time of the grand jury investigation, Sullivan was in Los Angeles. As soon as the indictments were returned, though the names were withheld from publication, he immediately left Southern California and since that time a diligent search of the entire Southwest has been conducted by the robbery squad of Sheriff Traeger's office, under the personal supervision of Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Bell, head of the robbery detail.

Others being sought on indictments are Frank W. Mitchell, alias William McMahon; Eddie Burns and one whose name is being withheld. Tom Gray was also indicted, but he is at present serving a life sentence in a northern prison. Two of the men indicted are Hubert Kittle and Daniel G. McGregor, charged with receiving stolen property taken as loot in the robbery. They are now in the County Jail, being held on $25,000 bonds each.

Since Kittle's arrest he has had several conferences with Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright and Deputy Sheriff Walter Hotz who, with Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar, arrested Kittle and McGregor. Kittle's first interviews with the officials were fruitless. Later, he requested permission to talk and this he did, his interrogation by Chief Deputy Wright consuming four hours.

STATEMENTS SECRET

The contents of this statement are being guarded with utmost secrecy and only three copies are in existence. Deputy Sheriff Hotz possesses one, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke has one, and Richard Kittrelle, Kittle's attorney, possesses the third. Regardless of this secrecy, portions of its contents have become known, and in it Kittle is believed to have made some startling statements of his knowledge of the Arcadia bank robbery, though stating he was not a participant in the crime.

In Kittle's statement, many of the perplexing details of the Arcadia robbery are said to have been cleared up. In that robbery three men entered the bank and obtained $10,000 in cash and negotiable bonds and express money orders, and one man remained in the automobile that was parked outside. The car was said to have been a Chevrolet, and shortly after the robbery a Chevrolet automobile was recovered and in it were found money wrappers and several silver dollars. The car was a stolen one, and when found the rear curtain was damaged, two bullet holes were in it and one of the cushions was smeared with blood. Regardless of this discovery, four Mexicans were arrested half an hour after the robbery in a Ford car. All four men were armed. They were arrested, tried and convicted for the robbery.

INNOCENCE TOLD

"I am convinced now that those four Mexicans did not pull the job," Kittle declared to a Times reporter last night. "Further than that, I am saying nothing. My case is in the hands of my attorney and he will do the talking for me."

Though Kittle declined to discuss the details of his statement to the officials, it is understood that since he made it the investigators believe that Sullivan drove the Chevrolet car used in the robbery, that the bandits and the money were transferred to a second car, also driven by Sullivan, and that the mystery of the bullet holes in the Chevrolet has been solved.

During the latter phases of the investigation, two women have also been questioned several times. One of these women was held at the County Jail for a short period for investigation, her arrest being based upon the belief that she was also an actual participant, but she later was released.

Though it is understood that Kittle was not a participant in the robbery for which the Mexicans were imprisoned, he is being held on an indictment naming him as one who helped to dispose of the plunder. This consisted of several express money orders cashed by one "G. McDonald" in San Diego and Tijuana. Kittle was with McDonald, later identified as Daniel G. McGregor, at the time the checks were cashed. McGregor, in a statement to Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright, and Deputy Sheriff Hotz, admitted he signed and passed the checks, but he declared he did so when he was threatened with a gun by Kittle.

DENIES CHARGES

"I never drew a gun on that man in my life," Kittle stated last night. "I had nothing to do with those checks. I admit I did go to San Diego with him, but that is no crime. I have made trips with many persons whom I regarded as my friends."

Kittle was released two weeks ago on bonds of $7500. He later was rearrested, and his bonds were raised to $25,000 following the statement made by McGregor.

GLOBE LINER SPEEDS UP

Dollar Craft, Aground for Two Days, to Leave Here on Schedule; Newcomers are Due Soon

The Dollar around-the-world liner President Monroe, which was aground off Fowey Rocks, Florida, for two days while en route here from New York, will sail on schedule from Los Angeles on the 8th inst., it was announced yesterday. Radiograms received from Capt. H. W. Dowling indicate that the big liner has already made up one day on her retarded schedule.

The President Monroe, sixth of the Dollar fleet of seven sister ships to call here, has approximately thirty passengers for Los Angeles, prominent among them being Miss Marjorie Chisholm of Seattle and Mrs. A. M. Pope of Redlands. A like number of travelers will board the vessel here for the globe cruise.

The week-end at the port will be a busy one in the offshore passenger business. In addition to the arrival of the President Monroe there will be the Pacific Mail liner Venezuela, coming in on the 5th inst. from New York and Central America with 125 passengers, while on the following day the Panama-Pacific steamer Kroonland will arrive from the north. She will sail on the morning of the 7th with nearly 400 passengers for Havana and New York.

During the week there will be an unusual number of vessels calling here for their first visits, two of them establishing new services out of Los Angeles Harbor. Notable among these is the giant British tank steamer Cadillac of 12,074 gross tons, due tomorrow from Avonmouth as the first vessel to call here under the house flag of the Anglo-American Oil Company, Ltd., maintaining a fleet of forty vessels in the merchant service. She will load fuel oil at the Standard Oil terminal for United Kingdom delivery.

Also due as a newcomer here is the turbine steamer Catahoula, coming from Mobile to load for her owners, the American Fuel & Transportation Company of Philadelphia. Others to arrive include the tanker Gidania, flying the flag of the Free City of Danzig, and the Shipping Board steamer Victorious, from Manila.

The annual movement of citrus fruit to Europe and the United Kingdom was started yesterday with the departure of the Royal Mail liner Lochgoil, carrying 1900 cases of oranges in her refrigerator holds, in addition to 10,000 cases of apricots, 1200 cases of peaches, 4900 cases of granulated borax and 150 bales of cotton from Los Angeles. She also took twelve passengers from this port.

The record shipment of oranges, however, will go to the United Kingdom on the 11th inst., when the Furness-Prince turbine liner London Merchant sails with 11,000 boxes of the Southern California fruit. It will be the first call of the London Merchant here, establishing the Furness-Prince Line's fast nine-ship passenger and refrigerator service to North Europe and Great Britain.

BANK DECEIT CHARGES HIT BY LAWYER

Woman' Story Against Long Beach Officials is Denied by Attorney

Charges that the Marine Trust and Savings Bank of Long Beach used misrepresentation and deceit in a $14,970-note deal with Mrs. Elizabeth B. Green, to which she testified yesterday before Judge Luttrell in the suit wherein the bank is seeking recovery of the money, were yesterday denied in a statement issued by Louis N. Wheaton, attorney for the bank.

Mrs. Green, who was made defendant by the bank, which asserted that she refused to pay the promissory note, testified yesterday that she was loaned $4970 by the bank and given two notes on the Pacific Corporation which, with interest, totaled $10,000 in return for her note. She asserted that the Pacific Corporation paper was worthless, and that fact was known to the bankers when she was given the notes. She testified that the bank officials told her that the bank examiners were coming, and that it would look better to have her name on the note than that of the Pacific Corporation.

A different construction was put upon the transaction by Mr. Wheaton in his statement.

"The bank gave Mrs. Green a cashier's check for $10,000, which she turned over to B. R. Parrott," said the attorney. "Then Parrott used the check to purchase the Pacific Corporation paper. The Marine Trust Bank is not dodging the bank examiners, nor it is in the habit of selling negotiable paper."

Mrs. Green testified that while she received the cashier's check, it was in order to facilitate the purchase of the notes, and that they were taken at the solicitation of the bankers and on their statement that the paper was worth its face value.

A membership committee has been formed of which John H. Blair has been chosen chairman and which will immediately launch a drive to secure the 25,000 members set as the goal for the membership of the Greater Los Angeles Association.

GREAT PROGRESS

"Every mail," said Mr. Blair, "is bringing in scores of applications, with checks attached for the entire personnel of some of the leading organizations in Los Angeles, and to my mind no movement has ever been launched in Los Angeles, which has been so heartily indorsed by everyone. Tony, the boy who blacks my shoes, this morning asked me regarding the Greater Los Angeles Association and signified that he too wanted to do his bit and get behind the great drive which is gradually gaining momentum and which will eventually place Greater Los Angeles as the foremost industrial community in the entire world."

HIS HIGH "C" FOILS JAIL KEY

bile zig-zag, from wall to wall; that is all over the sidewalks. He was arrested for reckless driving.

Now, M. Bois De Chene on the following morning called loudly for the jailor and insisted that he telephone Eugene Pouyet. That gentleman, it so happened, was well and favorably known to the police, once, years back, having been a policeman himself. Since then he has risen in the world, as it were, having been consecutively journalist and technical (costume) director in the motion pictures, the latter occupation being his last so far.

"We got a friend of yours down here," M. Pouyet was told over the telephone, and when he heard the name of the erstwhile Swiss consul he hurried to Central Station.

HAS A TENOR VOICE

Up to that time M. Bois De Chene had been quiescent. But it develops that he is blessed or cursed with a bad combination, a dramatic soul and a tenor voice. His tenor robusto has rattled the windows of many a lodge hall where the Swiss colony has held its amateur theatricals. It is a good voice in quality, but terrifying in volume. Like Caruso's in the former instance and in the latter like a sporting editor calling for a copy boy.

So when Mr. Pouyet appeared at the cell door M. Bois de Chene leaped from the cot, where he had been sitting, and burst forth in what he later said was song. He sang a popular Swiss patriotic air:

"Liberte, Liberte cherie,
"Vous etes mon amour."

Every stone in the old police station was shaken, and the concussion could be heard for a block around.

"Liberty, Liberty, my dear,
"You are my love."

Such sentiment can be rendered only fortissimo.

"Wait," cried M. Pouyet. "You are not free yet. I have come to see what I can do in the way of bail."

M. Bois de Chene is a small man, with a large curled mustache and a large nose, rather red at the end. But as he stood there in a dramatic posture he made a striking picture, M. Pouyet thought.

ANOTHER OUTBURST

"No liberty for me," cried the roast beef cook, and he wrung his hands and acted all over the cell; first dejection then fear, then heroics. When he reached the latter stage, he began to sing a strain from "William Tell," which opera lovers will recall—

"Mieux vaut la mort
"Que l'esclavage."

"Better death
"Than slavery."

"Shut up," said M. Pouyet, "they will keep you in jail ten years for that."

The lost aria had shaken all the papers off the captain's desk upstairs and police were running every which way.

First they wanted to send M. Bois de Chene to the psychopathic hospital, but his friend and countryman explained that he was merely poetic and musical. The erstwhile policeman-journalist-director paid the bail money, and when the prisoner realized that he was free at last he broke forth louded than ever—

"Liberte, Liberte cherie—"

M. Pouyet dragged M. Bois de Chene out onto the street, at the insistent demands of the police.

"Take the noise outside," yelled one policeman, a low fellow of no artistic sensibilities whatsoever.

VALHALLA PARK CASE NEARS END

Final Arguments at Hearing Are Expected to be Made Today

Final arguments in the hearing of the misrepresentation charges filed against the Osborne-Fitzpatrick Company in connection with the sale of Valhalla Cemetery lots are expected to be made today, Real Estate Commissioner E. T. Keiser said at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing.

The defense is understood to have about completed its case following the placing of expert witnesses on the stand yesterday to testify concerning methods employed by the company in the development of the burial park.

A somewhat heated argument arose in the meeting yesterday when Leo Youngworth, representing the section buyers, asked that the company be ordered to submit a statement of its finances. After several minutes of active discussion between counsel the commissioner ruled that he could not make such an order.

Spectaters were reprimanded by the commissioner to refrain from any show of sentimentality which had been evoked during the testimony of James H. Morton, 77-year-old caretaker and landscape man at the park.

Mr. Morton, in answer to a question as to the advisability of planting fir trees in a locality where bodies might be interred, recalled Brant's poem, "Thanatopsis," and told of the beautiful passage where the roots of trees are described as entwining around the bones of the departed.

The hearing will be resumed today at 10 o'clock in the Railroad Commission hearing rooms, eighth floor of the Pacific Finance Building.

Maid Arrested as Room Yields Valuable Loot

Clothing and furs valued at about $2000, which had been stolen from the home of Mrs. Violet Reed Erson, business manager for Gloria Swanson, and Theda Bara, were recovered last night by police in a room occupied by Beatrice Allen, 17, negro maid employed by Mrs. Erson. The girl was arrested on a burglary charge and taken to Juvenile Hall.

She obtained employment in the Erson home at 6427 Yucca street, Hollywood, some months ago. A short time ago a Hudson seal coat, dresses, underwear and other articles of apparel valued at $1500 disappeared. At the same time Olive Stevenson, maid for Theda Bara, whose apartment is adjacent to the Erson home, reported to the police that clothing valued at $500 had been stolen from her room.

The negro maid's room at 2219 Long Beach Boulevard was searched last night and the plunder found, police announced.

REHEARING OF YOUTHS IS DELAYED

Daedler and Forrester Held in Quarantine at Juvenile Hall

Rehearing of the testimony in the cases of Paul Daedler and William Forrester, accused of the murder last December of Arthur Martinez, 5 years of age, was continued yesterday by Judge Archbald of the Juvenile Court to the 16th inst. The delay was occasioned by the fact that the boys are under quarantine at Juvenile Hall.

Reopening of the case was ordered after Forrester was reported by officials of the Preston State School to have absolved Daedler of any connection with slaying of the Martinez boys whose body was found in a deserted factory building in Pasadena.

The continuance, it was said yesterday, will give the Supreme Court the opportunity to pass on an application for a writ of habeas corpus brought by Daedler's attorney, Emordy D. Martindale, in which the constitutionality of the Juvenile Court Act of 1915 is questioned. The high court is scheduled to hear arguments on the matter the 14th inst., when it convenes in Los Angeles. Martindale contends in his application that Daedler is being illegally held, in that he was charged with a felony and imprisoned without his guilt or innocence being passed upon by a jury.

Two May Die as Result of Auto Mishaps

A woman and a child were perhaps fatally injured in traffic accidents last night. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital and later transferred to the General Hospital. Physicians said she was suffering from internal injuries, concussion and a possible skull fracture.

Annie Antonez, 5 years of age, of 923 Aliso street, was run down at the intersection of Aliso and Pleasant avenues by a machine driven by D. Skass of 611 South Soto street. She also was taken to the Receiving Hospital where physicians said she had virtually no chance for recovery.

Receiver Requested for W. N. Katz, Who Was Named in Divorce Case

Revealing the asserted disappearance of W. N. Katz, Western-avenue plumber, attorneys yesterday brought before Presiding Judge York of the Superior Court a petition asking that a receiver be appointed to take over Katz's business. The M. Stulsaft Company, which declared Katz was indebted to it for $3553.29, was the plaintiff in the action.

Katz sprang into the limelight several months ago when Charles C. Dingeldein named him defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages for the asserted alienation of affections of Mrs. Olga W. Dingeldein. Dingeldein charged that his wife, who was said to have been in the employ of Katz, engaged in a clandestine love affair with Katz at a hot-springs resort in Ventura county. The same charges were reiterated by Dingeldein in a cross-complaint for divorce he filed in answer to action instituted by his wife.

One of the affidavits taken before Judge York yesterday and signed by Mary Katz, wife of the plumber, stated he had disappeared March 12 last and had not been heard of since. Judge York granted the petition asking for the appointment of a receiver.

ASSET DISTRIBUTION OPINION GIVEN OUT

State Corporation Commissioner Daugherty was advised yesterday by Atty.-Gen. Webb that the Corporation Department is without jurisdiction to authorize the distribution of capital assets of a corporation. Deputy Commissioner Walther said the department has made, in certain cases, a partial distribution of assets in the past. The strict legality of the action was questioned recently and advice sought from the Attorney-General.

TRIAL OF BRIBERY SUSPECT UNDER WAY

A jury in Judge Crail's court yesterday began hearing testimony in the trial of Louis Martinez, indicted by the county grand jury on a charge of bribing a police officer. Martinez is asserted to have given Officer O. L. Childers $150 in an effort to have the policeman release him after he had been taken into custody on a charge of violating the Wright Act.

"KID" M'MULLEN FOUND GUILTY

Recommendation for Life Term Returned

Sentence Pronouncement is Set for Friday

Reid Also Convicted of Robbery Attempt

James "Red" McMullen was found guilty of murder in the first degree yesterday by a jury which returned to Judge Avery at 5:10 o'clock after being out since 10:10 o'clock. The jury recommended life imprisonment. It also found McMullen guilty of attempted robbery, for which the penalty is one to forty years' imprisonment.

For the same crime, the killing of Clarence Weingarten in a trunk-factory hold-up on January 21, Clarence "Tuffy" Reid is under sentence to hang. Reid was said to have fired the shots that killed Weingarten, and McMullen is his companion in the hold-up.

TELLS OF FEAR

Reid took the stand and said he had forced him to aid, and he was afraid of Reid, whom he described as full of fear. A jury of ten men and two women, with Roy J. Haughton as foreman, decided the case.

Judge Avery set the time of McMullen's sentence for Friday morning.

Reid's capture was brought about because he lost his hat during the hold-up, and borrowed one from a cowboy whom he told he had just cruised a man and had "put one out of town." The newsboy told the police, and Reid was soon arrested in a northern city.

CAPTURE RECENT

Reid was soon identified as the suspect, but was not captured until a few weeks ago. Reid's trial was dramatic in the extreme. He admitted the hold-up, but declared he had no recollection of shooting Weingarten. Reid, only 20 years of age, he said, is a drug addict, he admitted, and declared he was under the influence of drugs when he entered the factory-street trunk store.

MAN IS HELD ON OBSCENE MAIL COUNT

Dayton School Head is Indicted on Charge Made by His Wife

Returning to Chicago to face charges of embezzlement of funds of the McCormick Medical College, a drugless healing school, Dr. Ward McCormick of 1 North Avenue 50, started proceedings that resulted in the indictment of her husband. Dr. McCormick, president of the school, is charged with sending obscene matter through the mail, according to complaints received here yesterday.

The financial troubles of the McCormick Medical College first came to light in Los Angeles when Dr. McCormick was taken into custody on a fugitive warrant charging embezzlement of about $5000 while she was employed as bookkeeper and cashier.

Statements issued after her arrest, she attributed the charge to her husband's anger when she left Dayton to make her home in Los Angeles. She gained her liberty in the latter and later was released by Gov. Richardson refusing to grant extradition requests of the Chicago authorities.

Immediately upon her arrival here, Mrs. McCormick gained liberty in $1000 bond and immediately presented her charges against her husband and Dr. Black to the Federal District Attorney, who referred them to Dr. McNaughton.

Following this, Dr. McNaughton, it is said, Mrs. McCormick plans to institute proceedings for divorce shortly after her return to Los Angeles from Dayton.

EXPLORER IS GUILTY AS BOY KILLER

Former Police Officer Convicted in Fatal Shooting in Lot

After deliberating for a scant hour and a half, a jury yesterday found Charles E. Fierer, a former police officer, guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of L. S. Rogers, 16-year-old schoolboy.

The trial before Judge Hahn brought out the fact that Rogers was shot on December 30, 1923, during a gang of boys, shooting scattered and ran at the approach of Officers Fierer and Hunter. Rogers, fleeing through a vacant lot, was hit by a bullet from Fierer's gun. The officer said he saw one of the boys pull a gun and drew his own to protect himself after the youths disregarded his command to halt.

Fierer was prosecuted by Deputy Dist.-Atty. Ostrom. Defense attorneys were Cassell and Stafford. Sentence will be imposed upon Fierer on the 7th inst.

VOLLMER ENLISTS HELPERS

"Get Acquainted" Meeting Brings Club Leaders Under Chief's Banner in Fight for Funds

A majority of the city's leading club women attended a "get acquainted" luncheon at the Lincoln Heights Jail yesterday as the guests of Chief of Police Vollmer and as a result definite plans were laid for the organization of the club women into a unit in support of the police bond issue. Jail fare was served to the women present.

Chief Vollmer outlined the new plan of decentralizing the police divisions into smaller groups as the first step in the working out of his slogan, "Make Los Angeles the Safest City in the World." For this purpose a $1,000,000 bond issue is being launched to provide for the building of eleven new stations, signal devices and an intercommunicating system between stations.

"The police department is trying to put love into its crime prevention," the Chief stated, "the kind of love which is fearful for you, angry at those who harm you, and is curious of all your activities."

Dr. Marion Tracy Whiting, chairman of the bond campaign for the women and president of the West Ebell Club, laid out a definite plan of organization for the women and asked each club president or head of activity to take back the plan to her group. Mrs. Susan Dorsey, Superintendent of City Schools, lauded the city police department for its recent help in the school traffic problem. She stated that parents no longer can make a bugaboo of the police officer to frighten their children for they are meeting him as a friend every day while going to and from school.

Others who spoke at the luncheon were Mrs. Harry G. Henley, president of the Soroptimist Club, who presided; Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz and Mab Copeland Lineman, chairman of legislation for the Los Angeles district federation. A short program preceded the talks when Cyrus Johnson, poet-policeman, gave several of his poems. There were songs by Mrs. J. J. Abramson and Mrs. Joseph Campbell and a violin number by Dimple Gulfings. The women at the luncheon wore those at the head of activities throughout the city.

PAYMASTER IN SHORTAGE STILL FREE

Local Department of Justice Officers Have No Arrest Orders

Neither Chief Agent Wheeler of the Department of Justice in Los Angeles nor United States Marshal Sittel had received instructions up to a late hour yesterday to locate and arrest Lieut. Ervine R. Brown, missing navy paymaster of the Thirty-first Destroyer Division, they said. Lieut. Brown's accounts were checked and reported to have been $120,000 short after he failed to report for duty following a leave of absence, it was stated in dispatches Tuesday.

The local Federal officials said they had not been officially apprised of the case. No action would be taken until the matter was formally referred to them, they said.

Further inquiries among the naval colony at Coronado failed to shed any light on the family and personal affairs of Lieut. Brown. In the absence from the Eleventh Naval District headquarters of Rear-Admiral Robertson, who is indisposed, it could not be learned what steps, if any, have been taken here to trace the missing man. Practically all the close associates of Brown are absent with the destroyer squadrons.

The Brown family never took part in the social activities of the naval set and consequently were more or less obscure. Departure last week of Mrs. Brown and her three children, together with Brown's mother, for a destination which their few friends understood was Azusa, did not occasion any surprise among neighbors. When interviewed they said they were under the impression the family had decided to make their future home in Azusa.

LOCAL FORT INSPECTION TO BE MADE

District Commander of Ninth Artillery Corps Due Last of Week

A two-day tour of inspection of the coast defenses of Los Angeles will be made at Fort MacArthur on the 5th and 7th inst. by Brig.-Gen. Henry D. Todd, district commander of the Ninth Corps Artillery District, it was announced at the local post yesterday. Gen. Todd's visit will comprise the regular annual tactical inspection of the defenses and personnel, featured by a review of the garrison on the day of his departure.

The annual sanitary inspection of Fort MacArthur will also be made next week by Maj. Charles E. McBrayer, medical officer of the Ninth Corps Area. Maj. McBrayer, while here, will also make a survey of hygienic conditions on the upper reservations of Fort MacArthur, relative to the encampment there next August of the entire Coast Artillery Corps of the California National Guard for annual training period.

Both Gen. Todd and Maj. McBrayer will proceed to San Diego for inspection of Fort Rosecrans following their visits at this post.

DEMURRER TO PLEA ON FILM STORY LOST

JUDGE OVERRULES ACTION TO VON STROHEIM'S INJUNCTION SUIT

Judge Collier yesterday overruled a demurrer of the Citizens' Print Shop to a petition for an injunction brought by Erich Von Stroheim, film director, against Georges Lewys, author, and others, in which Von Stroheim sought to enjoin the defendants from publishing and distributing a novel version of the screen play, "Merry-Go-Round."

Von Stroheim asserted Miss Lewys had caused the work to be copyrighted in her own name and had arranged with the defendant print shop for its publication. The director asserted he was the sole author of the work. The print shop based its demurrer on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction in the case and that the complaint was ambiguous.

ACCUSED PLOTTER OF BOMBING ARRAIGNED

Joseph Lanzit, accused of the attempted murder of his wife Josephine, her mother and brother, and of planning to dynamite the Royale Barbecue at Venice, was arraigned before Judge Shenk yesterday. His plea was adjourned until today.

SUSPECT IN COVINA WINE PLOT MOVED

Clerk Thought Free from Poison Liquor Taken to Jail from Hospital

Mack Guillen, Covina department-store clerk, held on suspicion of murder in connection with the death of his brother-in-law, William Rivera, was moved from the County Hospital to the County Jail yesterday when authorities satisfied themselves that he was not suffering from the effects of poisoned wine, some of which is believed to have killed Rivera.

Members of the Rivera family made statements at the Sheriff's office in which they voiced the belief that Guillen had planned to poison his wife and her two brothers because of jealousy. The statements were made by Mrs. Guillen, Mrs. Ines Rivera, Phyllis Rivera, 15 years of age, and Alvin Rivera, 9.

William Rivera died Monday. Mrs. Maria Guillen and Alvin Rivera, who sipped some of the wine, but did not swallow it, were taken sick.

Autopsy Surgeon Wagner announced that his examination of the dead youth's body revealed no organic cause of death. A chemist's report on whether the digestive organs show traces of poison is awaited before the inquest date is set.

Deputy Sheriffs Sweesy and Allen are in charge of the investigation into the case.

D. B. Gamble Legatees to Pay California Total of $300,014.59

What is thought to be the largest State inheritance tax computed at the local office of State Controller Ray L. Riley was announced yesterday in connection with the estate of David B. Gamble of the firm of Procter & Gamble, soap manufacturers, a millionaire resident of Pasadena. Mr. Gamble died July 15, 1923.

Heirs of the California estate, the office announced, will pay a tax of $300,014.59. Mrs. Mary H. Gamble, the widow, alone will be taxed $265,173.

Appraisal of Mr. Gamble's California property was fixed at $3,683,459.45. On property exclusive of this the State of Ohio will collect an inheritance tax amounting to $105,257, while the Federal government has computed its share at $338,113.

Mr. Gamble left $2,330,528 of his estate to his widow and $100,000 bequests to three sons and several institutions. The will also mentions fifteen other relatives, friends and institutions as sharing in the local property.

Director Hines Puts California in Control Area

California is included in the last of the four control areas established yesterday by Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, to investigate complaints and determine whether the bureaus in various section of the nation are functioning efficiently or not.

Control Area D, in which California is included, comprises in addition Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Washington and Oregon. A control officer for this area is to be appointed by Gen. Hines within a few days, according to announcement made at Washington.

AIM DRUG DRIVE AT PHYSICIANS

Narcotic Agents Planning City Clean-up

Arrests Expected Soon of Doctor Violators

Much Evidence is Reported Unearthed Here

A widespread clean-up of physicians engaged in the drug traffic under cover of their profession was forecast yesterday by State and county authorities as a follow-up move in the campaign started Tuesday with the arrest of Dr. Arthur R. Timme on a charge of violating the State Poison Act.

Information indicating that numerous physicians of the city are engaged in the wholesale dispensation of narcotics to both addicts and peddlers has been unearthed during the past several months by State narcotic inspectors.

Charles Swiggett, president of the State Board of Pharmacy, declared that the investigation into the practices of these physicians has been in progress for some time and that much evidence has been gathered by the investigators.

The investigators, Mr. Swiggett stated, have confined their efforts primarily to discovering the methods used by these physicians and to finding measures of stopping the wholesale distribution of drugs to addicts and peddlers. This information has been turned over to Dist.-Atty. Keyes, he said, and a number of arrests may be expected to follow quickly.

The plan for the clean-up is to be finally worked out at a series of conferences between Mr. Swiggett and Dist.-Atty. Keyes, it is understood. The evidence and information so far obtained is to be thoroughly sifted at these conferences and the methods of procedure against suspected physicians determined definitely.

A number of new narcotic inspectors may be brought into the city to aid in this work, it was indicated by Mr. Swiggett.

DOCTORS WATCHED

A number of local physicians have been kept under surveillance for some time, it was disclosed, and their arrests may follow quickly. State Narcotic Inspectors Earl Hansen and Roberts, who have been conducting the investigation, stated they found numerous cases where physicians allowed their office girls to make out prescriptions for hypodermic needles and that these illegal prescriptions are generally honored by druggists. Cases of this kind will be prosecuted, they stated.

Some physicians make not even a pretense of examining patients before giving them prescriptions for drugs as required by the law, they stated. In many cases it was found that the physicians accepted the statements of others that the patients required drugs and filled out the prescriptions.

They revealed that in one case they found a convicted drug peddler obtaining drugs through a physician and later retailing this to addicts.

Every technicality is being taken advantage of by these physicians to violate the law in spirit if not in fact and these technicalities make their conviction doubly difficult.

Dr. Timme was arraigned yesterday afternoon in Police Judge Chambers's court. He pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial. The case was set for the 30th inst. before Police Judge Frederickson and the physician was released on $500 bail.

TUBERCULAR CLINIC FUND PLEA SOUNDED

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN HEAR OF NEED FOR NEW HEALTH ADDITION

An appeal for aid in the $50,000 tuberculosis clinic campaign of the Jewish Consumptives Relief Association was made by Mrs. Jules Kaufman, prominent social worker, before 1200 members of the Council of Jewish Women at the last bimonthly meeting of the season in the Ambassador Hotel Theater yesterday afternoon.

Stressing the need for such a clinic, Mrs. Kaufman said:

"There are only three public clinics in Los Angeles at present. Dr. L. M. Powers, city health commissioner, declared at a recent function that the city's clinical facilities were inadequate. The tuberculosis clinic for which this campaign has been launched will be free and nonsectarian and an important factor in safeguarding public health. It is a necessary addition."

Mrs. E. H. Lauer, president of the council appointed Mrs. Davidson chairman of a committee to enroll women volunteer workers in the drive, headquarters of which are at 51 Arcade Building.

A one-act playlet, "Undesirable," was presented by the Immigrant Aid Department. It was written by Miss Jeanette Wrottenberg and Mrs. Jack N. Greenberg.

SOVIET GLOOM DEPICTED

Philip Norton Warns American Business Men to Beware of Russian Trade Siren

"Russia should be watched with interest and sane sympathy, but American business men would do well not to give too much credence to the glittering accounts of trade agents who return from Russia after an investigation of six weeks, during which time they were the guests of Russians who took particular pains to prevent them from discovering the full truth about that unhappy country."

That was the warning sounded at the City Club yesterday by Philip Norton, prominent Los Angeles business man and formerly in the service of the United States government in Russia.

"The smoke stacks in Russia are dead, there is no incentive for development, and until the Russians can prove that their government is stable and their private industries protected, it would be folly for the American business man to lend an attentive ear to the Russian trade siren or for the United States to recognize the soviet government," said Mr. Norton.

Declaring that Los Angeles is destined to become the metropolis of the world, not only because of climatic conditions and natural advantages but because of the shifting of the trade current from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the speaker praised the movement to raise $50,000,000 here for the establishment of industrial plants at which the raw materials of the Southwest will be manufactured into products to be consumed by the people of this section.

McKEE READY TO GO BEFORE GRAND JURY

LAWYERS ASSERT FORMER PORT CHIEF WILL BE ON HAND TOMORROW

Edgar McKee, former president of the Harbor Board, will appear before the grand jury tomorrow, his lawyers, Woolwine and Geisler, told Dept. Dist.-Atty. Shelley yesterday. Process servers started hunting for McKee Monday and were unable to find him, but the lawyers reported they had heard from him and he had assured them he will be on hand.

Kent Parrot, reputed political boss of the city administration, also will appear today, it was said. The grand jury will question him as to what he knows about pier leases.

The grand jury did not meet yesterday, though one of its committees was in session.

PATRIOTIC RALLY

A patriotic rally to celebrate Appomattox Day, the surrender of Gen. Lee, Gen. Grant's birthday and Lincoln's first call for troops, all of which events occurred in April, will be conducted Saturday at Sycamore Grove Park. A patriotic and entertainment program has been arranged. The drum corps of the G.A.R. will take an active part. Speakers will be Commander Palmer of Kenesaw Post, G.A.R., and Past Department Commander Sea. Veterans of all wars and their families are invited.

PLAYHOUSE SOON

TO BE USED FOR PRODUCTION AND NEW YORK HITS

By Grace Kingsley

A very handsome new theater, the Playhouse, at Figueroa and Ninth, is to be opened soon, according to the present plans of Louis Macloon, manager and owner, who is wrinkling his brows these days over obtaining some of the best New York successes to show in his house. His arrangement is with Managers Woods and Selwyn of New York, under the terms of which he will bring to the Coast current eastern successes managed and owned by those gentlemen, and will likewise produce new plays for them.

The house will be ready to open some time in May, said Mr. Macloon yesterday, but, contrary to reports from New York, it is not certain that "Romance," with Doris Keane, will be the attraction. However, Mr. Macloon promises Los Angeles patrons that they won't be disappointed in the play, whatever it is, with which the house opens, and he is going to be ready to make his announcements within a week or so.

"The Playhouse is to be run as a high-class house," said the producer yesterday. "I hope to induce stars to come out here and play for Los Angeles. What we are planning to do this summer is to bring out New York successes with the stars. We expect to produce new plays also, sending the successful ones East."

An innovation as announced by Mr. Macloon will be the elimination of Sunday performances, as is the case now usually at the Mason and the Biltmore.

"The actors need a day of rest, the same as other workers, and I believe that if the stars who seldom are seen off New York's Broadway can be assured that they will not be required to play on Sundays it will be a big inducement to them to come West."

In case of new productions put on, Lillian Albertson, well-known stage star, wife of Macloon, and who has had much experience in directing, including the putting on of "White Collars" at the Egan Little Theater, will direct.

The decorations of the Playhouse will be Venetian, simple and elegant in design, with no horns o' plenty or chubby cupids on the ceilings or walls. The general color scheme will be dull mahogany and flame, with the ceiling blue and gold.

Wanda Hawley Signs

The blonde beauty of Wanda Hawley, no less, is to decorate Victor Schertzinger's production of "Bread," which he will make for Metro. Miss Hawley signed yesterday, and is to have one of the leading roles. Mae Busch has signed for another important feminine part in the picture, which promises to be one of the most important of the Metro features this year.

Speaking of "Bread," the title does give such chances for jokes, as say, for instance, that indulged in by Miss Hawley herself, after she signed yesterday:

"Here's a toast to 'Bread!'" quoth Miss Hawley, and she got away with it, too.

Dorothy Devore Feminine Lloyd

If Harold Lloyd is turning green with envy these days, it is not at all surprising. And it's a girl who is stealing his stuff, too. Dorothy Devore is doing all the ground and lofty tumbling in "Hold Your Breath," her first Christie starring vehicle, down at the Western Costume Company's building, where she is defying the laws of gravitation by scaling walls and doing high-and-dizzy stunts on the roof.

Twenty-five rubes are reported to have got their tonsils sunburned yesterday gazing open-mouthed at Miss Devore climbing up the building's walls.

"Girl Shy" Big Deal

Speaking of Harold Lloyd seriously for a moment, what is considered as one of the biggest individual deals ever entered into between producers and distributors of motion pictures and a chain of theaters, was consummated yesterday in the offices of the West Coast Theaters, Inc.

By this deal, Harold Lloyd's new seven-reel comedy feature, "Girl Shy," the first independent picture to be produced by the Harold Lloyd Corporation, will be shown over the entire southern and northern divisions of the West Coast chain, including all affiliations in the State of California. Over 110 theaters are represented in the arrangements.

An advance payment of $100,000, said to be the biggest sum ever paid for the rights to show a motion picture exclusively over one chain of motion-picture theaters, makes the deal of national prominence. This sum does not constitute the entire revenue, which the Pathe organization, as distributors of "Girl Shy," will derive from the showings. It is estimated that the accrued rentals, following first-run presentation in all California cities, will exceed $250,000.

Will Rogers Dolls Up

When Will Rogers dolls up, it is something to talk about. All togged up, by heck, in sporting short trousers and silk stockings, Rogers, who is appearing at the California this week in a political comedy, is galloping around the Hal Roach Studio sporting short trousers and silk stockings. It isn't that his legs are sunburned, but just that he is now hobnobbing with kings, having been recently appointed Ambassador to England in the third and last of his political satires, which Rob Wagner is directing.

Daily Stork Note

Three of a kind beats two queens and a jack, Pat O'Malley decided Monday, at 2 o'clock his wife presented Pat with a baby girl. He already had two, Eileen, age 6, and Sheila, age 2. He has wished for a boy — figured that eventually he might have two pair. Now, well, a full house beats two pair.

Mother and daughter are doing nicely, and the soda clerk at the corner drug store where Pat buys his soft drinks is doing as well as could be expected.

Buck Jones Names It

Charles Jones, better known perhaps as Buck, came in for some christening honors, the other day. He and his wife went down to the Mason to see Walker Whiteside in "Mr. Wu." He met the star, and was talking to him about his new play. Mr. Whiteside wasn't quite sure, but thought he would call his new play, which goes on tonight at the Mason, "Sheep."

"Aw," said Buck Jones, who, having been a cowboy, finds the subject of sheep naturally anathema, "That title hasn't any kick! Why don't you be up-to-date and call it 'The Hoof and Mouth Disease?'"

Josephine Bumiller Heard From

Another Los Angeles girl has been heard from in foreign parts. She is Josephine Bumiller, daughter of Joe Bumiller and niece of Emma Bumiller, members of an old Los Angeles family.

Miss Bumiller went on the stage here at the Burbank several years ago, and from thence to New York. In New York she met and wed a German poet named Dr. Hanns Heinz Ewers, a native of Berlin. Friends and relatives of Miss Bumillers have just learned that she is now in Brioni, Istria, Italy, studying for grand opera.

"Tarnish" Soon

Frances Marion has completed the adaptation and continuity of "Tarnish" for Samuel Goldwyn. This will be the next George Fitzmaurice production for First National to follow "Cytherea," which he has just completed. Miss Marion has left for a short vacation in San Francisco before commencing work on "Potash and Perlmutter in Hollywood," which she will adapt from the play. "Business Before Pleasure." Mr. Goldwyn recently announced that he had signed Al Green to direct.

"Tarnish" was written by Gilbert Emory and caused a sensation at the Belmont Theater in New York during this season. Mr. Goldwyn paid $100,000 for the motion-picture rights.

Taps for Pepper

If you have tears, prepare to shed them now, for Pepper, the talented feline star of the Mack Sennett organization, is no more. Pepper has been appearing in Sennett comedies during the past nine years. And though of late a new cat has been doing stunts over there, he didn't die of professional jealousy, but of old age.

Radio Experts All

If there is any technical inaccuracy of any kind whatever in the radio broadcasting, transmitting and receiving scenes of "The Beauty Prize," Viola Dana's new starring picture for Metro, which Lloyd Ingraham is directing, the fault will lie at the doors of more than a hundred radio experts.

When it came to the filming of the radio scenes, Mr. Ingraham decided that they must be absolutely accurate on account of the wide knowledge of the inner workings of the science by the entire population of the United States.

But when he announced his decision to secure the services of a radio expert as technical adviser, almost every member of the cast and company took the idea as a personal insult. Even Viola Dana, who never interferes with a director's plans, announced that if advice on anything wireless is needed, she would be glad to supply the information. Miss Dana as long ago as last week acquired a radio set, so that you can see for yourself that she must be an authority by this time.

Harry Myers Signs

Backsliding and playing another villain is what Harry Myers is going to do. Myers signed yesterday with J. Stuart Blackton to play the aristocratic villain in an untitled picture shortly to be produced by Vitagraph. However, the role is also a comic one, so we gladly overlook his villainy.

"HUNCHBACK" BREAKS RECORDS AT TALLY'S

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" has shattered all records at Tally's Theater. Universal's big picture, with Lon Chaney and a dozen other stars, is thrilling Los Angeles, and the second week of this spectacle will begin Saturday. A love story of enduring charm runs throughout the action of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," Patsy Ruth Miller and Norman Kerry portraying the two leading characters. Others who are seen in prominent parts are Kate Lester, Winnifred Bryson, Nigel De Brulier, Brandon Hurst, Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Harry Von Meter, Raymond Hatton, Nick De Ruiz, Eulalie Jensen, W. Ray Meyers, William Parke, Sr., Gladys Brockwell, John Cossar and Edwin Wallack.

JAZZ BAND WILL ACCOMPANY COMEDY

Loew's State Theater next Saturday has a particularly interesting scheme by way of accompanying the Lloyd Hamilton two-reel comedy, "Lonesome," which is one of the features of the bill with Richard Barthelmess in "The Enchanted Cottage."

Instead of the stereotyped-mad passages on the organ the management will present the comedy with the Knickerbocker Syncopaters under the direction fo Ray Paige as de luxe accompanists. A special place has been made for this jazz band in one of the proscenium boxes, where they will play uninterrupted syncopated score while Lloyd Hamilton will be seen on the screen.

"TEA FOR THREE" WITH GERMAN CAST

The German Theater Company will give its farewell performance tonight when "Tea for Three" is presented at the Gamut Club. Hansi Arnstaedt, Charles Kluber and Curt Hensel appear in the cast. The performers will soon leave for Europe to fill theatrical engagements, but will return here next fall.

COMPLIMENTARY RECITALS

The last two of a series of three complimentary recitals will be given by Daisy Jean, Belgian 'cellist, harpist and soprano, tonight and tomorrow evening in Chickering Hall.

Appearing in Hit of the Season

Ann Merrick,
A member of the cast of "Lightnin'," now playing at the Biltmore Theater.

Orchestra in First Concert of New Series

The first of the series of monthly concerts by the orchestra of the First Methodist Episcopal Church was given Tuesday at the First Methodist Church under the direction of Irving G. Ulmer. The soloists assisting were Miss Flora Cronemiller, soprano; James Ulmer, violin; L. G. Kern, piccolo, and Leland Auer, cornet.

Miss Cronemiller sang "The Last Rose of Summer" from Flotow's opera, "Martha," in a very pleasing fashion, the orchestra preceding the rendition with a selection from the opera. Miss Cronemiller has a well-placed voice, characterized by a sweet quality and a clear enunciation.

The Schubert "Serenade" was played on the cornet by Leland Auer, who interpreted it with commendable effects in shading. L. G. Kern offered the "Grand Fantasie," by Levy, as a piccolo solo, and James Ulmer contributed the violin number, "Adoration," by Borowski. He plays in an artistic manner and draws a good tone from the instrument. His rendition of "The Swan," by Saint-Saens, was also good, but was overshadowed somewhat by the too heavy accompaniment.

One of the features of the playing of the orchestra was the precision of attack, and for an organization of this character the playing as a whole was very commendable. The violin section is particularly strong. In the overture, "Raymond," from "The Queen's Secret," by Thomas, and the selection from "I Lombardi" (Pilgrim Chorus,) by Verdi, the work of the violins and the flutes was especially good, and in the latter number the beautiful pizzicato effects for the string were noteworthy.

Besides these numbers the program included the march, "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar; the Brahms suite, "Three Songs;" the rhythmical "Marguerite Waltzes" from Gounod's "Faust," and the "Light Cavalry" overture, by Suppe.

One Actor Who Dislikes Idea of Fan Letters

The same rule does not apply on all cases.

Dinky Dean, 4-year-old picture star of his own productions, gauges his popularity by the number of fan letters he receives.

Charles Francis (Chuck) Reisner, father of the diminutive star, on of the best-known "heavies" on the screen and now appearing in J. K. McDonald's latest picture, "The Goof," measures his popularity by the number of fan letters he does not receive.

"That is the only way a heavy can determine if his work is getting over with the fan public," says Riesner. "If a villain is liked and gets fan letters and requests for photographs he is slipping in public esteem. Heavies are supposed to be very unpopular if their work is good.

"It would break my heart if I received a fan letter," says "Chuck."

LOCAL CAFE SIGNS NEW YORK SINGER

Sally Fields, New York musical comedy and cabaret star, is coming to Los Angeles for an engagement at the Rendezvous, making her debut here on the 10th inst. She will be met at the depot by a delegation of performers, headed by Al Newman's Rendezvous rhythm Kings and Manager Bill Simon aims to make her first appearance a big social event.

As an entertainer, Sally Fields is said to be a combination of Fanny Brice, Sophie Tucker and Marion Harris. Fresh from triumphs in Gotham and as "gingery" as her hair is red, Miss Fields comes to win the same generous acclaim which has been hers in the Cafe de Paris on Broadway, with "Artists and Models," "The Dancing Girl," and Winter Gardens companies. As a headliner on the Orpheum circuit Miss Fields's salary ran well into four figures and Mike Lyman, general manager of the Rendezvous, declares her weekly stipend will be the most ever paid an individual for cafe entertainment here.

ORIGINAL SCREEN STORY FOR CLUNE'S

"Desire," an original story written for the screen by John B. Clymer and Henry R. Symonds, will be the feature at the Clune Broadway Theater next week.

The cast includes Marguerite De La Motta, John Bowers, Estelle Taylor, David Butler, Edward Connelly, Walter Long, Lucille Hutton, Ralph Lewis, Chester Conklin, Vera Lewis, Nick Cogley, Sylvia Ashton, Frank Currier and Lars Landers.

On the same program is a fast-moving Christie comedy featuring Dorothy Devore, titled, "Stay Single." The musical program in conjunction with the photoplay and the comedy is highly entertaining and atmospheric.

MINIATURE EDITION OF SHOW IS STAGED

A miniature "Shuffle Along Show" is being staged at the Plantation Club in Culver City. Manager Sam Wolf has gathered some exceptional talent and is putting on a small edition of the show that recently scored such a success throughout the country. Frisco Nick, eccentric dancer and comedian, tops the show and is assisted by three Black Aces and the Tar Sisters. The comedians are able to create their own novelties and offer a new program nightly.

"NOT SO FAST" HITS STRIDE AT MOROSCO

The second week of "Not So Fast," the Conrad Westervelt comedy-drama at the Morosco Theater, is proving to be even a greater success than the first.

Supplied by a brilliant cast in three scintillating acts, it is the talk of the town. Included in the cast are Charlotte Treadway, Harland Tucker, Gayne Whitman, Mary Fisher, Albert Van Antwerp, Douglas Rowland, Fannie Yantis and Edith Evans.

DON'T TAKE DRUGS
SIR WILLIAM OSLER, the most brilliant man in the medical profession said: "Most of the action of drugs we know little, yet of the little we do know the greater part of which we know long, is more or less dangerous, of which we know nothing." Think! Chiropractic adjustments relieve pressure on the spinal nerves, from which all nerves radiate, and which control every part of your body. Vertebral subluxations cause pressure on the spinal nerves, from which all nerves radiate, and which control every part of your body. Vertebral subluxations cause pressure on the spinal nerves, from which all nerves radiate, and which control every part of your body. Don't let your health depend on drugs. Let Nature's laws govern your health. Consult the spinal and other fits of the body. Don't put off, but call, without drugs. TREATMENT, $1.50. DR. ELLA M. BIG MONEY-MAKING DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN.

See that your feet are set in the right way of prosperity. Get to it right away. You remember the old saying: "He who hesitates is lost." It's only 12 o'clock to noon today, there isn't much difference between now and full-time sometime this week. The question of taking advantage of a real forced opportunity. Your opportunity, or who have made application for selling, is not as much as you think it is. If we could make you sense it? If we could make you realize that all the time you need to get to it you to make big money, that all that was needed to be a success in a career of real prosperity is a few suggestions and an opportunity to make good, you, right now, at the old thing." It's an entirely new and done in an entirely new and different way, and the results are high-class industrial, but it is quite previous selling experience is not need to be a success. It's the truth. You will need a car only with high-class men to work with, only things that appeal to the investment; no money being made by hours of way start to make money. Don't be afraid to try something new. Foreman and Clark conscientiously build and distribute a suit of clothes which compares, fabric for fabric, workmanship for workmanship, item for item, with any suit of clothes on the American market, and which actually outpoints any other clothing in many exclusive features of styling and tailoring.

Foreman and Clark factories have developed the inner design of a suit of clothes to a point heretofore unknown. Our famous human muscle construction, flexing and yielding to every bend or twist of the figure . . . has yet to meet its counterpart in clothing manufacture! It is shown below!

And Foreman and Clark style service — fastest in the clothing world — humbles other standard of style-distribution in clothing business! Ordinary styles reach clothing-buyers twice a year, through manufacturer and jobber, months after their creation in the east! Foreman and Clark styles reach Foreman and Clark stores every single week of the year, direct from our own factories, less than a month after their design and manufacture! We show at all times two styles like one shown elsewhere, and all styles at least six weeks ahead of their arrival elsewhere in retail stocks!

A—Pliable Belgian canvas coat body, instead of stiff cotton canvas.

B—Genuine silver Hymo, instead of loosely woven haircloth.

C—One-eighth inch lockstitch lapel, three fine rows of parallel threads, instead of one or two.

D—Hand - shaped, hand - felled one-piece collar.

F—Duo-stitched, triple braced pocket flap, double strength against sagging and tearing.

G—Combination edge and skirt stay—starts where the average stay stops.
